Whereupon,

The President pro tempore (Mr. W. E. CROW) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE DIFFERENT SYSTEMS OF RECORDING DEEDS, MORTGAGES AND INSURANCE OF TITLES NOW IN EFFECT IN THE SEVERAL STATES, AND REPORT TO A SUBSEQUENT SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE SUCH ACT OR ACTS, AND CHANGES IN THE STATE CONSTITUTION THAT MAY BE NECESSARY TO IMPROVE THE PRESENT SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA AND TO AUTHORIZE COUNTIES TO INSURE PURCHASERS OF REAL ESTATE AGAINST DEFECTIVE TITLES, AND PROVIDING FOR THE ASSISTANCE AND CO-OPERATION OF THE LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. VARE offered the following resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Whereas the present system of recording transfers of land and mortgages on real estate in Pennsylvania has been in existence for more than two hundred years and has become antiquated and otherwise unsatisfactory because of the delay and expense it imposes upon purchasers and mortgagers of real estate; and

Whereas the records in which are set forth the changes of ownership of the different parcels of land and the incumbrances against them, if any, are increasing at such a rate, particularly in the larger and populous counties of the State, that at the present time it is a matter of serious concern for the officials in charge to provide room for them, without limiting their availability to those who even now have to spend much time and labor in order to trace a little back to the original owner, involving a delay and an expense to purchasers and mortgagors which imposes an unnecessary burden upon owners of small properties; and

Whereas this system has been changed in several States, notably New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Washington and Oregon, and one adopted which will provide facility, cheapness and security in land transfers and beneficial to the interests of the people; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Governor of the Commonwealth be and is hereby authorized to appoint a Commission, consisting of five citizens of Pennsylvania whose duty it shall be to investigate and examine the various laws now in effect in the different States relating to the recording of deeds and mortgages, the transfer of lands, the insurance of titles, and the practical operation of such laws, and report to the next session of the Legislature such act or acts, and changes in the Constitution, if necessary, which, in the opinion of the Commission will materially improve the present system of governing the recording of deeds and mortgages in the several counties of this State with a special view of recommending a law authorizing the counties of the State to assume the responsibility of insuring purchasers of real estate against pecuniary damage by reason of defective titles.

The Legislative Reference Bureau is hereby authorized and directed to co-operate with the said Commission and render such assistance, and do any and all acts which may be required by the said Commission in the performance of its said duty.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 496 (House No. 312), as follows:

An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That a public school system be and hereby is established in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania subject to the provisions of this act as follows

ARTICLE I

SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Section 101 Each city incorporated town borough or township in this Commonwealth now existing or hereafter created shall constitute a separate school district to be designated and known as the "School District of ...." and the several school districts thus established shall be and hereby are divided into four classes as follows

Section 102 Each school district having a population of five hundred thousand (500,000) or more shall be a school district of the first class

Section 103 Each school district having a population of thirty thousand (30,000) or more but of less than five hundred thousand (500,000) shall be a school district of the second class

Section 104 Each school district having a population of five thousand (5,000) or more but of less than thirty thousand (30,000) shall be a school district of the third class

Section 105 Each school district having a population of less than five thousand (5,000) shall be a school district of the fourth class.

Section 106 The last United States census as set forth in the official report thereof shall be the basis on which the population of the several school districts shall be computed and no change shall be made from one class of school districts to another except after the taking of a United States census showing the population of any school district to be such as to entitle it to be changed from one class of school districts to another

Section 107 After the taking of each United States census the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall canvass the same so far as it relates to the population of the several school districts in this Commonwealth and if it appears that the population of any school district in this Commonwealth by such census is such that it should be included in another class of school districts the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall issue a certificate to such district to that effect and such school district shall with the beginning of the first school year after such certificate is issued become a school district of the class to which it properly belongs

Section 108 From and after the beginning of the first school year as herein provided for the school districts herein established all independent school districts as they now exist shall be abolished and the lands comprising the same shall revert to the school districts hereby established in which they are located and all land heretofore taken from one school district and annexed to another whether by act of Assembly or order of court or otherwise be and hereby is made a part of the school district hereby established in which such land is located so that the boundary lines of the several school districts as established by this act shall be conterminous with the boundary lines of the several cities incorporated towns boroughs and townships in this Commonwealth as they then exist or may hereafter be created changed or extended Provided That independent school districts may be created as hereinafter provided

Section 109 If any new school district is made by the creation of any city borough township or independent school district or if the boundary lines of any school district are changed by reason of the changing of the boundary lines of any city incorporated town borough township or independent school district then in such case such change so far as it relates to school districts or school affairs shall take effect at the beginning of the first school year after such new city borough township or independent school district has been created or such change in boundary lines permanently effected

Section 110 Where any independent school district is abolished and its land reverts to two or more school districts or where any land heretofore annexed to one school district is made a part of the district in which it is located or where a new district is made by the creation of a new city borough township or independent school district out of one or more school districts or where the boundary lines of any district are changed by the changing of the boundary lines of any city incorporated town borough township or independent school district then in any such case the school district to which land has been annexed or from which land has been taken or which have been newly created shall make a just and proper adjustment and apportionment of all school property real and personal including funds as well as indebtedness if any to and among such school districts The indebtedness of any independent school district hereby abolished whose land is wholly within the boundaries of any school district hereby established shall be assumed and paid and all its personal property acquired by such school district

Section 111 In making such adjustment and apportionment of property and indebtedness the amount and assessed value of land acquired by or taken from such districts as compared with the amount and assessed value of the other land in the districts as well as the value of the school grounds together with the buildings thereon and the furniture and equipment therein and other school property in such districts shall be taken into consideration in making such adjustment of the amount if any that shall be paid by one district to another or in the apportionment of the indebtedness if any that shall be assumed and paid by any of said districts Such adjustment and apportionment of property and liability shall be made by the boards of school directors of the several districts concerned before or during the first school year after such boundaries have been changed

Section 112 In case the boards of school directors of said several school districts cannot make such amicable apportionment and adjustment of their property and indebtedness in compliance with this act beforeor during the first school year beginning after any such change in their boundary lines is made then in that case any one of such school districts may at any time within the succeeding school year present its proper petition to the court of common pleas in the county of which such school district is located whereupon the said court shall appoint three disinterested commissioners residents and taxpayers of said county not residing in either of the districts whose boundary lines are changed who after a hearing due notice of which shall be given to the several districts interested as the court may direct shall make a report to the court making an apportionment and adjustment according to the provisions of this act of all school property as well as indebtedness if any to and among the several school districts from which or to which land has been taken or added or newly created as the case may be said report to state the amount if any that shall be due and payable from one district to another as well as the amount of indebtedness if any that shall be assumed by any district

Section 113 The aforesaid commissioners shall give the several districts interested at least five days' notice of the filing of their report and unless exceptions are filed thereto by any district interested within thirty (30) days after the filing thereof the same shall be confirmed by the court absolutely and any sum awarded by said report to any school district shall be a legal and valid claim in its favor against the school district charged therewith and the amount of debt if any apportioned to any school district shall be a legal and valid claim against such district charged therewith and upon such report being confirmed such claim or indebtedness charged against any school district may be collected in the same manner as a judgment is collected against any school district Such commissioners shall be allowed three dollars ($3.00) per day for each day actually spent by them in the performance of their duties together with their actual necessary expenses All costs and proceedings shall be apportioned by the court to and among the several school districts as it shall deem proper

Section 114 In case exceptions are filed to the report of such commissioners the court shall dispose of the same taking testimony therein if it deems advisable and the decision of the court thereon shall be final and binding on the several districts without any right of appeal

Section 115 In cases in which such districts are situated in two or more counties the court of common pleas of the county in which the largest part of the land annexed to or taken from any district is situated shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the matter and in such case the court may appoint the commissioners hereinbefore provided for from any one or all such counties

Section 116 Whenever a new school district is created by the creation of a new city borough township or independent school district the clerk of the courts or other proper officer shall within ten days thereafter make a certified copy of the decree or order creating such new city borough township or independent school district and mail the same to the Superintendent of Public Instruction

Section 117 After the approval of this act a majority of the taxable inhabitants of any contiguous territory in any school district or school districts as herein established may present their petition to the court of common pleas of the county in which such contiguous territory or a greater part thereof is situated asking that such territory shall be established as an independent school district which petition shall set forth a proper description of the boundaries of the territory to be included in such proposed independent school district and the desire of the petitioners for better school facilities than are or would be provided and maintained by the district or districts of which such proposed independent school district is a part whereupon said court after a hearing of which hearing the school district or districts out of whose territory such proposed independent school district is taken shall have ten (10) days' notice after taking into consideration the welfare of the pupils and taxpayers of such school district or school districts as well as of such proposed independent school district may make a decree establishing an independent school district and fix the boundaries thereof which may be more or less than those set forth in such petition Where the territory described in any such petition is to be taken from two or more school districts such petition shall be signed by a majority of all the taxable inhabitants of the part of each school district which is to be included in such independent district The said court shall also determine the amount if any of the indebtedness of the school district from whose territory such independent district is taken that it shall assume and pay Provided That in case any such independent district so created shall include the territory of any former independent school district abolished by this act having any indebtedness such indebtedness shall be assumed and paid by such newly created independent school district Any independent district thus created shall belong to the class of school districts herein provided to which it is entitled to belong by its population as determined by the last United States census

In all cases where such proceedings result in the creation by decree of the court of a new school district the costs and office fees shall be paid by said new district but if otherwise said costs and office fees shall be paid by the petitioners themselves

Section 118 Any independent school district established as herein provided may be abolished at any time by the court of Common Pleas of the county in which its school buildings are located on the petition of its board of school directors or on the petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers therein after hearing of which due notice shall be given as the court may direct to the school district or districts to which its lands would revert and when so abolished the territory thereof shall become a part of and belong to the several school districts within whose boundaries the same is situated and its property and indebtedness if any shall be apportioned among them as hereinbefore provided

Section 119 The several school districts in this Commonwealth established by this act shall be and hereby are vested as bodies corporate with all necessary powers to enable them to carry out the provisions of this act

Section 120 From and after the beginning of the first school year following the approval of this Act all the public school property in this Commonwealth real personal or mixed now held owned or possessed by any school district sub-school district or ward school district therein or that may be held owned or possessed by any municipality for the use of any school district or for school purposes is hereby transferred and assigned to and shall be owned by any vested in the proper school district established by this act within whose boundaries such property is situated except as herein provided subject to all the trusts conditions and liabilities legally applicable thereto And each school district hereby established shall succeed to and shall assume and pay all the rights liabilities and indebtedness of the school district or districts sub-school districts or ward school districts within its boundaries including any and all indebtedness that may have been created or incurred as school indebtedness by any municipality subject to the provision of this act for or on account of any such school district or for school purposes with the benefit of application of the amount of any and all sinking funds in connection with such indebtedness to such extent as such sinking funds shall exist at the time herein fixed as that of the assumption or payment as said indebtedness Provided That where any oint schools have heretofore been established or may hereafter be established by any two or more school districts the property of such joint schools shall be held owned or occupied by the school districts provided for by this Act in such proportion and in such manner as the school district establishing the same have agreed or may mutually agree upon

Section 121 Where any school property real personal or mixed is subject to the assumption of payment of any ndebtedness is by the provisions of this act transferred from any municipality holding the same for school purposes to any school district established by this act and where any indebtedness is herein provided to be assumed and paid by any school district and the municipality from which such school property is transferred or whose indebtedness is herein provided to be assumed and paid and the school district to which the same has been or is to be transferred cannot agree upon the amount of the indebtedness incurred as school indebtedness herein directed to be assumed and paid by such school district or upon the amount of any sinking fund applicable to such indebtedness then in any such case the said municipality or any such school district may at any time within one year after the approval of this Act present its petition to the court of common pleas of the county in which such municipality or school district is located which petition shall state the facts regarding such transfer of property indebtedness and sinking fund whereupon the said court after hearing and taking testimony as it may deem necessary shall determine and adjudicate the amount of indebtedness if any that shall be assumed and paid by such district and the amount of such sinking fund in existence applicable to its payment In every case in which it is being herein directed that any indebtedness shall be assumed and paid by any school district created hereunder it shall be lawful for such school district and the municipality or district whose indebtedness incurred for school purposes is herein and hereby directed to be assumed and paid to agree at any time hereafter that the amount of ndebtedness as aforesaid directed to be assumed and paid by such school district may in whole or part be paid over by the school district to the municipality or other district whose ndebtedness is thus agreed to be assumed and paid with allowance for the amount of the sinking fund in existence at the time of the assumption of such indebtedness applicable thereto in case of such agreement upon such payment of said net amount of indebtedness the obligation by the school district to assume and pay such indebtedness shall cease such payment operating as a discharge of all duty hereunder in connection therewith

Section 122 Any deed for school property properly executed and delivered in the name of any school district as established by this Act shall convey to the grantee the entire interest of the grantor in such property irrespective of the manner or name in which such property was conveyed to or acquired by or is held by the school district conveying the same

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEYSER, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported the following concurrent resolution, which was laid over one day under the rules.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE DIFFERENT SYSTEMS OF RECORDING DEEDS, MORTGAGES AND INSURANCE OF TITLES NOW IN EFFECT IN THE SEVERAL STATES, AND REPORT TO A SUBSEQUENT SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE SUCH ACT OR ACTS, AND CHANGES IN THE STATE CONSTITUTION THAT MAY BE NECESSARY TO IMPROVE THE PRESENT SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA AND TO AUTHORIZE COUNTIES TO INSURE PURCHASERS OF REAL ESTATE AGAINST DEFECTIVE TITLES, AND PROVIDING FOR THE ASSISTANCE AND CO-OPERATION OF THE LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU.

Whereas, The present system of recording transfers of land and mortgages on real estate in Pennsylvania has been in existence for more than two hundred years and has become antiquated and otherwise unsatisfactory because of the delay and expense it imposes upon purchasers and mortgagors of real estate; and

Whereas, The records in which are set forth the changes of ownership of the different parcels of land and the incumbrances against them, if any, are increasing at such a rate, particularly in the large and populous counties of the State, that at the present time it is a matter of serious concern for the officials in charge to provide room for them, without limiting their availability to those who even now have to spend much time and labor in order to trace a title back to the original owner, involving a delay and an expense to purchasers and mortgagors, which imposes an unnecessary burden upon owners of small properties; and

Whereas, This system has been changed in several States, notably New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Washington and Oregon, and one adopted which will provide facility, cheapness and security in land transfers and beneficial to the interests of the people; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor of the Commonwealth be and he is hereby authorized to appoint a Commission, consisting of five citizens of Pennsylvania, whose duty it shall be to investigate and examine the various laws now in effect in the different States relating to the recording of deeds and mortgages, the transfer of lands, the insurance of titles and the practical operation of such laws, and report to the next session of the Legislature such act or acts and changes in the constitution, if necessary, which, in the opinion of the Commission, will materially improve the present system of governing the recording of deeds and mortgages in the several counties of this State with a special view of recommending a law authorizing the counties of the State to assume the responsibility of insuring purchasers of real estate against pecuniary damage by reason of defective titles.

The Legislative Reference Bureau is hereby authorized and directed to co-operate with the said Commission and render such assistance, and do any and all acts which may be required by the said Commission in the performance of its said duty.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 42, on third reading, entitled:

An act creating additional subjects of taxation in cities of the second class by providing that all real estate in cities of the second class owned or possessed by any corporation shall be subject to taxation for city and school purposes the same as other real estate in said cities go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The PRESIDENT. The following bills, on third reading, have not been received from the printer and will go over in their order.

Senate Bill No. 177, entitled:

An act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto

Senate Bill No. 326 (House No. 174), entitled:

A supplement to an act entitled "An Act for the government of cities of the second class" approved the seventh day of March one thousand nine hundred and one regulating the certification recording advertising and proof of passage of legislative acts of councils and prescribing the effect of the production thereof when required as evidence

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to suspend rule 39, in order to consider concurrent resolution reported from the Committee on Judiciary Special at to-day's session, providing for the appointment of a commi sion to investigate the different systems of recording deed mortgages and insurance of titles now in effect in the severa states and report to a subsequent session of the Legislatu such act or acts and changes in the Constitution that ma be necessary to improve the present system in Pennsylv nia and to authorize counties to insure purchasers of re estate against defective titles and providing for the assis ance and co-operation of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hea none.

The resolution was read as follows:

Whereas, The present system of recording transfers land and mortgages on real estate in Pennsylvania ha been in existence for more than two hundred years an has become antiquated and otherwise unsatisfactory be cause of the delay and expense it imposes upon purchaser and mortgagers of real estate; and

Whereas, The records in which are set forth the change of ownership of the different parcels of land and the in cumbrances against them, if any, are increasing at suc a rate, particularly in the large and populous counties the State, that at the present time it is a matter of seriou concern for the officials in charge to provide room fo them, without limiting their availability to those who eve now have to spend much time and labor in order to trac a title back to the original owner, involving a delay an an expense to purchasers and mortgagors, which impose an unnecessary burden upon owners of small propertie and

Whereas, This system has been changed in several State notably New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Washington an Oregon, and one adopted which will provide facility, cheap ness and security in land transfers and beneficial to th interests of the people; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), Tha the Governor of the Commonwealth be and he is hereb authorized to appoint a Commission, consisting of five cit zens of Pennsylvania whose duty it shall be to investigat and examine the various laws now in effect in the differ ent States relating to the recording of deeds and mort gages, the transfer of lands, the insurance of titles, an the practical operation of such laws, and report to th next session of the Legislature such act or acts, an changes in the Constitution, if necessary, which, in th opinion of the Commission will materially improve th present system of governing the recording of deeds an mortgages in the several counties of this State with special view of recommending a law authorizing the coun ties of the State to assume the responsibility of insurin purchasers of real estate against pecuniary damage b reason of defective titles.

The Legislative Reference Bureau is hereby authorize and directed to co-operate with the said Commission an render such assistance, and do any and all acts which ma be required by the said Commission in the performance its said duty.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said resolution to th House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. GERBERICH. Mr. President, I move that the Senat proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 621, the la bill on third reading on to-day's calendar, entitled:

An act regulating the appointment or election of deput controllers in cities and prescribing their powers and d ties

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consider tion of Senate Bill No. 621, entitled:

An act regulating the appointment or election of deput controllers in cities and prescribing their powers and d ties

And said bill having been read at length the third tim and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GERBERICH. Mr. President, this bill provides f a condition in Lebanon which is rather lamentable. I unde stand the statute provides for such an emergency for may but not for a city controller. It happened that on the nin day of April, Thomas Walmer, the Controller of Leban had a hemorrhage of the brain —apoplexy. Since that ti he has been in a comatose condition, unable to do anythi and without being able to appoint a deputy or to resign, an councils have no authority to do anything. Therefore, t finances of Lebanon are entirely at a standstill, cannot pa a cent of debt, school teachers, policemen, and for that ma ter any debt must hold over. Now this bill provides for th condition. Councils can appoint somebody to act until eith he Controller gets well or dies, or is able to resume his duties, or until an election can be held. I hope that the Senate will consider it favorably. The reason that I ask to consider it now, is so that it may go over to the House and hat Lebanon will get relief as soon as possible.

RESOLUTION.

UESTING INFORMATION FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS.

hereas, Governor Edwin S. Stuart in his last message to Legislature called attention to the practice of former Leg-ures in passing appropriations bills largely in excess of the nues of the State, thus neglecting a legislative duty in ing up to the Executive the responsibility to cut or fit the opriations to the revenues, and hereas, Speaker John F. Coox has through the public press ounced that he will not sign during the present session ap-riation bills in excess of the revenues of the State cov-g the two-year period ending June 1st, 1913, a highly com-dable position to take and one the members of the House ild sustain to the fullest extent; therefore be it esolved, That the Chairman of the Committee on Appro-tions is hereby requested to furnish the House at the earliest possible date with information giving the total amount of the appropriation bills to be reported to the House for consideration with an estimate of the available revenues with which to meet the same, that the members of the House may vote with some degree of intelligence on the numerous bills aggregating millions of dollars soon to come before them, and thus render some assistance in keeping the appropriations within the revenues of the State.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate for concurrence with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 593 (Senate No. 277), entitled:

An act validating certain elections of counties cities boroughs township school districts and other incorporated districts held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four entitled "An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" and the amendments thereto and validating bonds issued in pursuance of such elections

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1 by inserting in line 23 after the word "court" the words "and notwithstanding any defects or informality in the manner of giving notice of such election."

Strike out all of lines 29 and 30.

Amend the title by inserting after the word "issued" in the last line the words "or authorized to be issued."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 594 (Senate No. 393), entitled:

An act to amend the title the first section and the fifth section of an act of Assembly entitled "An Act requiring counties now or hereafter containing a population of not less than seven hundred and fifty thousand and not more than one million two hundred thousand inhabitants to establish and maintain schools for the care and education of male children under the jurisdiction of the juvenile courts and conferring the powers and regulating the proceedings for the establishment maintenance and management thereof" approved the first day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine by extending said act to apply to counties having a population of not less than three hundred thousand inhabitants nor more than one million two hundred thousand inhabitants and by making it incumbent upon the court to appoint managers whose terms shall commence upon the first day of July following approval thereof

And said bill having been read at length the third tim considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz.:

In the Senate, May 3, 1911.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns to-day it shall reconvene on Monday evening, May eighth, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The resolution was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Ordered That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 599 (Senate No. 196), entitled:

An act to amend the first section of an act approved the twenty-eighth day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and twenty entitled "An Act relative to mortgages" by requiring purchase money mortgages to be recorded within ten days in order to have priority of lien

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WILCOX. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 600, as follows:

An act regulating drivers and operators of all vehicles and persons riding or leading animals on the public highways requiring the display of lights upon vehicles and prescribing penalties for violation of the same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever any person driving or operating a vehicle of any description or riding or leading a horse horses or other animals of draft or burden upon any of the public streets or highways in this Commonwealth shall meet another vehicle or animals of draft or burden being led ridden or driven thereon such person shall reasonably turn to the right of the center of such street or highway sufficiently to permit such vehicle or animals to pass without interference and whenever any person driving or operating a vehicle or riding or leading a horse or horses or other animals or draft or burden shall overtake another vehicle or animal being led ridden or driven such person shall pass to the left thereof and the person so overtaken shall upon warning or signal turn promptly to the right of the center of said street or highway to allow a free passage to the left Where the width and condition of the streets or highways permit slower moving vehicles shall keep to the right of the center of such street or highways

Section 2 The constables and police officers of the cities boroughs townships and counties of this Commonwealth may arrest upon view and without warrant any person violating any of the provisions of this act

Section 3 Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be subject to a fine of not less than ($5.00) five dollars nor more than ($10.00) ten dollars for each offense to be collected by summary conviction before any magistrate or justice of the peace as like fines and penalties are now by law collected or in case of non-payment of such fine within forty-eight hours shall undergo an imprisonment in the county prison for a period not exceeding five days Provided however That nothing in this act shall limit or annul the special restrictions placed upon the operators of motor vehicles or the penalties to which they are subject for violations thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the author of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Bentley, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has examined this bill since it has been amended?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the title does not appear to conform to the body of the act at all.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I did not amend this bill, and it is up to Mr. North who offered the amendments.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the bill is absolutely unconstitutional the way it reads now. The title does not give any notice of what the bill contains.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. RENO. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

SENATE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate Bill No. 621.

An act regulating the appointment or election of deputy controllers in cities and prescribing their powers and duties

Which was referred to Committee on Judiciary Special.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 617, entitled:

An act providing for and regulating the mediation and arbitration of labor disputes and making an appropriation therefor

On the question.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, this bill tends towards compulsory arbitration. I have read the bill carefully and spoken to a number of workers, organized and unorganized, and asked their opinion of the bill, and I have not found any that favor it. Now, I wish to have it understood that this bill did originate within the minds of the working class. We do not ask for it; in fact, do not want it. It will not fill the obect which the author of it hoped it would I do not wish to question the sincerity of Mr. Ward. I think that he introduced the bill with the best of intentions but it will utterly fail in its object. Besides, it carries with it the appropriations, the creation of new positions, and not so much the amount of money that may be spent for the salaries as other expenses which will necessarily be incurred if this bill becomes a law. I, therefore, hope that the bill will fall. It is really not at all desirable, and we very much wish it would fall because it will work a hardship not only upon the organized workers, but the unorganized workers as well, and I hope the bill will fall.

Mr. WARD. Mr. Speaker, I did not know that this bill was under consideration. I have some amendments which I wish to offer to this bill, and when they are submitted I think possibly the objections of Mr. Maurer will be removed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third readin?

Mr. WARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend by striking out sections 10, 11 and 12 and renumbering the succeeding sections to correspond therewith.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 618, entitled:

An act regulating the licensing of traveling theatrical or operatic companies resident or non-resident foreign or otherwise exhibiting in the State of Pennsylvania fixing the amount of tax to be paid and punishment for the violation of the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, I desire to again take some time. I am also opposed to this bill. I chance to know something about the theatrical business, and I know that this would work a hardship on the the rical world if this bill were enacted into a law. There a many theatrical troupes, in arranging their routes from east to the west and the west to the east, that very oft only make one or two stops in the state. Now, it would impossible for such troupe to stop in this state unless took out a license, and that would be a hardship. It wou mean that the troupes, instead of going through Penns vania, would skirt it and avoid this state. It would me that we would miss in the theatrical world many of t very best entertainments, and I think theatrical enterta- ments are as necessary to the physical body, and the men as well, as medicine. I would hate very much to see t theatrical world put to this embarassment with a spec license. The playhouses wherein they produce their p- ductions are licensed. The managements take out a lice for every playhouse. This would mean a double tax on t theatrical world, and they are having a great struggle t the present time. In fact, that would be a vital blow to t show people in Pennsylvania if this bill were enacted in a law, and I hope it falls.

Mr. BREITINGER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gent- man from Berks, I desire to say that these companies tr- eling through the state take out of Pennsylvania upwa of three million dollars, and do not pay a cent to the Sta of Pennsylvania. If this bill becomes a law it means revenue of from twenty to thirty thousand dollars a ye to Pennsylvania. As to the question of the routes of e companies, I would say for the benefit of the gentlemen f the House that they come in and go out of the state at d- ferent times. This bill provides for a license which w be for one year from the date of issuance. There is o hardship to the companies at all and I hope that this b will pass.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interroge the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphi, Mr. Breitinger, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BREITINGER. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask e gentleman if the troupes coming into a town of this sta, say from the State of New York, and holding an enterta- ment in any town in this state will be required to pay t three hundred dollar license?

Mr. BREITINGER. Mr. Speaker, they will have to y the three hundred dollars. There are no traveling c- panies which come into the State of Pennsylvania oe. They come in and out at all times during the year.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, take a town in r county, in the northern part of the state, where a troe comes in for only one night would they be required to y the three hundred dollar license? Just for one perfor- ance.

Mr. BREITINGER. Mr. Speaker, they would have to pay a license but those things do not happen in the Ste of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker I take issue with e gentleman. It has happened that theatrical troops ce into our county only for one night. If this bill should e- come a law and require them to pay three hundred licese for only one exhibition, it would be a detriment to e people of this State who want to see such entertainment

Mr. BREITINGER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentlemen of the House will look at the bill they will see that the ill provides that the license is to be obtained in the coty where the company is showing, and this license is good in every other county in the state.

And said bill having been read at length the third te, considered and agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up House Bill No. 452, on page 14 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 452, entitled:

An act providing for the adjustment and payment of the claim of John E Joos for publishing the Mercantile Appraiser's list of State taxes in Allegheny county for the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was reached in its order I had it put over on the postponed calendar because some of the gentlemen had asked me for certain information relating to it, which I did not have and which I desired to obtain. This bill is a claim on the part of John E. Joos, a resident of the County of Allegheny, living in the district which I have the honor in part to represent, and is for the printing of certain mercantile appraiser's lists in that county. At the time this work was done the mercantile appraiser contracted with this publisher to publish the mercantile appraiser's lists for the entire county in the German newspaper published by him, the paper being known as the Sonntagsbote. The question was raised when it came time for the payment that the paper was a Sunday newspaper, as its name would seem to indicate, and that, therefore, the publishing of a legal notice was not a legal publication and could not be paid for. The question was also raised that the publication was for the entire county, and that the appraiser at that time had no authority except for the merchants in that part of the county outside of the city. The court held that the appraiser had no right of contract for any publication except for outside of the city, and this claim is only for that part of the publication.

The question as to the paper being a Sunday newspaper was submitted to the jury, and the jury found that the paper was not a Sunday newspaper, and I may say, Mr. Speaker, having frequently received this paper myself and knowing something about it, that it is published on Saturdays, sold and circulated on that day and the name simply implies that the paper is gotten on Saturday to have it for Sunday reading. It is published and sold on Saturday, and if more of the Sunday papers would do that it would result in more profit to everybody.

In the case of The Commonwealth vs. McCandless (129 Pa., 492), where this matter was before the court in Allegheny County, we have the following findings of the jury: „We find that the said paper in which the mercantile appraiser's list was piublshed is in fact not a Sunday paper, but is printed and circulated and intended as a weekly Saturday newspaper."

This claim has been standing for a long time, but that is quite the usual thing in claims against states or the government. I have honestly tried to learn all I could in relation to this claim, and I say to you that I found no reason why it is not an honest claim, or why it should not be paid. If there is any other member from Allegheny County who has any information in relation to this claim, whether it is beneficial to it or detrimental to it, I would be glad to have him present it.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Alter, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALTER. I will.

Mr. DEARDEN. In line 23 of the closing part of the preamble it is set forth that the services rendered are reasonably worth $1,360. In section one, which provides for the payment sought, it is set forth that the sum of $3,400 is the amount of said claim which shall be paid. There seems to be a discrepancy there.

Mr. ALTER. The claim has been standing for a number of years and the claim is for the amount of the original bill for the printing, with interest from the time it should have been paid down to the present time.

Mr. DEARDEN. That is what I wanted to ascertain.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Alter, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALTER. I will.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Why was not this bill drawn in such form as to permit the claimant to bring suit against the state, instead of by an actual approporation?

Mr. ALTER. I did not draw up the bill. I suppose my predecessor, Senator Riley, or some of the members of the House who were here at that time, could pass directly upon that question.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in such an application the question is this: Is it not the only right thing to do to allow the complainant to sue the state and in that way the claim to be adjudicated. I think that would be the proper way. If the bill were drawn in that way I would be inclined to vote for it, but feel that I must vote against the bill in its present shape.

Mr. ALTER. I presume we also would have to waive the statute of limitations, regardless of the fact that the claim is a fair and meritorious claim. Quite frequently technicalities arise in matters of this kind. I cannot say what might be raised on this question, and I can only submit the bill to the House as it is. I have nothing to gain by it, and am not furthering it particularly. It seems to be a fair and just claim, and I cannot see why the claimant should be obliged to come to Harrisburg to bring suit against the state and run the gauntlet of the technicalities which might be raised. No doubt some of the gentlemen from Allegheny are familiar with this matter. My friend, Mr. Magee, stated to me that he was familiar with the facts out of which this matter arose. If this seems to the House to be a fair bill, I do not see why a claimant should be compelled to come to Harrisburg and hire a lawyer to bring the suit, and I therefore trust that you will support this bill because of the fact that it is a meritorious claim.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 623, entitled:

An act providing for a commission to investigate and report on the advisability of abolishing all toll bridges in the Commonwealth and making an appropriation therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RENO. Mr. Speaker, a number of the members of the House have asked me to explain the object of this bill. The bill provides for the appointment of a commission to investigate and to report upon the advisability of condemning the toll bridges of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by appropriations made from the state treasury.

In recent legislation the state has attempted to clean up, as far as possible, all the impediments to free progress along the highways of the state. A recnt commission reported favorably upon the advisability of condemning the bridges along the Delaware river, which are interstate bridges. In addition, another commission has reported in favor of condemning the various toll roads of the state and making them free to passage. In addition to all that, the state is now, I think, preparing to build a vast scheme of state roads throughout the state. It seems to me it would be absurd for the state to build and maintain roads throughout the Commonwealth and yet have progress over those roads impeded by toll bridges. Now, I have no idea, nor I do not think anyone else has, as to how many bridges are owned by corporations with the power to levy toll in this state. I have no idea as to where they are located. I have no knowledge as to whether or not the state should not condemn the toll bridges, but I do believe that in view of all the things we are doing in the way of building roads it would be wise to consider this project, and inasmuch as the bills calls for a small commission who are to serve without compensation, and makes an appropriation of but $1,000, I believe the bill is meritorious and should have the favorable action of the House.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, the principle of free bridges is certainly right, but when it comes to the state making those bridges free, there are two sides to the question. If the gentleman will go a little further in his bill, and provide that the state should build and maintain all bridges across public streams, I certainly would file no objection, but the situation is just this: The counties that are more enterprising have already gone to work at their own expense and freed a great many toll bridges, and those less enterprising counties now come forward and ask the state to do this for them. Along the Juniata river, prior to the Johnstown flood in 1889, the bridges were nearly all toll bridges. To the best of my knowledge, there is not a toll bridge on that stream to-day. In the particular county of Juniata I happen to know that we had four toll bridges in 1889, and to-day we have none. We saddled a big debt on the county, and to-day are still paying the interest and principal on that debt as fast as we can, and we do not want to be asked to go and contribute for the condemning of bridges in less progressive counties. If the gentleman will go far enough, I will say to him Amen.

Mr. RENO. Mr. Speaker, just a word in answer to the gentleman from Juniata. His county, the County of Juniata, is not unique in the matters that he states to the House. I, too, have the honor to in part represent a county that has freed every toll bridge within its boundaries, so I am not here seeking any selffish advantage for my own county; but I feel that the interest I have as a citizen of the State of Pennsylvania is broader than the mere boundary of my own county, and I hope to see the day when all the toll bridges are abolished. I do not propose to say to this commission that it must recommend the abolishing of toll bridges. The commission in its wisdom may recommend that they should be maintained thereafter by the state, or rebuilt by the state, and become a part, to all intents and purposes, of the state highway and which will be considered as such by the state in maintaining the highways. I feel that the subject is one that ought to be considered and investigated, and I belive the commission will come back to the Legislature with some definite information and recommendation upon which we then can act.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, May 3, 1911.

Concurrent Resolution providing for the appointment of a Commission to investigate the different systems of recording deeds, mortgages and insurance of titles now in effect in the several States, and report to a subsequent session of the Legislature such act or acts and changes in the State Constitution that may be necessary to improve the present system in Pennsylvania and to authorize counties to insure purchasers of real estate against defective titles, and providing for the assistance and co-operation of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Whereas, The present system of recording transfers of land and mortgage on real estate in Pennsylvania has been in existence for more than two hundred years, and has become antiquated and otherwise unsatisfactory because of the delay and expense it imposes upon purchasers and mortgagors of real estate; and

Whereas, The records in which are set forth the changes of ownership of the different parcels of land and the incumbrances against them, if any, are increasing at such a rate, particularly in the large and populous counties of the State, that at the present time it is a matter of serious concern for the officials in charge to provide room for them, without limiting their availability to those who even now have to spend much time and labor in order to trace a title back to the original owner, involving a delay and an expense to purchasers and mortgagors, which impose an unnecessary burden upon owners of small properties and

Whereas, This system has been changed in several States notably New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Washington an Oregon, and one adopted which will provide facility, cheapness and security in land transfers and beneficial to th interests of the people; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), Tha the Governor of the Commonwealth be and he is hereb authorized to appoint a commission consisting of five citizens of Pennsylvania whose duty it shall be to investigat and examine the various laws now in effect in the differen States relating to the recording of deeds and mortgages the transfer of lands, the insurance of titles, and the practical operation of such laws, and report to the next sessio of the Legislature such act or acts, and changes in th Constitution, if necessary, which, in the opinion of th commission will materially improve the present syste governing the recording of deeds and mortgages in th several counties of this State with a special view of recommending a law authorizing the counties of the State t assume the responsibility of insuring purchasers of rea estate against pecuniary damage by reason of defectiv titles.

The Legislative Reference Bureau is hereby authorize and directed to co-operate with the said commission an render such assistance, and do any and all acts which ma be required by the said commission in the performance o its said duty.

On the question of the adoption of the resolution.

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and amendments concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

He also returned bill from House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Bouse Bill No. 312:

An act to establish a public school system in the C monwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisi s by which it shall be administered and prescribing pen ties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establ and maintain the same and the method of collecting s revenue and repealing all laws general special or local any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent the-with

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Sena ?

Mr. KEISTER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin, Keister.

Mr. KEISTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to k whether it would be in order to consider the amendme s to this bill section by section. This is a very import t measure and I think the amendments ought to be c-sidered very carefully.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House n-concur in all of the amendments made by the Senate. I am of the opinion that many members of the House, i-cluding myself, are not familiar with the several amel-ments made by the Senate and we certainly don't h e time to consider them carefully if this bill is taken p at the present time on the question of concurrence. I a motion to non-concur would prevail at this time it wo d give the members some time to study these amendme s and would result in a conference, which I certainly th k is advisable .

The SPEAKER. The Chair is in hearty sympathy w h the remarks of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn, d suggests that this question be made a special order r to-night at eight o'clock in order to give the members n opportunity to consider the amendments.

Which was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. This bill will be made a special or r for concurrence at eight o'clock to-night.

COMMUNICATION FROM MRS. J. CALVIN MEYER.

Honorable John F. Cox, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Cox:—Mrs. Meyer has requested that I und-take the task of assuring you of her heartfelt and l-long appreciation of the magnificent tribute paid to e memory of Mr. Meyer by the coming of yourself and e honored members of the body over which you preside u the occasion of his funeral. But I feel that you will -preciate the fact that no words are adequate to fully -press the depth of gratitude felt by Mrs. Meyer and Is. McIntyre.

I can but say, sir, that nothing did so much to allev te the grief of his loved ones and nothing was so condu e to the reconciliation to their loss as the presence and r-row of your honored body.

With heartfelt appreciation and earnest good-will to yourself and each and every one of his friends and assi-ates, I am, sir, with all deference and esteem.

Very sincerely yours,
WALTER B. McINTYR

The SPEAKER. This letter will be spread upon e Journal.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Union, r Dershem.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous n-sent to offer a resolution.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by he Clerk.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having vote in the affirmative, the question was determined in th affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senat with information that the House has passed the sam without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 530, entitled:

An act providing for taxation of the gross receipts o fire insurance companies on business done within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced fo the purpose of taxing fire insurance companies one-fourt of one per cent. on their premiums. It is in line with th passage of a bill known as the State Fire Marshall bil which has been introduced by Senator Tustin, of Philade phia, in the Senate, and in order to save the expense t the State the insurance companies have agreed to bear th expenses which will probably be between thirty and fort thousand dollars. If the State Fire Marshal bill passe and there is every hope that it will pass and become law, such disasters as the Boyertown catastrophe that occurred a few years ago will be a thing of the past. Th State Fire Marshal will have the appointment of deputie at small compensation in the respective counties of Pennsylvania. This bill is in line to defray the expenses of that department.

In the State of Ohio in the last six years, since the establishment of the State Fire Marshal Department the fire losses have decreased from eleven million to about six million dollars, or about a million dollars a year, while the convictions for arson have increased from less than half a dozen to upwards of sixty.

In point of fact, the crime of arson in Ohio is considered too dangerous an experiment for the average community to indulge in.

I may say in conclusion, and I think I say it with confidence, that the insurance companies have agreed to this bill, and have agreed to bear the expenses.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if this bill provides for the taxation of fire insurance companies as they are composed in the rural districts.

Mr. SHERN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HENRY. Do I understand, Mr. Speaker, that the bill provides that companies that make assessments in case of fire to pay the losses shall be taxed one per cent. on he assessment?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, one-fourth of one per cent.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, on the amount of money they collect by assessment from each member?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, on premiums, yes, sir.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, what do I understand that to mean? Let me explain what I mean as to the fire insurance companies in the rural districts. They are known as rural fire insurance companies and in case of fire each member who has property insured is assessed a certain amount, and that is paid into the treasury and immediately paid to the one who has sustained the loss. My question is this: Does it require the company that is so organized to pay this two mills upon the amount of money that is collected from the hands of those who are paid so much in case of loss by fire?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, the bill says that "such tax in the case of mutual companies shall be imposed on the total premiums and assessments less dividends returned and less premiums paid out for re-insurance." It means on the net, as I understand it.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that is the return on the premium?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, that is my understanding of it, and Senator Tustin so informed me when he handed me the bill, and he informed me that was the purpose of he bill and that the mutual companies in Philadelphia had agreed to this bill.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to have to take some exceptions to this bill because of my consideration for the gentleman from Philadelphia, but it seems to me hat it is simply another case of an attempt to compel insurance companies that are organized solely for the purpose of the protection of those who are its members only from the damage to property from fire. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, if we are to seek to raise the revenues of his Commonwealth by taxing each and every man who has sustained a loss because of fire for damage done that we have reached the limit of taxation, and there seems o be but one end in view, and that is taxation in the State of Pennsylvania will be so unbearable that the Republican party or Democratic party or any other party that seeks to tax every cent that a man owns will work detrimental to the interest of that party. I am not opposed o the taxation of the fire insurance companies doing business on a large scale and collecting large premiums, but I do believe that it is entirely wrong to tax local mutual fire insurance companies, such as we have in the rural districts, and I believe if the gentleman understood he conditions in the rural districts that he would make an amendment that would cover that condition.

Now, understand there is much difference between what s generally known as mutual fire insurance companies and what is known as rural mutual fire insurance companies, and I am not opposed to taxing the mutual fire insurance company that has stock and collect premiums, but I am opposed to collecting any tax from fire insurance companies that are collecting assessments only in the case of fire, and are paid directly over to the one who has sustained a loss, and have no money kept in the hands of the treasurer.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Indiana is exactly right. I had expected when the gentleman from Philadelphia rose that he was getting up to make an amendment, but he did not do so. I had some conversation with him on the subject. I also had some conversation with Senator Tustin on the same subject, and Senator Tustin understands just as the gentleman from Indiana understands, that this is a tax on the premium and assessment. Now, if the gentleman from Indiana has not made it plain enough I would like to have the House understand it exactly, but I think he made it plain, but it deserves to be reiterated, that these local mutual fire insurance companies in the rural districts have no capital, no investments of any kind whatever. It is simply an association together of men that when one of them sustains a loss the rest of them will reach down in their pockets and pay a proportional share for the payment of that loss, and here comes along the bill that will require us to pay a tax on that assessment which is itself a tax. To be just as consistent. When the tax collector comes around, or rather when we go to see him and pay our taxes on our property, as we would pay the tax on the amount of that tax, that is just exactly what this is.

Now, I am not particularly opposed to the idea of this Fire Marshal Department. It may be a good thing and it may not. I am willing to take the gentleman's statement that it is. I made this suggestion to the gentleman on the other side from Philadelphia, and the gentleman in the other chamber from Philadelphia, that we would rather, if it is necessary, have a little larger tax or assessment on the premium or premium notes, although they don't give any income, than on the assessment I do not know what mutual fire insurance company it was that agreed to this, but I have not found any of the local mutual fire insurance companies that are, and they are the ones that almost entirely insure farm property, because the regular old line companies do not want to insure farm property, and when they do, they take it at such a high figure that it is prohibitory, and the people of the rural districts are compelled to organize these local companies. We are willing to pay our just share of the burden or cost of taxation, but taxation of this kind is pretty near highway robbery. If we are so fortunate as not to have any losses we will not have any tax to pay, but if unfortunate and having losses we will have to pay taxes on those losses.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, if this legislation is proper legislation—I mean by that if this legislation is worth anything to the people at all it will benefit the mutual companies just as it will benefit the old line companies. If it is going to be a benefit to the insurance people, and to the people of the State, and the old line companies are willing to pay their share—I want to say to the House that the old line companies fully appreciate and understand that the investigating of fires to find out whether they are incendiary or not has in the past been believed by them to be a great benefit to the community. Whether they have been wrong or right in that they still believe in it, and they believe in it to the extent of spending a great deal of their own money. We know that it is necessary to prevent incendaries. We know that there are some men who will burn their buildings for the purpose of getting profits, and burn their property so they can get more money than they could by selling it. The old line companies themselves have been bearing these expenses. There are some people who think that it will be a great benefit to all the citizens of Pennsylvania to have a department of this character. It was suggested, too, that the old line companies more largely than the mutual companies investigating these fires simply because they are easily reached, and they can get in contact with them. They must have faith in it and believe good will come from it or they would not be willing to pay us one-fourth per cent. additional tax, because it is an additional burden upon them. They have faith that it will be a benefit to them, and then you see that it is a benefit to the people because when you can reduce fires in our State, you reduce the premiums on insurance. Taking it from that standpoint, and knowing that the mutual companies do not very largely investigate these fires I do not think it is unfair that they should bear a part of this burden. If the House thinks it is a wise thing, and upon the face it looks good, would it not be a good thing to put this statute upon the books and if at the end of two years, we find that it does not do good these companies will be the first to come here and the next Legislature will repeal the act. My own personal opinion is that men willing to pay this tax must have faith in the workings of this law, and they most likely know what they are doing. Now, I don't think it is fair to ask all this burden to be borne by old line companies. I think it is fair that the mutual companies that will get the benefit, should escape; and aside from the fire insurance people, aside from the question of character of companies, there is the question that interests our constituents and my constituents—this thing of suppressing fires. Everybody knows that the American people suffer more heavily from fire losses than the foreign people do. It is because the foreign countries have this thing better in hand. They tax to prevent fires. We are taxing ourselves to pay for fires; I am inclined to think, personally, this is a good bill. I believe we ought to try it. The standard companies are willing to pay their share, and I think the mutual companies should not want to crawl out. It is not fair to let them out. No doubt my friend from Juniata speaks from conditions in his neighborhood. In my neighborhood they not only insure farm property, but all classes of property, and they are reaching out, especially the mutual companies in my neighborhood, for that property which is houses which they call preferred risks, and in some counties down there they will not write risks on property outside of their own counties. I am inclined to think they ought to bear their part of this burden.

Mr. HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add that the representatives of the insurance companies were before our committee two weeks ago, and they admitted they were in favor of this bill. They were opposed to a three per cent. tax, but they said the fire marshal tax would be all right, and they were satisfied to have it, because it would be a benefit to them. I would like to say that you cannot exempt the small companies, simply because they are small. A law taxing any person or property must be uniform and cover the large as well as the small companies.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to prolong the discussion on this bill. My only excuse for rising is the fact that there is considerable misconception as to the real purpose of the bill. The gentleman from Indiana and the gentleman from Juniata both are obviously in error in their views of the purpose of this bill and its practical operation, and the gentleman from Delaware has come pretty nearly hitting the nail upon the head. Don't let there be a misunderstanding as to what the bill proposes. Let me say right here that our own Pennsylvania insurance companies pay into the State treasury to-day on an average year by year something like six hundred thousand dollars in taxes upon their premiums and in fees and that the companies from other States pay into our treasury approximately one million seven hundred thousand dollars each year, while the expense of running the insurance department of this State, which is supposed to supervise the whole business, is now only forty-two thousand dollars a year, against over two hundred thousand dollars a year paid by the New York State Department.

The purpose of this bill, Mr. Speaker, as said by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, is simply to provide a way of getting at the wiping out of the fire losses as far as possible throughout the State of Pennsylvania at the expense of the insurance companies themselves, an expense they have voluntarily agreed to bear. Perhaps it should be stated that this bill is introduced by way of what has been called a gentleman's agreement; that is, its passage will involve the passage of the fire marshal law. Everybody acquainted with the subject knows that it is unconstitutional to incorporate in the fire marshal bill a provision that the insurance companies shall bear the burdens of the cost of maintenance of that bureau. The insurance companies propose to come forward and sanction this bill as a separate measure with the understanding that the moneys so paid by them shall be applicable solely and exclusively to the end in view. I do not see anything wrong about it. I agree with what my friend from Indiana has well said in his protest against wholesale and widespread efforts for increased taxation in this State. On more than one occasion my voice has been raised in protest against that on this floor. This bill does not propose to add a dollar of tax to the burden borne by the people of this State, not even at the hands of the mutual policy holders themselves. Every dollar that they may pay—and it will be small in the aggregate because their business is small, every dollar that they pay in this direction, will come back to them in double measure. That has been proved and demonstrated conclusively. It is shown by the figures given by Mr. Shern what has been done and realized in the State of Ohio under similar circumstances. The losses there, as he stated, have been reduced practically one-half through the vigilance and efficient supervision of the officers in that State, and, of course, the same result will be obtained in this State if this bill is put in operation here. And, therefore, I say that our mutual insurance company friends should support this bill. I say again that every dollar paid into the treasury, or that may be taxed because of the operation of this law, if it shall become a law, will come back to them in almost double measure by way of decreased fire losses, and that is the thing aimed at. Reduce the fire losses and you reduce the cost of fire insurance.

Just think what our own insurance companies are doing now for our State treasury. They pay a five mills tax on their capital stock, they pay an eight mill tax on every dollar of premiums they collect; and they pay a four mill tax on every dollar of their gigantic invested assets, all of which goes right into our State treasury. I want to say that if this bill becomes a law, this burden of taxation will be borne exclusively and voluntarily by these companies . They do not ask the companies of other States to come in and share the burden, because of the operation of reciprocal laws in the other States which would practically bring such exaction back on themselves; but they are coming here in a spirit of magninimity, very much to their credit, to give us this relief because they want this fire marshal law, and therefore the act would not cost the policy holders of this State a dollar.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dearden.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DEARDEN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the mutual fire insurance companies, of which we have one in Delaware county, I would ask the gentleman where this fire marshal bill is at the present time, and what will become of the money that is paid by the mutual insurance companies if that bill should fail.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, a very proper question. I am glad the gentleman has raised it. I might have anticipated such a question. The bill is now here, reported to this House, and is on the first reading calendar.

Now, then, if you pass this bill, and don't pass the fire marshal bill,—I suppose I may take it upon myself to say with something like official sanction, that this bill will no become a law. I want to state that the Governor of this Commonwealth is in fullest sympathy with both of these measures and he holds one as being the complement of the other. The passage of one must involve the passage of the other in order that either of them shall become effective.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, why would it not be wel to hold this bill open until the other is disposed of.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, I will tell you why. The gentlemen in the Senate, led by Mr. Tustin, whom I do not go too far in saying speaks for the administration on this measure, do not want any amendments introduced in this House upon the bill. If amendments were desirable might suggest one or two myself. Let me say here tha this bill provides for two and a half mills tax. I understand that Senator Tustin intends to introduce an amendment reducing the tax to two mills if the bill shall get ove to the Senate without amendment. It is desirable tha this bill in order that proper expedition may be realized shall pass in its entirety just as it is, and the Senate will then take care of the rest, and when the Senate i through the Executive will take final care of it.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dearden.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DEARDEN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if this increased taxation would be an increase on the premiums of old line or mutual fire insurance companies?

Mr. DEARDEN. My answer to that is that logically and almost certainly in one year's time it would decrease the premiums because of the reduced fire losses.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection whatsoever to the taxation of mutual fire insurance companies that do business in cities, that are incorporated under the State, doing business outside of the county, or in other States, but in the rural districts these old line fire insurance companies, so-called mutual insurance companies refuse absolutely to insure any property in rural districts; at least if the do insure they charge such an enormous premium that it is almost impossible for the people in the rural districts to be able to pay the premium, and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, the farmers are compelled to organize among themselves a mutual fire insurance company for self-protection. If these companies would go out in the rural districts and insure at a reasonable premium there would be very few, if any, of the rural mutual fire insurance companies in existence to-day, but they absolutely refuse to do that. They are charging much larger premiums than they charge in the city, and for that reason the farmers are compelled, as I said, to organize to protect themselves, and yet we seek to tax these men just as we do tax men or insurance companies that are doing business for an enormous profit, while these men are doing this because they are seeking self-protection and to help one another. I think if an amendment was made to the bill that would exempt local mutual fire insurance companies from its operation it would not be unconstitutional. I cannot see any reason why there could not be some amendment offered to this bill at this particular time that would exempt these local mutual fire insurance companies that are not doing business outside of their own counties.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, every man in this House, without exception, believes in fair play. He believes in equity and justice in all political administrations and in all the concerns of life; there is no doubt that that is a safe proposition. Every man wants justice and fair play. He wants all the citizens of this State in their normal and political rights treated exactly alike. Now, if it be a fact that by the operation of this law, if it becomes a law, all the citizens are benefited because of the extra safeguards thrown around the State against fire losses, why should not all of the people interested, whether they be stock or mutual insurance policy holders, share alike in the expenses of getting that result. If it be a fact, and I want to drive it home, for the fact has been demonstrated by experience in other States, that the enactment of this fire marshal law will bring about such a reduction in the fire losses in this State as is realized in other States, why then, of course, there will not be so many fires, and of course mutual members will not be called upon to pay for so many losses, and therefore will get all the money back again that they may pay by reason of this small tax.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it is not a fact that mutual fire insurance companies do business without any profit.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I have never been connected with any fire insurance companies of any character, and I could not answer authorative, and therefore my answer would be valueless.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I woudl like to ask the gentleman if it is not a fact that the old line fire insurance companies do business for gain.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, no doubt they do, those that have capital stock.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that the gentleman is a fire insurance agent.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly am; I represent eight companies.

Mr. MATT. Now, Mr. Speaker, you have on one side the mutual local fire insurance companies without any gain, and on the other side you have fire insurance companies that are doing business for gain, and the gentleman represents the companies that do business for profit.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, let me say to the gentleman that the agents who represent the local companies in my neighborhood tell me that they get the same commissions that I get from the standard companies. They tell me so, but when you ask me of my own knowledge I cannot say. But they are men that I know, and that I believe in all other matters. If that be true, then some of the mutual companies pay out some compensation. I feel right in calling that man a part of the company. If that is an answer to the gentleman, because they say themselves they do it. I also know that there is somebody that manages their business, and I know they get salaries. They do not declare dividends, but they are paid the same as those who represent the standard companies, and like the men in the offices of the standard companies. Now I know that the mutual companies in my county conduct business the same as standard companies, and they write policies for three to five years' insurance. If they do not carry a reserve to protect these policies they ought not to do that kind of business. With all the information dug out by your standard companies that your mutual companies take advantage of, the standard companies come forward and say we are coming forward to pay these expenses and the mutual companies are trying to crawl out of paying their just share of the expenses.

Mr. KNIGHT. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, I don't see that the mutual fire insurance companies of Pennsylvania have any use for a fire marshal. I don't think it is necessary to put this extra burden upon the people conducting mutual fire insurance companies. As for standard companies, every time they take a risk there is an inspection made of the property they insure, and if that is necessary I cannot understand why a fire marshal is necessary.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the last statement made by the gentleman who preceded me I desire to say that I believe we have in Lancaster county more than a score of local mutual fire insurance companies. During the summer of 1909 in one township in Lancaster county there were five very valuable farms burned. It finally developed when the five barns were destroyed that the same young man who had developed a mania for fires had burned every one of them. Now, if there had been a fire marshal in that township he would have apprehended the action of that young man when he burned the first or second barn, and that young man would have known that his actions were going to be scrutinized, and he would have taken a second thought before he allowed that mania to control him in that way. These companies collect from six to twenty-five thousand dollars a year in conducting their business. A company collecting six thousand dollars a year would be taxed fifteen dollars, and another company collecting twenty thousand dollars a year would pay fifty dollars a year tax. Don't you believe that if they thoroughly understood this bill they would very gladly contribute from fifteen to fifty dollars a year to apprehend just exactly the fires that are of incendiary origin. I think this is a meritorious measure.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HESS. Gladly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would ask whether in the county of Lancaster they have a county detective, and if so why his services were not called for at the time of the first fire?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, because of an oversight.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, just one word. This discussion has largely drifted away from the real point at issue. I am not very strongly in favor of the fire marshal, but be that as it may, if we are to have him and pay him as suggested, why not collect this assessment off the premiums and not off the assessments. When we have a loss then we must reach down into our pockets further, and pay money out to pay the fire marshal. Why not take it off the premiums at the time when the insured does not have losses to pay instead of putting it on him double when he is unfortunate. And then, as happens to be the case in my neighborhood, we have a company that has not had an assessment for four years, and we would escape taxation four years, and the next summer we might have a disastrous fire and then we would have this extra tax to pay. It is the way they get at it that I object to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

A division was called for, whereupon 95 members voted in the affirmative and 70 in the negative, and the question was determined in the affirmative.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Less than a majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. KNIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the roll be verified.

The roll was verified as above recorded.

Mr. McCLUNG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 541 (Senate No. 318), page 17 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present, for the purpose of amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 541 (Senate No. 318), entitled:

A supplement to an act entitled "An Act for the government of cities of the second class" approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one creating and regulating a City Planning Department giving it jurisdiction extending it over the city and for three miles beyond the city limits and regulating the laying out of plans of lots within its jurisdiction

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCLUNG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title by striking out the last two words thereof and substituting the following: "the limits of the city"

Amend section 5, line 5, by striking out the words "or within three miles beyond the city limits"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection?

The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inser in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for print

D. 1909.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. WOODWARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

Mr. WOODWARD read in place and presented to the Chair a bill entitled:

"An act to provide for the payment of the expenses incident to the attendance of the Members of the Pennsylvania Legislature at the funeral of the Honorable J. Calvin Meyer, deceased."

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILL ON FIRST READING.

Mr. VON TACKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to consider on first reading House Bill No. 890 (Senate No. 598).

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 890 (Senate No. 598), entitled:

An act making state taxes unpaid bonus interest penalties and all public accounts a first lien upon the franchise and property of corporations companies associations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships against which the same may be settled providing for enforcing the payment thereof and for the furnishing of certificates as to the existence of such liens upon application thereof and repealing section four of the act approved April sixteenth one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 501 (Senate No. 173), on page 16 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present, for the purpose of amendment:

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 501 (Senate No. 173), entitled:

An act to amend section one of an act entitled "An Act authorizing the councils of incorporated boroughs to require the paving curbing and macadamizing of streets or thoroughfares or parts thereof and assess a portion of the costs of the same on the owners of property abutting thereon and providing for the collection of the same" approved the twenty-third day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine so as to change the requirements of the petition for paving from two-thirds of the owners of property representing not less than two-thirds in number of feet of the properties fronting or abutting on the street or thoroughfare or the part thereof proposed to be paved to the owners of property representing not less than two-thirds in number of feet of the properties fronting or abutting on the street or thoroughfare or the part thereof proposed to be paved

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert amendments to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend by adding after section one the following as section two:

Section 2 That so much of an act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act authorizing the councils of incorporated boroughs to require the paving, curbing and macadamizing of streets or thoroughfares, or parts thereof, and assess a portion of the cost of the same on the owners of property abutting thereon, and providing for the collection of the same' approved the twenty-third day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, pamphlet laws 44; providing that if the petition for said improvements has been verified by the affidavit of one or more of the petitioners, notice may be given of the passage of the ordinance requiring said improvement, and allowing an appeal therefrom by the person interested to any Court of Common Pleas of the County, and if such appeal is dismissed or no such an appeal is taken, then all parties interested shall be estopped from denying that said petition was signed by the requisite number of owners, representing the requisite number of feet fronting on the street to be improved" approved the fourteenth day of April Anno Domino one thousand nine hundred and five, which is inconsistent herewith, and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Amend title by adding at end of title "and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, To be prepared for final passage.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 611.

Mr. HOOVER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 611, file folio 2267, on page 4 of today's calendar, entitled:

An act to provide for the establishment of a Bureau of Standards in the Department of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania the appointment of a Chief of that Bureau prescribing his duties and fixing his salary the appointment of one assistant and fixing his salary authorizing the purchase of a set of standardized weights and measures for the use of the Bureau and making an appropriation therefor was defeated on final passage, be reconsidered.

Mr. SWAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TUNIS. Mr. Speaker, this bill, known as House Bill 611, provides for what is known as a bureau of standards. In the early part of the session a number of bills known as the sealers of weights and measures were introduced in this House, one by Mr. Breitinger of Philadelphia, one by Mr. McClung of Allegheny, and one by myself. The Breitinger bill only provided for sealers of weights and measures in cities of the first class, while the McClung Bill and my own bill provided for a general bill of sealers of weights and measures in the entire state. Mr. McClung, with the sealers of weights and measures of the city of Pittsburg and the same official in this city, and a representative of the Government, all got together for the purpose of draughting a general bill. That bill passed the House and Senate and was messaged to the Governor in the last day or two. The sealers of weights and measures in the McClung Bill will be appointed in cities of the first, second and third classes by the mayor, and confirmed by councils. In boroughs and townships, where they see need of it, the position is creted by the county commissioners and paid for by the commissioners. While they have all the authority to look at any wrong weights and measures, they have no standard to go by. The Government has such a bureau of standards. Every member of this House knows that in recent years the United States Government has started to prosecute any persons violating the laws in weights and measures, and unless you have a standard that the sealers of weights and measures can go by they have no way in which they can follow up any violations. This bill proposes that a committee or bureau consisting of a chief of the bureau and one assistant be appointed by the Secretary of Internal Affairs. In a city of this kind a nominal fine is placed upon the violators, for fear the violators will appeal the case to the courts, and they will have no bureau of standards to prove that they are right. I know of a set of scales that is advertised from a town in Ohio as being absolutely crooked, and is everywhere advertised as such. This bill provides against all this and gives the honest farmer with the honest weight and measure a chance, and he does not have to compete with the slick short measure man. There never was any other measure in this House which was of greater protection to the public than this would be, and I hope the House will reconsider the vote and pass this bill.

Mr. KNIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Tunis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUNIS. I will.

Mr. KNIGHT. Does this bill carry any jobs with it?

Mr. TUNIS. It carries with it a chief of the bureau and one assistant.

Mr. KNIGHT. Can we not get this same information from the Federal Government?

Mr. TUNIS. No, sir, we cannot.

Mr. KNIGHT. They have such a department at Washington, and why have we not the use of it?

Mr. TUNIS. I know you don't have the use of it. It provides this bureau for itself, but the State must provide its own standard.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having vot in the affirmative, the question was determined in t affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Sena for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consid ation of House Bill No. 634, entitled:

An act prohibiting hospitals and other institutions receivi State aid from restricting pay patients in the selection of ph sicians and surgeons not connected with said institutions a providing a penalty therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BREITINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call t attention of the House to the provisions of this bill. in any hospital in the State the pay patients were not stricted in the matter of having their own physicians co into the hospital to attend them, it would demoralize eve hospital in the State of Pennsylvania, and I hope this b will be voted down.

Mr. WM. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gent man is quite wrong when he says that it would demoral every hospital. This bill provides only for hospitals ceiving State aid. It does not apply to any hospital th does not receive State aid. This bill merely permits p patients to call in their own doctor. I see no harm in t bill whatever. If a man pays fifty dollars a week should have the privilege of calling in his own doctor attend him.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, it really seems though this bill ought to have the hearty support of eve body. This applies simply to pay patients and if there any time when a man wants some one near to himself to be treated by his family physician, it is when he is the hospital. There are hospitals, the management of whi are so narrow as to forbid the entrance of the family ph sician or the physician selected by one interested in t patient. It is not fair and it is not just, and there is good reason why a pay patient should not have the privile of selecting a physician or surgeon, and possibly any ph sician or surgeon would be refused entrance and thus d away with the opportunity of selecting any one physici or surgeon. Suppose a person should be taken suddenly and taken to a state institution, not of the school of me cine in which the patient believes, and there should be desire of the patient to have the family physician of other school. The feeling between the professions, ab which it is not necessary to make any comment, might clude the physician because he does not belong to the sa school. Is there any good reason why this bill should pass?

Mr. BREITINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrog the author of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Alleghe Mr. Wm. Conner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WM. CONNER. I will.

Mr. BREITINGER. Does or does not this bill prov that where a patient calls in a physician that the physici is bound by the rules and regulations of that particu hospital.

Mr. WM. CONNER. I cannot answer that question

Mr. BREITINGER. The bill prohibits hospitals receiv State aid from restricting pay patients in the selection physicians and surgeon. Is or is not that physician so lected bound by the rules of the institution?

Mr. WM. CONNER. He certainly would be, but he ha right to go in and treat the patient according to the ru of the institution.

Mr. BREITINGER. Does this bill provide that the physician is bound by the rules of the institution?

Mr. WM. CONNER. That goes without saying.

Mr. BREITINGER. Is he bound or not?

Mr. WM. CONNER. Of course, he is bound.

Mr. BREITINGER. The bill does not so provide.

Mr. WM. CONNER. It is not necessary to provide it.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 636, entitled:

An act to protect the lives and limbs of miners from the dangers resulting from incompetent miners working in the bituminous coal mines of this Commonwealth and to provide for the examination of persons seeking employment as miners in the bituminous region and to prevent the employment of incompetent persons as miners in bituminous coal mines and providing penalties for a violation of the same

On the question,

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of this bill explain it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Feeney, is the sponsor of this bill.

Mr. FEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I will state that this is a very important measure. This same bill has been drawn from the anthracite bill for miners' safety in that region, and in that section they enjoy this certificate law. It has prevented many accidents and meets with great satisfaction. There is not a member in this House to-night who has not read big headlines of the disasters in Western Pennsylvania, and many of those disasters could have been avoided had this bill been passed years ago in the bituminous regions. The object of this bill is to protect the miners in the bituminous region. Many of our great disasters that have happened in the past, after the explosion was over and after the widows and children were left by the thousands, there was nothing to do to prevent such disasters through an incompetent or ignorant miner. This bill provides that any miner—and the word miner means one who shall go into the dangerous portions of a bituminous mine, but it does not mean to keep him from other work about the mine, but without the certficate he shall not be employed in the dangerous portions of the mine. If there ever was a meritorious measure before this House, or a measure for the protection of miners, this bill provides that for the bituminous coal miners.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman allow himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Feeney, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FEENEY. Yes, sir.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know how this bill will fit in with what is known as the mining code.

Mr. FEENEY. It does not conflict with that measure.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, section 1 of the bill states "no person shall be engaged in the bituminous coal region without having a certificate." Over in section 5 in lines 15 to 18 it says that "a person shall have two years' experience." How is he going to get that two years' experience.

Mr. FEENEY. By working around or about the mines, but he cannot enter into the dangerous portions of the mines, as a miner, until he has had two years' experience.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. ennan.

Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state for the nefit of this House that I have the honor of representing district in this State from Schuylkill county. There is one in my district has asked me to assist in the passage this measure or any measure of this kind. I wish to ate further that a majority of them are ignorant of the ct that there is such a measure before this body. I want say to this House that this bill is unfair to the voters Schuylkill county, from the fact that it is proposed to ke away from them the right of electing their own county icers. This is a bill whose purpose is to create a com- ssion of assessors for the purpose of assessing county and ate taxes. I have heard of bills coming before bodies of is character with ''snakes'' in them, but I must say that ere is a serpent in this proposed measure. The purpose this bill is to create positions for persons in Schuylkill unty who have worn their welcome out with all the par- es and cannot be elected on either the Republican ticket any other ticket in my region, and they come before this use with a bill asking the State of Pennsylvania for power appoint a commission to assess taxes for the people Schuylkill county. None of the members on the floor this House has informed me that any of their constitu- ts has requested this measure. I therefore ask the mem- rs of this House to assist in voting this bill down. It un-American, and an imposition on our people. I wish state that this bill should be defeated.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that I have oken to a number of people in my county to which this l will also apply, but I have not found any one of the ople in my district who favors the measure. They were prised to learn that there was such a bill as this in ex- ience. One Berks countian asked me last week, however, vote for it—he asked me here in Harrisburg, and that s the first I knew about this bill. I took it before my ople at home, among people of all political faiths, and I und no Democrat, no Republican, no Keystoner, no Social- or no Prohibitionist or any one else who favored it. It un-Democratic and there is not one feature about it ich appeals to the county which I represent in this use.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that in coun- ts of this Commonwealth with a population of from one ndred and fifty thousand to two hundred and twenty usand the Auditor General shall be empowered to ap- nt a board of assessors, to be composed of three men at aries of thirty-five hundred dollars per year each. They, conjunction with the salary board, shall have the power employ a certain number of clerks and stenographers at h salaries as they, in conjunction with the salary board, y in their wisdom determine upon. This bill further pro- es that that board of assessors shall have the power to -divide the counties into local districts—presumably rds, boroughs and townships—and to appoint in each of these sub-divisions a local assessor at a salary of ee dollars per day during such time as they may serve, to abolish the office of the assessor of the county. The nties affected by this bill are Montgomery, Fayette, nbria, Bucks and Lancaster. It further provides that office of the ward, borough or township assessor shall abolished in so far as it pertains to assessment for State county purposes.

he proposed act is clearly unconstitutional inasmuch as it is local legislation, which is not permitted by that instrument. As originally drawn,, this bill would have included only one county in the State, viz., Schulkill, which result would have been so clearly a local or special law regulating the affairs of that county that those interested in it were compelled to increase the classification and include all counties between 150,000 and 225,000 population, the result of which is that it now applies to Berks, Cambria, Fayette, Montgomery, Schuylkill and Lancaster, and to no others. Thus it is proposed to enact a law regulating the manner of assessing property for State and county purposes, which will be the law for only six of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania. That this sort of classification has been repeatedly denounced by the Supreme Court and stricken down for invalidity appears from many cases reported in the Supreme Court reports of the State. I refer to three, which are fair examples of a large number:

In McCarthy vs. Commonwealth, a case from Schuylkill, reported in 110 Pa., 243, the Supreme Court decided that:

1. The act of June 22d, 1883 (P. L. 139), directing that, in counties the population of which exceeds 100,000, and is less than 150,000, the fees, which formerly belonged to the county officers, shall be turned over to the County Treasurer, that the officers be compensated by salaries and imposing various new duties upon the Auditors in the counties to which it relates, is unconstitutional and void, being in contravention of Article III, section 7, of the Constitution, which provides that "the General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law regulating the affairs of counties, cities, townships, wards, boroughs or school districts; creating officers or prescribing the duties in counties, cities, boroughs, townships, election or school districts."

2. The power of the Legislature to classify counties by population for the purpose of legislation has, in special instances been recognized by the courts, upon the assumption that counties having a small population may have a larger one in the future. The above act, however, is an attempt to legislate directly for certain counties (there being only four within the limits mentioned in said act) selected from all others, to be ascertained by their population rather than by their name. This is local or special legislation within the meaning of the Constitutional prohibition.

In Morrison v. Bachert, 112 Pa., 322, it was decided that:

An act excluding perpetually from its operation counties containing more than one hundred and fifty thousand or less than ten thousand inhabitants is a local law. The perpetual exclusion of certain counties from the operation of a law is not a classification of counties.

In the City of Scranton v. Silkman, 113 Pa., 191, it was decided that:

The act of May 24th, 1878, P. L. 133, authorizing any owner of real estate in any county of less than five hundred thousand inhabitants, aggrieved by the assessment of his real estate, to appeal to the Court of Common Pleas from the decision of the County Commissioners or the Board of Appeal and Revision of any city of the third class is a local act regulating the affairs of counties and cities, and is therefore in conflict with section 3, Article III, of the Constitution.

Even if the act were constitutional it would be grossly improper as tending to a senseless lack of uniformity in a matter which concerns the revenues of the State. Thus the county of Lancaster would have one system and its adjoining counties of Chester and York another; Berks would have one system, and Lebanon and Lehigh have another; Cambria would have one system and the larger and more populous county of Westmoreland would have another; Schuylkill, an anthracite mining county of large population would have one system and Luzerne and Lackawanna another.

The bill is intended to create a large number of perfectly useless offices and to compel the people of the counties affected by it to pay salaries for sinecures, whom they have not asked for and whom they do not want. The only local property assessed for State purposes is money at interest, about the value of which no assessment is needed, and the only and best method of ascertaining which is the affidavit of the taxpayer. This is already provided for, and the new system would not make it more secure. For the assessment of local property for county purposes, the men to make it should be selected by the local authorities. If any change in the system is demanded they should be appointed either by the courts or the County Commissioners, and not by the Auditor General at Harrisburg. The attempt to transfer the administration of local government to the State capital and centralize it with officers of the State is at variance with the principles of our government. The Auditor General has no acquaintance with the people or property in the different localities, and it is not the proper authority to select those who are to assess it. The bill does not propose to abolish the present officers, the local assessors, but leaves them remain, and hence we would have one system of assessment of property for road and school purposes and another for county purposes. This would work great inequality and create dissatisfaction.

As the governments of the counties affected are at present constituted they have each three County Commissioners, who are paid a salary of $2,500 each, and Controllers, with salaries of from $4000 upward, who are amply able to take care of all the assessments and who are the proper parties to review them.

In my own county of Lancaster the total cost of making the assessment, including the assessment of property for all purposes—State, county, road and school—the registry of voters, enrollment of the militia, school census and registry of births and deaths, is made for less than $20,000. The assessment for State and county purposes does not cost $10,000 a year. All this would have to be continued under the new law, and, in addition thereto, the three new offices created would carry with them salaries aggregating $10,500, and the pay of the district assessors might aggregate $300 a day for as many days in the year as their employers saw fit to keep them at work. The result of this would be that the expenses would be at least double, and there would be absolutely no return except inequality, dissatisfaction and conflict of authority.

In our own county of Lancaster, where nearly a hundred millions of dollars worth of real estate is assessed for county taxation and nearly thirty millions of dollars of money at interest are returned for State taxation, the work of levying, revising and adjusting State and county taxes is done by the local assessors, subject to appeal to the County Commissioners and review by them and the Controller. There is no need nor demand for any other system. The entire work of hearing the appeals is completed in twelve days between January 17 and February 2, and there is no substantial complaint that it is not well done. I venture to say not a dozen persons in a voting population of over 35,000 in Lancaster could be found to favor the monstrous proposition that this new, elaborate and costly scheme be imposed upon us.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, in no bill considered by this Legislature has the question of popular or representative government been so much involved as in this one. The bill creating the Board of Tax Revision for Allegheny county was of this class, but not as radical as this one. That bill took the right from the judiciary of that county and gave it to a State official to appoint the members of the Board of Tax Revision, while this bill takes the right to choose the members of the board from the people and vests the power in the same State official as in the case of the Allegheny county bill, with no redress in case of dissatisfaction with their work except through the courts, a process which but few property owners would care to follow. To-day if the people of a county are dissatisfied with the work of the Board of Tax Revision which is the Board of Commissioners, they can once in three years elect a new board. It is said that in a few townships in a county or two affected by this bill that the assessors put a low valuation on assessable property for fear of being defeated when again candidates for re-election. Under such a condition it is unnecessary to change the law of the State to get a remedy as suggested by this bill. Insist that the Board of County Commissioners sitting as the Board of Tax Revision does its duty in equalizing valuations in acordance with the act of April 27, 1909, and previous laws, and if they fail to do so public sentiment will elect men in their places who will correct the inequalities in the assessments. In my opinion, this Legislature is going too far when it legislates to take from the people their right to have anything to say regarding the selection of officials who are to place a valuation on their property for the purposes of taxation.

While we shout ourselves hoarse in applauding the efforts of our Irish friends of the Emerald Isle in their fight for home rule we propose with our votes to take from our constituents, the people of the whole State being our constituents as well as those who sent us here as their representatives, and should this bill pass the House I am very much in doubt whether the Executive of this Commonwealth—himself a native of the country referred to as making such a noble and determined fight for home rule—will attach his signature to a bill taking this right from the people he is so conscientiously serving.

When the Allegheny county bill was being considered I alone filed a protest against its passage, and I feel li congratulating the House that there is such an increas sentiment against a measure of this character, as is in cated by the speeches we have listened to with so mu satisfaction, indicating that the principle of popular go ernment is much stronger in this House than was ma fested at that time, and I very much doubt if there is member of this House who would care to go before l constituents as a candidate for re-election and say them that he voted for a bill to take from the people certain counties the right to name by their votes the office who are to fix the valuation on their property for the pu poses of taxation with a declaration that if returned the Legislature they will introduce and vote for a bill this character applying to their respective counties.

When the Allegheny county bill was being consider two of the highly esteemed and distinguished Philadelpl members of this body served notice on their colleagu that they wanted no legislation of this character for Phi delphia, and while they did not believe in the princip of the bill they would support it because the Alleghe county members desired it, and now to be consistent wi their declaration, with a majority of the members of t counties affected by this bill against it, they will, of cour, oppose it with their votes.

It is extreme legislation of this character, taking lo enjoyed rights from the people and putting additional penses on them by the creating of new county offices, al bills creating new offices and increasing salaries at a ti when the individual property owner is burdened with al compelled to pay increased taxes when business con tions are such as demands retrenchment on the part f employers of labor, and to this end thousands of men i this Commonwealth are working on part time or at redu wages that causes and increases party insurgency and t degree that should cause those interested in the 19 election to take heed and warning before too late.

And said bill having been read at length the third tin considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committeee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 313, as follows:

An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith

Definitions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the purpose of this act the terms and definitions contained therein shall be as follows

Mine In this act the term "mine" includes the shafts slopes drifts or incline planes connected with excavations penetrating coal stratum or strata which excavations are ventilated by one general air current or divisions thereof and connected by one general system of mine railroads over which coal may be delivered to one or more points outside the mine when such is operated by one operator

Excavations and Workings The term "excavations and workings" includes all the excavated portions of a mine those abandoned as well as the places actually being worked also all underground workings and shafts tunnels and other ways and openings and all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in the course of being sunk or driven together with all roads appliances machinery and material connected with the same below the surface

Shaft The term "shaft" means a vertical opening through the strata that is or may be used for the purpose of ventilation or drainage or for hoisting men or material or both in connection with the mining of coal

Slope The term "slope" means an incline or opening used for the same purpose as a shaft

Operator The term "operator" means any firm corporation or individual operating any coal mine or any part thereof

Superintendent The term "superintendent" means the person who shall have on behalf of the operator immediate supervision of one or more mines

Mine Foreman The term "mine foreman" means the person whom the operator or superintendent shall place in charge of the inside workings of the mine and of the persons employed therein

Inspector The term "inspector" means the person commissioned by the Governor to have supervision of mines as hereinafter prescribed

Bituminous Mines The term "bituminous mines" shall include all coal mines in the State not now included in the anthracite boundaries and whenever the term "mine" appears in this act it shall be construed to mean "bituminous coal mine"

Approved Safety Lamp The term "approved safety lamp" shall mean any bonneted safety lamp approved by the Department of Mines

ARTICLE II

Maps and Plans

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of any bituminous coal mine shall make or cause to be made by a competent mining engineer or surveyor an accurate map of the mine on a scale of not less than two hundred feet to the inch which may shall show as follows

First All the openings excavations shafts slopes drifts tunnels planes main entries cross entries and rooms and the name or number of each

Second An accurate delineation of the boundary lines between said mine and all adjoining mines or coal lands and the relation and proximity of the workings of said mine to all adjoining mines or coal lands and if requested by the inspector the blue print in the office at the mines shall show by arrows the direction of the air currents in said mine each split to show in different color in pencil

Third The elevation above or below mean tide at Sandy Hook of the top and bottom of each shaft and slope of all drifts tunnels planes and of the faces of entries as found at each semi-annual survey and in rooms and entries adjacent to boundary lines between such mine and any adjoining mine or mines at points not more than three hundred feet apart also the number of last survey station and the date of such survey on the entries as they are represented on the map the location of streams rivers lakes dams or any other bodies of water on the surface with their elevations accurately and plainly marked the location and elevation of any body of water dammed in the mine or held back in any portion of the mine giving the true area of said body of water unless inaccessible before the passage of this act the location of all bore holes penetrating the coal strata and the location of all oil and gas wells and oil and gas pipe lines Provided however for the purpose of this paragraph the owner or owners of the oil and gas wells and the oil and gas pipe lines shall furnish at his their or its own expense to the operator of the mine on which said wells are located or lines are constructed a survey showing the location thereof within sixty days after the passage of this act or within a like time after the construction or location of wells and pipe lines hereafter made

Section 2 When the workings of a mine are within three hundred feet of the boundary lines between such mine and any adjoining mine or mines application shall be made by the operator or the superintendent to the inspector for information as to the proximity of the workings of such adjoining mine or mines and if the workings of such adjoining mine or mines are at their nearest point within three hundred feet of such boundary line the inspector shall so notify the said operator or the said superintendent who shall have such portion of the workings of said adjoining mine or mines surveyed and shown on the map of the mine first mentioned For the purpose of making only the survey herein required the engineer or surveyor of any mine shall have the right of entry into any adjoining mine on the written authority of the inspector

Section 3 A true copy of said map shall be kept in the mine office at the mine for the use of the mine officials and the inspector and for the inspection (in the presence of the superintendent or the mine foreman) of any person working in said mine whenever said person shall fear that any working place is becoming dangerous by reason of its proximity to other workings that may contain dangerous accumulations of water or noxious gases

Section 4 At least once every six months the operator or the superintendent of every mine shall cause to be shown accurately on the original map of said mine and on the copy of the map in the mine office all the excavations made therein during the time that has elapsed since such excavations were last shown thereon

The operator or the superintendent at the request of the inspector in writing shall order that any portion of any mine shall be surveyed and entered on the original map when in the opinion of the inspector such portion of the mine is approaching accumulations of water or noxious gases And whenever any of the workings or excavations of any mine shall be driven to their destination it shall be the duty of the operator or the superintendent to cause the mining engineer or surveyor to check up all his previous work and notes of said mine so that he can certify that the said map shows correctly all the excavations made therein as he is required to do by section six of this article

Section 5 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall furnish the inspector of the district with a true and correct copy of the aforesaid original map of said mine on tracing cloth and at the end of every six months thereafter the inspector shall return said copy to the operator or the superintendent who shall place or cause to be placed thereon all the extensions made and all portions of the mine worked out or abandoned during the preceding six months as provided for in section four of this article and shall forward the map to the inspector within thirty days from the time of receiving it Provided that in lieu of the map on tracing cloth as aforesaid the operator or the superintendent shall have the privilege of furnishing every six months a blue print showing the complete workings of the mine to date When more than one seam of coal is being worked in any mine the inspector shall be provided with a separate copy of the original map on tracing cloth or a blue print of the complete workings of each seam as provided for in this article The copies of the maps of the several mines as hereinbefore required to be furnished to the inspector shall remain in the care of the inspector of the district in which said mines are situated as official records pertaining strictly to the office of said inspector to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall any copy thereof be made or any information therefrom be given to any person without the consent of the operator except as provided for in section two of this article

Section 6 Whenever a mine is worked out or abandoned the operator or the superintendent shall within sixty days thereafter extend the inspector's map to show clearly all the worked-out or abandoned territory with all property and boundary lines and elevations as required in section one of this article

The owner or the operator of the abandoned mine shall also within sixty days after its abandonment send to the Department of Mines a tracing of said complete original map which shall be kept in the Department as a public document The mining engineer or surveyor shall certify that said tracing is a true and correct copy of the original map of said mine and that the original map is a true complete and correct map and survey of all the excavations made in said abandoned mine

Section 7 If the inspector shall have reason to believe that any map of any mine furnished to him in pursuance of the provisions of this article is inaccurate or imperfect he is hereby authorized to have made a survey and a new map of said mine The cost of said survey and map shall be recoverable from the operator as other debts are recoverable by law Provided however that if the map claimed by the inspector to be inaccurate or imperfect shall be found sufficiently accurate to serve the purpose for which it is intended then the Commonwealth shall be liable for the expense incurred in making said survey and map which expense shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon warrant of the Auditor General issued upon the presentation of voucher approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines

ARTICLE III

Duties of Mine Superintendent Mine Supplies

Section 1 It shall be the duty of every superintendent on behalf and at the expense of the operator to keep on hand at each mine at all times a sufficient quantity of all materials and supplies required to preserve the health and safety of the employes as ordered by the mine foreman and required by this act If for any reason the superintendent cannot procure the necessary materials or supplies as aforesaid he shall at once notify the mine foreman whose duty it shall be to withdraw the men from the mine or portion of mine until such materials or supplies are received

The superintendent shall at least once every week read examine carefully and countersign all reports entered in the mine record book by the mine foreman and if he finds on such examination that the law is being violated in any particular he shall order the mine foreman to stop said violation forthwith and shall see that his order is complied with

Section 2 The superintendent shall not obstruct the mine foreman or other officials in the fulfillment of any of their duties as required by this act but he shall direct that the mine foreman and all the other employes under him comply with the law in all its provisions especially when his attention is called by the inspector to any violation of the law. At any mine where a superintendent is not employed the duties that are herein prescribed for the superintendent shall devolve upon the mine foreman in addition to his regular duties

Section 3 The superintendent of every mine shall provide a sufficient number of danger signals upon request of the mine foreman which the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall distribute in the mine at places convenient for the use of the fire bosses in the fulfillment of their duties Danger signals in all mines shall be uniform and of a design approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines All danger signals shall be kept in good condition and no defective signal shall be allowed to remain in any mine

Section 4 The superintendent shall keep on hand at the mine a supply of the printed rules and notices and record books required by this act which shall be furnished through the inspector of the district on request of the superintendent in writing The superintendent shall see that said rules and notices and record books are delivered to the proper persons at the mine and that they are properly cared for and he shall also see that the rules and notices are posted in conspicuous places at or near the entrance to the mine and kept in such condition that they will always be legible

Section 5 The superintendent shall not permit the mining of coal within fifty feet of any abandoned mine containing a dangerous accumulation of water until said danger has been removed by driving a passageway to tap and drain off said water as provided for in this act Provided that the thickness of the barrier pillars shall be greater and shall be in proportion of one foot of pillar thickness to each one and one-quarter feet of water-head if in the judgment of the engineer of the property and that of the district inspector it is necessary for the safety of the persons working in the mine

Section 6 The superintendent shall provide a safety catch or other safety device to be placed on the rear end of the rear car of full trips that are being hoisted up slopes and he shall also provide suitable signals to be placed on the rear end of the rear car of all trips hauled in the mines by locomotives of any kind

Section 7 If the mine foreman the assistant mine foreman or the fire boss neglects his duties or incapacitates himself by drunkenness or is incapacitated by any other cause for the proper performance of his duties and information thereof shall be brought to the knowledge of the superintendent it shall be the duty of the superintendent to make a thorough investigation of the case and if he finds evidence to sustain the charge he shall inform the inspector who shall inform the court of common pleas of the county or a judge thereof by petition and said court or judge when the court is not in session shall issue a citation in the name of the Commonwealth to the said mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss to appear at not less than five days' notice upon a day fixed before said court or a judge thereof at which time the cour shall proceed to inquire into and investigate the allegations If the court finds the allegations to be true it shall notify the Department of Mines of such finding and instruct said Departmen to withdraw the certificate of said delinquent Provided however that he shall have the right to appear before the Examining Board and be re-examined and if he can satisfy the Board that he has reformed and passes a satisfactory examination he shall be given another certificate of qualification When the court orders the certificate of a mine foreman an assistant mine foreman or a fire boss to be withdrawn the inspector shall notify the operators of the district of the fact

Section 8 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall within thirty days thereafter send to the inspector notices of the following occurrences

First When a mine has been abandoned or the working thereof discontinued

Second When any work has commenced for the purpose of opening a new mine

Third When the working of a mine is resumed after an abandonment or a discontinuance for a period exceeding two months

Fourth When any change occurs in the name of a mine or in the name of the operator of a mine under the provisions of this act

Mine Foreman and His Duties

Section 1 In order to secure efficient management and proper ventilation of the mines to promote the health and safety of the persons employed therein and to protect and preserve the property connected therewith the operator or the superintenden shall employ a competent and practical mine foreman for every mine where ten or more persons are employed The mine foreman shall have full charge of all the inside workings and of the persons employed therein in order that all the provisions of this act so far as they relate to his duties shall be complied with and the regulations prescribed for each class of workmen under his charge carried out in the strictest manner possible

ie mine is generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient
e detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman t possess a first grade foreman's certificate If the mine is gaseous the mine foreman must possess either a first grade man's certificate or a second grade mine foreman's cerate

hen the mine workings become so extensive that the mine man is unable personally to carry out the requirements of act pertaining to his duties he shall have the right to ema sufficient number of competent persons to act as his tants who shall act under his instructions in carrying out provisions of this act If the mine is generating explosive in quantities sufficient to be detected by an aprpoved safety the mine foreman's assistants must possess first grade as-int mine foreman's certificates case of the necessary temporary absence of the mine fore-he may deputize his work for the time being to his as-int who shall perform all the duties of the mine foreman ection 2 The mine foreman shall devote the whole of his to his duties in the mine when the mine is in operation and l keep a careful watch over the ventilating apparatus the ilation airways traveling ways timbering and drainage and l see that all stoppings along airways are properly built as ided for in section five of article nine of this act

e shall also see that proper cut-throughs are made in the rs of all rooms and of all entries in accordance with section e of article nine of this act and that they are closed when ssary so that the ventilating current can be conducted in cient quantity through the last cut-through to the face of room and entry by means of check doors He shall not nit any room or entry to be turned in advance of the ven-ing current or in advance of the last cut-through in the y excepting room necks which may with the consent of the ector be turned by entrymen driving entries ection 3 The mine foreman or his assistant shall at least every week measure the air current at or near the main t and outlet airway and also in the last cut-through in the room and in the entry beyond the last room turned in each y and make a record of said measurements as provided in section eighteen of this article Said measurements shall aken on days when the men are at work and for making measurements an anemometer shall be provided and kept good condition by the superintendent of the mine ection 4 In case of accident to a ventilating fan or its ma-iery whereby the ventilation of the mine would be seriously rrupted the mine foreman shall order the men to with-v immediately from the mine and he shall not allow them eturn to their work until the ventilation has been restored the mine has been thoroughly examined by him or by an stant mine foreman or fire boss and reported safe ection 5 The mine foreman shall notiy the superintendent in ing whenever in his opinion the mine is becoming danger-through the lack of ample ventilation at the face of entries ns and other portions of the mine caused by the undue th of entries and airways or from any other cause resulting he accumulation of gas or coal dust or both in various por-s of the mine The superintendent shall then notify the inctor of the report of the mine foreman requesting him to e and make a personal examination and if he finds it is ming dangerous he shall at once direct the superintendent proceed to have it put in safe condition and if necessary e an additional opening of ample dimensions sunk from the ace to the interior which opening can be used as an out-or inlet for the air and also as an escapeway in case of essity

all mines generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient
e detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman
l see that when the permanent station of the fire boss ocated a mile or more from the entrance to the mine all ndoned finished or unfinished workings in the intervening ance between the permanent station and the entrance he mine are completly shut off from the main intake or way headings of the mine by stoppings of masonry cone or some other incombustible material of sufficient thick-to keep the explosive or noxious gases from coming in tact with the intake air or with the persons employed ein ection 6 The mine foreman shall direct and see that every king place is properly secured by props or timbers and shall that no person is directed or permitted to work in an un-place unless it be for the purpose of making it safe He l also see that the workmen are provided with sufficient s cap pieces and timbers of suitable size which shall be vered at the working faces or as near thereto as they can conveyed in mine cars when requested by the workmen in rdance with section seven of this article. He shall also that props are cut square at both ends and as near as ticable to the proper length required or designated for the es where they are to be used ection 7 Every workman in need of props cap pieces and ers shall notify the mine foreman or the assistant mine man (or any other person delegated by the mine foreman) he fact at least one day in advance giving the number size length of props cap pieces and timbers required In case emergency the timber may be ordered immediately upon discovery of danger If for any reason the necessary tim-cannot be supplied when required the mine foreman or stant mine foreman shall instruct the workmen to vacate place until the timber needed is supplied he place and manner of leaving the orders for props cap es and timbers shall be designated and specified in the s of the mine

ection 8 The mine foreman shall see that on all animal and hanical hauling roads holes for shelter shall be cut into strata not less than two and one-half feet deep and four wide and level with the road at least every thirty yards kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in en-from which rooms are driven at regular intervals not eding ninety feet provided that the entrance to each room kept clear of obstruction for a distance of three feet On all main hauling roads on which hauling is done by machinery shelter holes shall be cut into the strata not less than two and one-half feet deep aand at least four feet wide and level with the road and not more than fifteen yards apart and said shelter holes shall be kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are opened at regular intervals not exceeding forty-five feet Provided That the entrance to such room be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of three feet All shelter holes shall be made on the same side of the entry All entries driven after the passage of this act shall have a clear space of two and one-half feet from the side of the car to the rib which shall be made and continued throughout on one side of the entry if in the judgment of the inspector the condition of the roof will permit and shall be kept clear of obstruction

No person except officials or repairmen shall be permitted to travel on slopes gravity or incline planes while the cars thereon are in motion

Section 9 The mine foreman shall direct and see that the coal is properly mined before it is blasted "Properly mined" shall mean that the coal shall be undercut center-cut top-cut or sheared by pick or machine or blasted from the solid as provided for in this article and in any case it shall be as deep as the holes are laid In mines generating explosive gas in quantites sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp when the coal seam is five feet six inches or more in thickness "properly mined" shall mean that in all entries less than ten feet wide wherein the coal is undercut it shall also be sheared on one side as deep as the undercutting before any holes are charged and fired or the coal shall be blasted in sections by placing the first hole near the center of the coal seam shall also direct that the miner set sprags as often as necessary at a distance not exceeding seven feet apart under the breast of undermined or center-mined coal for safety. The mine foreman shall direct at what hours blasting shall be done in the mine and a notice of the time shall be posted at a conspicuous place at the mine and a copy of the notice shall be kept on file at the mine office

In every dry and dusty mine and in every portion of a dry and dusty mine in which explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall direct and see that the rooms and entries are moistened by water or other efficient means as often as necessary to keep the dust in damp condition and he shall direct and see that the dust is loaded and taken out of the mine as often as necessary

The mine foreman shall direct and see that as the miners advance in their excavation all dangerous and doubtful pieces of coal slate and rock overhead are taken down or at once carefully secured against falling on the workmen Any workman who neglects to carry out or disobeys the instructions of the mine foreman or his assistant in regard to securing his working place shall be suspended or discharged by the mine foreman and if such negligence or disobedience results in serious injury or loss of life to any person the mine foreman shall give the name of said workman to the inspector for prosecution in accordance with section two article twenty-six of this act

Section 10 The mine foreman shall give prompt attention to the removal of all dangers reportd to him by his ossistants the fire boss or by any other person working in the mine and in case it is impracticable to remove the danger at once he shall notify every person whose safety is menaced thereby to remain away from the portion where the dangerous conditions exist He or his assistant shall once each week travel and examine all the air courses and roads and all the openings that give access to old workings or falls and make a record of the condition of all places where danger has been found with ink in the book provided for that purpose

In all mines the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of assistants to insure a visit to each working place either by himself or by his assistants once each day while the employes are at work and in addition thereto shall give special care oversight and attention to the men drawing pillars particularly when falls are thereby being made. The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman under intructions from the mine foreman shall dire ctthat the holes for blasting be properly placed and shall designate the angle and depth of holes which shall not be deeper than the undercutting center-cutting top-cutting or shearing and the maximum quantity of explosives required for each hole and the method of charging and tamping instructions shall be given the men by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss or other authorized person as to when where and how timber shall be placed so as to avoid accidents from falls and also in a general way how to mine coal with safety to themselves and others

At the end of each shift each assistant mine foreman shall make a report in a book provided for that purpose giving the general condition as to safety of the working places visited by him and shall make a note of any unusual occurrence observed by him during the day The mine foreman shall read carefully the daily report of each assistant mine foreman and shall sign the reports with ink not later than the day following

Section 11 The mine foreman shall see that every mine generating explosive gas is kept free of standing gas in all working places and roadways Any accumulating of explosive gas or noxious gases in the worked-outor abandoned portioins of any mine shall be removed as soon as possible after its discovery if it is practicable to remove it No person who may be endangered by the presence of said explosive gas or noxious gases shall be allowed in that portion of the mine until said gases have been removed The mine foreman shall direct and see that all dangerous places and the entrance or entrances to workd-out and abandoned places in all mines are properly fenced off across the openings so that no person can enter and that danger signals are posted upon said fencing to warn persons of the existing danger

Section 12 In any mine where it has been found impracticable to remove explosive gas from the inaccessible top of a fall it shall be the duty of the mine foreman to make this fact known at once in writing to the superintendent who shall immediately report the same to the inspector requesting him to make a prompt personal investigation If the superintendent and the inspector are unable to devise means to have said explosive gas removed within a reasonable time the inspector shall direct that a bore hole or bore holes not less than six inches in diameter be drilled from the surface to a high point on said fall in order to give the gas an opening to escape to the surface

Section 13 In every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp where coal dust is being carried in the air currents in quantities indicating danger the mine foreman shall see that no person is employed to work in the mine until he has given satisfactory proof that he can do the work allotted to him without endangering the lives of his co-employes unless said person is put to work with an experienced miner whose duty it shall be to instruct such inexperienced person how to safely and properly perform its work

Section 14 In every mine and in every portion of a mine generating explosive gas in which locked safety lamps are used the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of competent persons who are able to speak the English language to act as shot firers whose duty shall be to charge tamp and fire all holes properly placed by the miners and to refuse to charge any holes not properly placed No holes shall be fired by any person other than a shot firer. They shall use no explosives except permissible explosives as designated by the Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines and shall use none but incombustible material for tamping which the mine foreman shall see is provided for them at convenient places inside the mine. Under no condition shall the shot firer use coal dust or any other combustible material for tamping All such holes shall be fired by an electric apparatus and no person other than the shot firer shall connect the wires of or operate said Apparatus Each shot firer shall keep a record of and report to the mine foreman every hole that he has refused to charge every blown out shot and every hole that has misfired It shall be the duty of shot firers and miners who are permitted by this act to fire their own shots to visit and examine the places where the shots have been fired before leaving the mine to see that there is no fire or any other danger existing

In all mines in which coal is blasted from the solid all holes shall be charged tamped and fired when all the workmen are out of the mine except the shot firers and other persons delegated by the mine foreman to safeguard property

No shot firer or any other person shall fire a shot in any working place and in any mine if his safety lamp can detect explosive gas at the roof In gaseous dusty mines in which safety lamps are used no holes shall be fired unless the entries and rooms are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired Provided however that in all mines wherein the coal is being blasted from the solid the mine foreman shall direct and see that the provisions of this section are fully complied with

Section 15 When operations are temporarily suspended in a mine the superintendent and the mine foreman shall see that danger signals are placed across the mine entrances which signals shall be sufficient warning for persons not to enter the mine If the circulation of air through the mine be stopped each entrance to said mine shall be fenced off in such a manner as will ordinarily prevent persons from entering said mine and a danger signal shall be displayed upon said fence at each entrance The mine foreman shall see that all danger signals used in the mine are in good condition and if any become defective he shall notify the superintendent

Section 16 The mine foreman shall see that the water is drained out of the working places before the men enter and that the working places are kept as free from water as practicable during working hours

Section 17 In any working place that is being driven within supposedly dangerous proximity to an abandoned mine or portion of an abondoned mine suspected of containing explosive gas or that may contain a dangerous accumulation of water the mine foreman shall see that at least two bore holes shall be maintained not less than twelve feet in advance of the face and on each side of such working place bore holes of the same depth shall be drilled diagonally not more than eight feet apart and any place driven to tap water or gas shall not be more than eight feet wide No water or gas from an abandoned mine or portions of an abandoned mine and no bore hole from the surface shall be tapped until the employes except those engaged at such work are out of the mine and such work shall be done under the immediate instruction and direction of the mine foreman with the use of locked safety lamps

Section 18 The mine foreman shall each day enter plainly and sign with ink in a book provided for that purpose a report of the condition of the mine which report shall clearly state any danger that may have come under his observation during the day or any danger reported to him by his assistants or the fire bosses The report shall also state whether or not there is a proper supply of material on hand for the safe working of the mine and whether or not the requirements of the law are complied with He shall also once each week enter plainly with ink in said book a true report of all air measurements required by this act designating the place the area of each cut-through and entry separately the velocity of the air in each cut-through and entry and the number of men employed in each separate split of air with the date when measurements were taken Said book shall at all times be kept in the mine office at the mine for examination by the inspector and by any person working in the mine in the presence of the mine foreman

The mine foreman shall also each day read carefully and countersign with ink all reports entered in the record book of the fire bosses

Section 19 The mine foreman shall once each week on blank forms provided for that purpose report to the inspector all fatal and serious accidents that have occurred in or about the mines giving the age nationality and occu of the injured persons together with facts as to the fa or dependents affected

Section 20 The mine foreman shall employ a su number of fire bosses in order that each mine can amined in accordance with the provisions of sectio two or three of article five of this act The mine fo or the assistant mine foreman shall see as often as ticable that the fire boss has left his mark in plac amined or reported as examined

Section 21 The mine foreman shall direct and se safety blocks or some other device are constructed purpose of preventing cars from falling into the sh slope or running away on slopes and inclines plan safety switches drop logs or other devices shall be u all slopes and incline planes and the mine foreman see that said safety blocks safety switches or other are maintained in good working order

Section 22 It shall be the duty of the mine foren see that locked safety lamps are used when and required by this act

The transportation of tools in and out of the min be under the direction of the mine foreman or his ass

Section 23 It shall be the duty of the mine foren report immediately all violations of this act to the tor and superintendent

Section 24 When assistant mine foremen are em their duty shall be to assist the mine foreman in com with the provisions of this act and in the absence mine foreman they shall perform the duties of th foreman and shall be liable to the same penalties mine foreman for any violation of this act

Duties of Fire Boss Safety Lamps

Section 1 For every mine and every portion of wherein explosive gas has been generated within o before the passage of this act or shall be generated af passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be dete an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall a fire boss or fire bosses whose competency to act a shall be evidenced by a certificate of qualification fr Department of Mines on the recommendation of t amining Board as provided for in section six article four of this act It shall be the duty of the fire boss amine carefully before each shift enters the mine accessible road to abandoned workings and all falls mine but before proceeding with the examination h see that the air current is traveling in its proper In making the examination he shall use no ligh than that enclosed in an approved safety lamp amination shall begin within two hours prior to pointed time for each shift of workmen to enter th
The fire boss shall examine for all dangers in all p of the mine under his charge and after each exam he shall leave at the face and side of every place ex the date of the examination as evidence that he has pe his duty He shall also examine the entrance or en to all worked-out and abandoned portions adjacent roadways and working places under his charge whe plosive gas is likely to accumulate and he shall danger signal across the entrance to every workin and every other place where explosive gas is discov where immediate danger is found to exist from an cause and said signal shall be sufficient warning for not to enter The meaning of all danger signals s explained to the non-English speaking employes mine in their several languages by the mine foren sistant mine forman or fire boss through an interp

Section 2 A suitable record book shall be kept mine office on the surface of every mine wherein fire are employed and immediately after the examination mine or any portion thereof by a fire boss whose du to make such examination he shall enter in said bo ink a record of such examination and sign sam record shall show the time taken in making the ex tion and also clearly state the nature and location danger that may have been discovered in any room or other place in the mine and if any danger or have been discovered the fire bosses shall immedia port the location thereof to the mine forman No shall enter the mine until the fire bosses return to t office on the surface or to a station located in the entry of the mine (where a record book as provide this section shall be kept and signed by the person the examination) and report to the mine foreman assistant mine foreman by telephone or otherwise mine is in safe condition for the men to enter Whe tion is located in any mine it shall be the duty of bosses to sign also the report entered in the reco in the mine office on the surface

The record books of the fire bosses shall at al during working hours be accessible to the inspector employes of the mine

Section 3 A second examination by the same fire bosses shall be made during working hours working place where men are employed

Section 4 The mine foreman and the fire boss sha near the main entrance to the mine provide a pe station with a proper danger signal designated by letters and colors placed thereon In every mine ge explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detecte approved safety lamp when the working portions bottom of the shaft or slope a permanent station able dimensions may be erected by the mine forema vided the location is approved by the inspector) for of the fire bosses and in the said station a fire-pro of ample strength shall be erected of brick stone crete in which the temporary record book of the fir as described in section two of this article shall It shall not be lawful for any person except th

n and in case of necessity such other persons as designated by him to pass beyond said permanent and danger signal until the mine has been ex- by a fire boss as provided for in section one of this and the mine or certain portions thereof reported to be safe The fire boss shall not allow any other or persons to enter or remain in any portion of the hrough which a dangerous accumulation of gas is passed in the ventilating current from any other the mine He shall report at once any violation of ticle to the mine foreman on 5 Any employe or other person except those here- e provided for who passes by any danger signal into ne or into any portion of the mine or removes such signal before the mine has been examined and re- to be safe or any employe or any other person who by any danger signal placed at the entrance to a g place or any other place in the mine or removes anger signal without permission from the mine fore- ne assistant mine foreman or the fire boss shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and it shall be the duty of ine foreman having knowledge of said violation er obtained personally or otherwise) to notify the or at once in writing and the inspector shall forth- nter proceedings against such persons as provided section two of article twenty-six of this act mine foreman who fails to notify the inspector ith of any violation of the provisions of this article as been reported to him or has come under his per- observation shall be deemed guilty of a misde-

on 6 Any fire boss who neglects to comply fully ne provisions of this article relating to his duties or iall make a false report of the condition of any place portion of the mine allotted to him for examination e deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be sus- by the mine foreman and his name shall be given inspector for prosecution If he is found guilty he eturn his certificate of qualification as fire boss to partment of Mines Provided however that he may be an applicant for a certificate as fire boss at any r examination after the expiration of six months but s found guilty of a second offence he shall return his ate to the Department of Mines and cannot be an nt for re-examination on 7 Nothing in this article shall prevent a first mine foreman or a first grade assistant mine fore- rom acting as fire boss or a regularly employed fire rom acting in an emergency as a first grade assistant oreman

ARTICLE VI

Shafts Slopes Drifts Openings and Outlets

ion 1 It shall not be lawful for the operator superin- t or mine foreman of any mine to employ any person k therein unless there are at least two openings or to the surface from every seam of coal actually be- rked and available from every entry thereof which gs or outlets shall have distinct means of ingress gress available at all times for the use of the em-

The distance between two shafts shall not be less wo hundred feet and the distance between the opon- o the surface of slopes shall not be less than one d and fifty feet and the distance between drifts shall less than fifty feet Provided that the distances be- said openings shall apply only to mines opened the passage of this act and provided further that the es specified may be less with the written consent of spector The passageways between said two shafts t all times be maintained in safe and available con- for the employes to travel therein and the pillars ries between said shafts shall not be removed without nsent of the inspector in writing to the superin- it foregoing requirements shall not apply to the open- f a new mine or to the openings of a new entry of a hat is being worked for the purpose of making con- n between said two outlets as long as not more than persons are employed at any one time in making nnection or driving the second opening nor shall said ements apply to any mine in which the second open- as been rendered unavailable by reason of the final g or removing of pillars as long as not more than persons are employed therein at any one time

ion 2 The cage or cages or other safe means of shall be available at all times for the persons em- in any mine that has no second outlet available

ion 3 There shall be around the side at the bottom ry hoisting shaft (and similarly around the side of shaft at any intermediate point where it intersects ntry) a passageway not less than five feet high and feet wide in the clear which passageway shall be cut through the solid strata or constructed of ry and shall be kept open at all times so as to enable ns to pass around said shaft in going from one side f to the other

ion 4 Every mine generating explosive gas in quan- sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp d after the passage of this act shall have at least nain entries two of which shall lead from the main ng and two from the second opening into the body mine Provided that every new gaseous mine (where safety lamps are used) projected to open up a large ge with main entries five thousand feet or more in shall have at least five main entries two of which lead from the main opening and two from the second ng into the body of the mine and the fifth (which may nnected with an opening to the surface or with the airway at or near the main intake opening) shall be exclusively as a traveling way for the employes

ry none-gaseous mine opened after the passage of ct shall have at least two main entries one of which shall lead from the main opening and one from the second opening into the body of the mine Provided that in every new non-gaseous mine projected to open up a large acreage with main entries five thousand feet or more in length the operator shall haul the employes into and out of the mine at the beginning and end of each shift and provide at least three main entries one of which shall lead from the main opening and one from the second opening into the body of the mine and one (which may be connected with an opening to the surface or which the intake airway at or near the main intake opening) shall be used exclusively as a traveling way for the employes

Should any mine opened as a non-gaseous mine become a gaseous mine and in every gaseous mine opened prior to the passage of this act where locked safety lamps are used having less than five main entries that have reached five thousand feet or more in length and are to be extended two thousand feet or more the superintendent shall have a new opening of ample dimensions made from the surface if the inspector of the district and two additional inspectors appointed by the Chief of the Department of Mines shall deem such additional opening necessary for the proper ventilation of the mines or the safety of the miners The main entries and the traveling way shall be extended from this opening to the face of the workings The operator may continue to work said mine or mines under the provisions and requirements of this act for a non-gaseous mine until by due diligence the operator can change conditions to meet the provisions and requirements of this paragraph

The intake and return entries shall be kept drained and free from refuse and obstructions of all kinds so that persons may safely travel therein throughout their whole length and have a safe means of egress from the workings in case of emergency Said entries shall be separated by pillars of coal of sufficient strength and shall not be driven more than two hundred feet beyond the last cut-through except for exploratory purposes

When the main entry of a non-gaseous mine or both main entries of a gaseous mine used for intake for air are also used for mechanical haulage a separate traveling way leading into the body of the mine shall be provided for the use of the employes in going to and from their work or the employes shall be hauled into and out of the mine at the beginning and end of each shift

In all mines where the coal seam is less than three and one-half feet in height the traveling way shall be at least four and one-half feet in height in all mines where the coal seam is four feet in height the traveling way shall be at least five feet in height and in all mines where the coal seam is five feet or over in height the traveling way shall not be less than six feet in height and the width shall not be less than six feet All traveling ways shall be well drained kept free from refuse of all kinds and free from smoke noxious gases and electric wires unless said wires are so placed and protected as not to endanger life and are kept in safe condition

Section 5 In every slope with workings on both sides an overcast or an undercast not less than five feet wide and five feet high shall be provided as a passageway for the use of the employes to cross from one side of the slope to the other Said overcast or undercast shall connect with available passageways leading to the workings on both sides of said slope The intervening strata between the slope and the overcast or undercast shall be of sufficient strength at all points to insure safety to the emloyes Provided however that if it is impracticable to drive an overcast or an undercast in the solid an overcast or an undercast if substantially built with masonry or other incombustible material will be deemed sufficient

Section 6 In mines opened after the passage of this act if the opening or outlet other than the main opening is a shaft not more than one hundred feet in depth and is used by employes for the purpose of ingress to or egress from the mine it shall be kept available and in safe condition free from steam dangerous gases and all obstructions and shall be fitted with safe and convenient stairways with steps of an average tread of ten inches and a rise of nine inches not less than two feet in width and not to exceed an angle of forty-five degrees with landings not less than twenty-four inches in width and four feet in length at easy and convenient distances These stairways shall be made safe by having hand rails of suitable material placed on one side or on both sides when requested by the inspector and shall be inspected every twenty-four hours by a competent person employed for that purpose Water that may come from the surface or from the strata in the shaft shall be conducted away so that it will not fall on the stairways or on persons while descending or ascending them

Section 7 After the passage of this act when a mine is operated by a shaft more than one hundred feet in depth the persons employed therein shall be lowered and hoisted by means of machinery unless the second opening is a drift or a slope When the employes are lowered into or hoisted from the mine at the main shaft opening the second opening if a shaft shall also be supplied with a stairway constructed in the manner hereinbefore designated in section six of this article or with suitable machinery for safely lowering and hoisting persons in case of an emergency

Section 8 At any mine where one of the openings hereinbefore required is a slope and is used as a means of ingress and egress by the employes and where the angle of descent of said slope exceeds fifteen degrees and its length from the mouth of the opening exceeds one thousand feet the employes shall be lowered into and hoisted from the mine at the beginning and end of each shift at a speed not to exceed six miles per hour and at every such mine where the angle of descent of said slope averages from five to fifteen degrees and where its length exceeds three thousand feet the employes shall be lowered into and hoisted from the mine at the beginning and end of each shift at a speed not to exceed six miles per hour Provided however that when a separate traveling way is provided at any such slope the owner or operator may at his their or its option be exempt from the requirements of this section if the angle of said traveling way does not exceed fifteen degrees

ARTICLE VII

Sinking of Shafts

Section 1 The operator superintendent or contractor shall erect over every shaft that is being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure to sustain sheaves or pulleys ropes and loads at a height of not less than twenty feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft and landing platform shall be arranged in such a manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied The said structure shall be erected as soon as substantial foundation is obtained and in no case shall a shaft be sunk to a depth of more than fifty feet without such structure

Section 2 If provisions are made to land the bucket on a truck the said truck and platform shall be so constructed that material cannot fall into the shaft

Section 3 Rock and coal from shafts that are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and said bucket or cage must be connected with the rope by a safety hook clevis or other safe attachment The rope shall be fastened to the side of the drum and not less than three coils of rope shall always remain on the drum If said shafts are one hundred feet or more in depth they shall be provided with guides and guide attachments applied in such a manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while being lowered or hoisted and said guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five feet from the bottom of the shaft

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the person in charge of shaft-sinking for the contractor or company to see that the sides of all shafts are properly secured for safety and that no loose rock or material is allowed to remain on any timber on top or on any timber in the shaft after each blast Where explosive gas is encountered the person in charge shall see that the shaft is examined before each shift and before the men descend after each blast and also that the place is safe In sinking shafts all blasts must be exploded by electric battery Provision must also be made for the proper ventilation of shafts while being sunk

Section 5 An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum of an engine used for sinking shafts and all machinery ropes and chains connected therewith shall be examined once every twelve hours

Section 6 Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in or on a bucket in any shaft at one time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

ARTICLE VIII

Signaling Apparatus Safety Catches Hoisting Machinery Ropes Boilers and Connections

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent shall provide and hereafter maintain in good condition from the top to the bottom of every shaft or slope where persons or material are lowered or hoisted a telephone or metal tube of proper diameter suitably adapted to the free passage of sound through which conversation may be held and understood between persons at the top and the bottom of said shaft or slope and he shall also provide means of signaling from the top to the bottom and from the bottom to the top of said shaft or slope The same provisions shall apply to inside planes whereon coal is lowered and persons have to travel In all gaseous mines telephone connections shall be made from the surface to the main sections of the mine. All signaling apparatus and telephone connections shall be kept in good condition and shall be always available for service

The operator or the superintendent shall provide every cage used for lowering or hoisting persons with hand rails at sides or overhead and with chain bar or gate at ends and with a sufficient covering overhead to protect persons thereon and shall also provide for each said cage efficient safety catches which shall be tested once every two months and a record of each test shall be sent to the inspector and to the superintendent and also recorded with ink in a book kept at the mine office for that purpose The ropes shall be securely attached to the sides of the drum of every machine that is used for lowering and hoisting persons or material into and out of the mine and the flanges shall have a clearance of not less than four inches when the whole of the rope is wound on the drum and adequate brakes shall be attached to the drum so that the speed thereof can be controlled when men are being lowered or hoisted An efficient indicator that shall show the position of the cages in the shaft shall be attached to the hoisting apparatus and an efficient safety device that will prevent overwinding shall be attached to every engine used for lowering and hoisting persons

All shafts shall be provided with self-acting safety gates controlled by the cage at the top and on intermediate landings said gates to be approved by the inspector

Section 2 The main coupling chain attached to the socket of the wire rope of every shaft shall be made of the best quality of iron and shall be tested by weights or otherwise to the satisfaction of the inspector the manner of testing and the result obtained to be entered in a book with ink with the day and date of the inspection and bridle chains of the same quality of iron shall be attached to the main hoisting rope three feet above the socket from the top cross-piece of the cage so that no single chain shall be used for lowering or hoisting persons into or out of the mine

Section 3 In shafts where coal is hoisted and employes lowered into or hoisted from the mine the ropes links and chains shall be of ample strength with a factor of safety of not less than five to one of the maximum load In shafts used exclusively for lowering or hoisting employes a material the factor of safety of ropes links and chains s not be less than ten to one of the maximum load All s ropes links and chains shall be carefully examined at l once every twenty-four hours by a competent person de gated for that purpose by the superintendent and any de therein found by which life and limb may be endange shall be reported at once in writing to the superintend who shall immediately proceed to remedy the defect until that is accomplished he shall prohibit any per from being lowered into or hoisted from the mine by defective apparatus The person making said examina shall keep a daily record of each inspection in ink i book kept at the mine office for that purpose and he s send a copy thereof each day to the superintendent

Section 4 All machinery in and about the mines f which any accident would be liable to occur shall be prop fenced off by suitable guard railing

Section 5 No greater number of persons shall be lowe or hoisted at any one time than may be permitted by inspector and notice of the number so allowed to be lowe or hoisted at any one time shall be kept posted by operator or the superintendent in conspicuous places at top and the bottom of the shaft The aforesaid notice s be signed by the inspector The speed of the cage w lowering or hoisting persons shall not exceed nine hun feet a minute

Section 6 All boilers used for generating steam in about the mines shall be kept in good condition and superintendent shall have them examined and inspected b duly qualified person once every six months and the rep of said inspection shall be posted at the mine office

Section 7 Each boiler shall be provided with a sa valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and v weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 8 No boiler used for generating steam shall placed or allowed to remain inside of any mine with the consent of the inspector which shall be given in writ to the superintendent and if the inspector allows s boiler to be placed inside the mine it shall be encl in a fire-proof building within fifty feet of the bot of an upcast shaft which shaft shall not be less than thi five square feet in area

Section 9 Every boiler house shall be provided wit sufficient number of steam gauges which shall be prop connected with the boilers to indicate the pressure of ste to the firemen outside foreman or superintendent and other steam gauge shall be attached to the main steam p in the engine house so that the hoisting engineer readily examine it

Ventilation

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of ev mine shall provide and maintain ample means of ventila to furnish a constant and adequate supply of pure air for employes In a non-gaseous mine the minimum quantity air shall not be less than one hundred and fifty cu feet per minute for each person employed In a mine g erating explosive gas in such quantities that it can detected by an approved safety lamp the minimum quan of air shall not be less than two hundred cubic feet minute for each person employed therein and as much m in either case as one or more of the inspectors may de requisite The return air from each split where from seve to ninety persons are employed shall be conducted by overcast or an undercast into the return airway which s lead to the main outlet

The ventilation shall be conducted through the m entries cross entries and to the working faces of all work places in the mine in sufficient quantities to dilute ca off and render harmless the smoke and the noxious dangerous gases generated therein to such an extent t all working places and traveling roads shall be in a s and healthy condition for the persons working and trav ing therein

No permanent door shall be erected or allowed to rem in the main entry in any mine unless its removal shall deemed impracticable by the inspector

Section 2 Where five or more persons are employed at one time in a mine it shall be the duty of the operator the superintendent to provide a fan or a furnace of am power to ventilate the mine according to the requireme of section one of this article Provided that it shall be lawful to use a furnace for ventilating any mine whe explosive gas is being generated

Six months after the passage of this act not more t seventy persons shall be permitted to work in the sa continuous air current unless in the judgment of the spector of the district it is impracticable to comply w this requirement in which case a larger number not ceeding ninety persons may be permitted to work therei

Section 3 The mine foreman shall see that proper c throughs are made in all the room pillars at such distan apart as in the judgment of the inspector may be dee requisite not more than thirty-five nor less than sixt yards each for the purpose of ventilation

Section 4 The quantity of air passing a given point s be ascertained by an anemometer the measurements to taken by the mine foreman once every week at or near main inlet and outlet airway in the mine and also at the cut-through in the last room and in the entry beyond last room turned Said measurements shall be taken on d when the men are at work

Section 5 In all mines all stoppings in cut-throughs tween the main intake and return airways shall be s stantially built of masonry concrete or other incombusti material and shall be of ample strength and in mines g erating explosive gas all new stoppings and renewals of stoppings in cross entries shall be built of masonry conc or other incombustible material Stoppings in cross entr

in non-gaseous mines may be built of timber All stoppings shall be kept in good condition so as to keep the air up to the working faces Temporary stoppings shall be erected in cut-throughs in rooms to conduct the ventilation to the face of each room and such stoppings may be constructed of timber or brattice cloth

Section 6 Every ventilating fan at non-gaseous mines shall be kept in operation continuously day and night unless operations are indefinitely suspended except when written permission is given by the inspector to stop it The said permission or a copy thereof shall be posted by the mine foreman in a conspicuous place at the entrance or entrances to the mine and shall state the particular hours the fan may be stopped The inspector shall have the power to withdraw or modify such permission at any time and in any manner he may deem best In all cases however the fan shall be started two hours before the time to begin work Every ventilating fan at gaseous mines shall be kept in operation continuously day and night unless operations are definitely suspended Provided that should it at any time become necessary to stop the fan at any mine (gaseous or non-gaseous) on account of accident to part of the machinery connected therewith or by reason of any other unavoidable cause it shall then be the duty of the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman in charge after first having provided for the safety of the persons employed in the mine to order said fan stopped for necessary repairs

Every ventilating fan shall be provided with a recording instrument by which the number of revolutions or the effective ventilating pressure of the fan shall be registered and the registration for each day with the date thereof shall be kept in the office at the mine for future reference for one year

No main or principal ventilating fan shall be placed inside of any mine No auxiliary fan unless driven by electricity or compressed air shall be placed in any mine If the fan be electrically driven the motor shall be placed in the intake airway

Every ventilating furnace in a mine shall be properly attended to and operated by a competent person employed by the mine-foreman for that purpose for two hours before the appointed time to begin work and constantly thereafter during working hours

Section 7 In every mine all air bridges overcasts or undercasts shall be substantially built of masonry concrete or other incombustible material of ample strength or shall be driven through the solid strata It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to see that these bridges are properly built and are of ample strength

Section 8 In every mine the doors used for guiding and directing the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close of them selves or shall be supplied with springs or pulleys so that they cannot remain open All principal doors shall be so placed that when one door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be closed and remain closed to prevent any stoppage of the air current An attendant shall be employed at each principal door (that is the door that controls the main air current in the entries) through which cars are hauled for the purpose of opening and closing it for the employes and cars to pass in and out from the workings unless a self-acting door approved by the inspector is used A hole for shelter shall be provided at each door to protect the attendant from danger from cars while performing his duties Persons employed for this purpose shall remain at the doors at all times during working hours Provided that the same attendant may attend two doors where the distance between the two doors is not more than three hundred feet if his absence from the first door does not endanger the safety of the employes At every door on any incline plane or road whereon haulage is done by machinery an attendant shall always be on duty during working hours and at every door on said plane or road an extra door shall be provided for use in case of necessity Whenever a principal door is placed an extra door shall also be provided to be used in case of necessity

Section 9 No product of petroleum or alcohol or any compound that in the opinion of the inspector will contaminate the air to such an extent as to be injurious to the health of the miner shall be used as motive power in any mine

Section 10 If any person shall construct or cause to be constructed or used or permit to be used from and after the date of the passage of this act any sewer or other method of drainage from any building or dwelling house for the carrying of sewage offal refuse or other offensive matter into any operating mine or any entry way passage or room in any mine (such entry way passage or room being used for ventilating or drainage purposes or for a traveling way) such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and undergo an imprisonment not exceeding one year either or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE X

Locked Safety Lamps and Open Lights Defining When Either or Both Can Be Used

Section 1 The use of open lights is prohibited in any entry airway traveling way room or any other working place where explosive gas is being generated in such quantity as can be detected by an approved safety lamp also in pillar workings where a sudden inflow of explosive gas is likely to be encountered and all such places shall be worked exclusively with locked safety lamps The use of open lights is also prohibited in all working places roadways or other portions of the mine through which explosive gas might be carried in the air current in quantities indicating danger Provided however that if the inspector is of the opinion that any mine or any portion of any mine should be operated by the use of locked safety lamps exclusively he shall have the right to petition the Chief of the Department of Mines in writing setting forth such opinion and his reasons therefor Whereupon the said Chief shall forthwith instruct two or more other inspectors to accompany the inspector of the district to make a further thorough examination into the matter in dispute and of all workings of said mine whether in active operation or not The said committee of inspectors shall within seven days of their appointment make a report in writing to the Chief of the Department of Mines and to the superintendent general manager operator or owner of said mine giving the conclusions arrived at with their reasons therefor and the decision of said committee shall be final and conclusive unless the superintendent general manager operator or owner shall within seven days of the receipt thereof appeal from such decision to the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which the mine is located Whereupon the court or a judge of said court in chambers shall forthwith appoint four practical reputable and competent persons two of whom shall be recommended by the superintendent general manager operator or owner and the other two by the Chief of the Department of Mines and the four persons thus recommended shall name a fifth person who also must be practical reputable and equally competent and the five persons so named none of whom shall be in the employ of the operator operating company or any of its officers or of the State Department of Mines shall constitute a commission to investigate and report on the matter in dispute Provided however in case any or all of said four persons are not recommended by a writing filed in said court within seven days after the appeal is filed that then the said court shall fill the vacancy or vacancies by the appointment of a practical reputable and competent person or persons and in case the four persons thus chosen shall not agree in writing upon the fifth person of this commission within five days after they have received notice of their appointment then the said court shall appoint the said fifth person on this commission The duty of said commission of five persons shall be under the instruction of the court to forthwith examine said mine or a portion thereof and report under oath within ten days after their appointment the facts as they exist and the conditions pertaining thereto and based upon such conditions and facts the decision of a majority on the matter in dispute and their report and decision shall be final and conclusive unless exceptions thereto shall be filed by the superintendent general manager operator or owner or the Chief of the Department of Mines within seven days of the filing of said commission's report If exceptions are filed the court shall at once hear and upon testimony taken thereon determine them and enter a decree in accordance with such determination Provided that the superintendent general manager operator owner or Chief of the Department of Mines shall thereafter have the right to have the record and proceedings removed to the Supreme Court for review by appeal or writ of error

Section 2 If said court of quarter sessions sustains the decision of the committee of inspectors and said court's decree is not appealed from or if on appeal the supreme court finally sustains the decision of the inspectors then the appellant from said decision of the committee of inspectors shall pay all costs of such proceedings but if the said court of quarter sessions or the supreme court shall not sustain the decision of the committee of inspectors then all costs shall be paid by the Commonwealth Provided however that any and all appeals from any decision made by the committee of inspectors or made by the committee appointed by the court of quarter sessions shall work as a supersedeas to such decision during the pendency of such appeal either to the court of quarter sessions or to the supreme court

Section 3 The use of open lights is strictly prohibited in the return air current of any portion of a mine that is ventilated by the same continuous air current that ventilates any other portion of said mine in which locked safety lamps are used The provisions of this section shall not apply to any mine wherein explosive gas is generated only at the face of active entries

Section 4 If at any time one portion of a mine is worked by the use of locked safety lamps while another portion is worked by the use of open lights the return air from the gaseous portion shall be conducted directly into a return airway leading to the fan or to the outlet Provided that when a portion of a mine is worked by the use of locked safety lamps and other portions are worked by the use of open lights it shall be the duty of the mine foreman to provide a suitable danger station with an attendant on duty at all times during working hours day and night whose duty it shall be to see that the employes from the open light portion are not allowed to enter the locked safety lamp portion unless they are provided with locked safety lamps by said attendant

Section 5 The employes of a gaseous mine or any portion thereof are strictly prohibited from traveling into or out of the mine in the return air current if explosive gas can be detected by an approved safety lamp in said air current

Section 6 When safety lamps are used the position of the lamp station for lighting or relighting shall not be in the return air current

Section 7 Nothing in this article shall interfere with the discretionary powers of inspectors as provided for in article twenty

Section 8 Whenever safety lamps are used in a mine by fire bosses or other persons they shall be so constructed that they may be safely carried against the air current ordinarily prevailing in that portion of the mine in which the lamps are being used

Section 9 All safety lamps used for examining mines or for working therein shall be the property of the operator and shall be in the care of the mine foreman assistant mine foreman fire boss or some other competent person or persons appointed by the mine foreman whose duty it shall be to clean fill trim examine light and deliver them locked and in a safe condition to the men when entering the mine and to receive the lamps from the men when returning from work for which services a charge not exceeding the actual cost of labor and material may be made by the operator At any mine wherein explosive gas was generated within one year before the passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be detected by an approved safety lamp a sufficient number of safety lamps not less than one-fourth of the number of safety lamps in use shall be kept in a convenient place and in good condition for use in case of emergency It shall be the duty of every person who knows that his safety lamp is injured or defective to return it immediately and report such fact to the person authorized to receive and care for said lamp who shall report the matter to the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss as soon as practicable

ARTICLE XI.

Special Rules for the Installation of Electricity

The following rules shall be observed as far as is reasonably practicable in the mines

Potential

The terms "Potential" and "Voltage" are synonymous and mean electrical pressure Difference of Potential

The expression "Difference of Potential" means the difference of electrical pressure existing between any two points of an electrical system or between any point of such a system and the earth as determined by a volt meter

Potential of a Circuit

The potential or voltage of a circuit machine or any piece of electrical apparatus is the potential normally existing between the conductors of such circuit or the terminals of such machine or apparatus

(a) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference in potential between any two points of the circuit cannot exceed three hundred volts the supply shall be deemed a low voltage supply

(b) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed three hundred volts but cannot exceed six hundred and fifty volts the supply shall be deemed a medium voltage supply

(c) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed six hundred and fifty volts the supply shall be deemed a high voltage supply

Grounding

Grounding any part of an electric system shall consist in so connecting such part to the earth that there shall be no difference of potential between them

Explosion or Flame Proof

Explosion or flame proof casings or enclosures are those which when completely filled with a mixture of methane and air and the same exploded are capable of either entirely confining the products of such explosion within the casing or of so discharging them from the casing that they cannot ignite a mixture of methane and air combined in proportions most sensitive to ignition and entirely surrounding the points of discharge and in most intimate proximity therewith

Underground Station

An underground station is herein considered as any place where electrical machinery is permanently installed

General

Capacity Installation Et Cetera

1 All electrical apparatus and conductors shall be sufficient in size and power for the work they may be called upon to do and as hereinafter prescribed efficiently covered or safeguarded and so installed worked and maintained as to reduce danger from accidental shock or fire to the minimum and shall be of such construction and so worked that the rise in temperature caused by ordinary working will not injure the insulating materials

2 For work underground when supplied with current at a voltage higher than medium voltage no transformer shall have a normal capacity of less than five kilowatts nor shall a motor have a normal capacity of less than fifteen brake horse power

3 All metallic coverings armoring of cables other than trailing cables and where installed underground the frames and bed plates of generators transformers and motors other than low voltage portable motors shall be efficiently grounded as shall also the neutral wire of three wire continuous current systems

Voltage Restrictions

4 Motors of coal cutting and other portable machines and of electric locomotives shall not be used at a voltage higher than medium voltage

5 No higher voltage than medium voltage shall be used underground except for transmission or for application to transformers or other apparatus in which the whole of the high voltage circuit is stationary

6 In gaseous mines high voltage transmission cables shall be installed in the intake airways only and high voltage motors and transformers shall be installed only in suitable chambers ventilated by the intake air which has not passed through or by a gaseous district

7 All high voltage machines apparatus and lines shall be so marked as to clearly indicate that they are dangerous by the use of the word "Danger" placed at frequent intervals

Ground Detectors

8 All underground systems of distribution that are completely insulated from earth shall be equipped with properly installed ground detectors of suitable design

The condition of such system as indicated by the ground detector shall be noted each day by the person in charge of the underground wiring or by another competent person who shall immediately report to him the occurrence of a ground

Switchboards

9 Main and distribution switch and fuse boards shall be made of incombustible insulating material such as marble or slate free from metallic veins and be fixed in as dry a situation as practicable

Precaution Against Shock

10 Gloves or mats of rubber or other suitable insulating material shall be provided and used by persons so engaged when repairs are made to the live parts of any electrical apparatus or when the live parts of electrical apparatus have to be handled for the purpose of adjustment

Electrician

11 At every mine where electricity is used below ground for power there shall be employed a competent mine electrician who shall have full charge of the electrical apparatus in the mine but shall be subject to the authority of the mine foreman

12 Any person who shall wilfully damage or without authority alter or make connections to any portion of a mine electrical system shall be guilty of a misdemeanor

Restoration from Shock

13 Instructions shall be posted in every generating transforming and motor room and at entrance to the mine containing directions as to the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock and all employes working in connection with electrical apparatus shall be familiar with and know how to carry out these instructions

Plan of Electrical System

14 A plan shall be kept at the mine showing the location of all stationary electrical apparatus in connection with the mine electrical system including permanent cables conductors lights switches and trolley lines The plan shall be of sufficient size to show clearly the position of such apparatus and the scale shall not be less than two hundred feet per inch There shall be stated on the plan the capacity in horse-power of each motor and in kilowatts of each generator or transformer and the nature of its duty Such plans shall be corrected as often as may be necessary to keep them up to date at intervals not exceeding six months

Report of Defective Equipment

15 In the event of a breakdown or of damage or injury to any portion of the electrical equipment in a mine or of overheating or of the appearance of sparks or arcs outside of enclosing casings or in the event of any portion of the equipment not a part of the electrical circuit becoming alive every such occurrence shall be promptly reported to the person in charge of electrical equipment

SECTION TWO

Underground Stations and Transformer Rooms

Switchboards

16 All switches circuit breakers rheostats fuses and instruments used in connection with underground motor-generators rotary converters high voltage motors transformers and low and medium voltage motors of more than fifty horse-power capacity shall be installed upon a suitable switchboard Similar equipment for low and medium voltage motors of fifty horse-power and less may be separately installed if mounted upon insulating bases of slate or equivalent insulating material

17 In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front of the switchboard not less than three feet in width and if there are any high voltage connections at the back of the switchboard any passageway behind the switchboard shall not be less than three feet clear

18 The space at the back of the switchboards shall be properly floored accessible from each end and in the case of high voltage switchboards shall be kept locked up but the lock shall allow of the door being opened from the inside without the use of a key The floor at the back of high voltage boards shall be incombustible

19 Where the supply is at a voltage exceeding the limits of medium voltage there shall be no live metal work on the front of the main switchboard within seven feet of the floor or platform and the space provided under rule seventeen of this section shall not be less than four feet in the clear Insulating floors or mats shall be provided for medium voltage boards where live metal work is on the front

Protection of Circuits Leading Underground

20 In every completely insulated feeder circuit in excess of twenty-five kilowatts capacity leading underground and operating at a potential not exceeding the limits of medium voltage there shall be provided above ground a switch on each pole and an automatic overload circuit breaker on at least one pole in the case of direct current circuits and on at least two poles of polyphase alternating current circuits In case of ground return direct current circuits a switch and circuit breaker shall be installed in the ungrounded side of the circuit but may be omitted from the return side Fuses may be substituted for circuit breakers in circuits transmitting twenty-five kilowatts or less Each circuit leading underground shall be provided with a suitable ammeter

21 Every alternating current feeder circuit leading underground and operating at a potential exceeding the limits of medium voltage shall be provided above ground with an oil break switch on each pole such switch or switches to be equipped with an automatic overload trip Each such circuit shall also be provided with a suitable ammeter

Transformer Rooms

22 Transformer rooms shall be of fire-proof construction

23 Where the potential of circuits entering or leaving a transformer exceeds the limits of medium voltage they

l be protected by an oil break switch on each pole such switch or switches to be equipped with an auto-ic overload trip
Where the potential of circuits entering or leaving ansformer does not exceed the limits of medium voltthey shall be protected by a switch and an automatic uit breaker on each pole except that fuses may be stituted for the circuit breakers in the case of light-circuits and in the case of power circuits transmitting nty-five kilowatts or less All transformers shall be provided with suitable amer in either the primary or secondary circuits tection of Machine Terminals All terminals on machines over medium voltage un-ground shall be protected with insulating covers or with al covers connected to earth uthorized Persons
No person other than one authorized by the mine man shall enter a station or transformer room or in-ere with the working of any apparatus connected there-h Buckets Fire buckets filled with clean dry sand shall be kept in trical stations and transformer rooms ready for imme-e use in extinguishing fires

SECTION THREE

Transmission Circuits and Conductors

ver and Light Circuits All high pressure wires used inside of the mines shall be the form of insulated lead-covered or armored conductors ject to insulation tests and with carrying capacity accord-to the rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters edium or low pressure conductors may be bare except in eous portions of mines no bare conductors shall be used ooms or beyond the last cut-through in intake entries 0 All underground cables and wires other than trailing les unless provided with grounded metallic covering shall supported by means of efficient insulators The conductor necting lamp to the power supply shall in all cases be inted n Circuits
1 Every main circuit coming from generating or transner stations shall there be provided with switches fuses circuit breakers as described in section two rules twenty twenty-one and rules twenty-three to twenty-five inclu-

2 If the transmission lines of low or medium voltage from generating station are overhead there shall be lightning esters installed in connection therewith at the generat-station If the distance from the generating station to point where the lines enter the mine is more than five ndred feet an additional arrester shall be installed at this nt and in no case shall the arresters be more than one usand feet apart 3 In any gaseous mine or gaseous portions of a mine the ctrical supply shall be brought underground only through h portions of the mine as are ventilated by intake air anch Circuits
4 Every branch circuit shall be provided at the point ere it leaves the main circuit with a switch of not less n one hundred ampere capacity on each pole e of Conductors 5 The size of all conductors shall be determined with re-rd to the maximum amount of current which they are to ry by reference to the table provided by the National Board Fire Underwriters which shows maximum current carry-capacities of copper conductors ounded Circuits 36 One side of grounded circuits shall be efficiently in-ated from earth erhead Circuits above Ground 37 Overhead bare wires above ground shall be supported on insulators which shall be adequate in quality size and sign for voltage transmitted derground Trolley 38 In underground roads the trolley wires shall be installed far to one side of the passageway as is practicable and curely supported upon hangers efficiently insulated and aced at such intervals that the sag between points of sup-rt shall not exceed three inches The sag between points support can exceed three inches if the height of the trolley re above the rail is five feet or more and does not touch e roof when the trolley passes under 39 All other wires except telephone shot firing and signal res shall be on the same side of the road as the trolley re 40 At all landings and partings where men are required to gularly work or pass under trolley or other bare power res which are placed less than six and one-half feet above p of rail a suitable protection shall be provided This pro-ction may consist of channeling the roof placing boards along e wire which shall extend below it or the use of other apoved devices that afford protection 41 All branch trolley lines shall be fitted with an auto-atic trolley switch or section insulator and line switch or me other device that will allow the current to be shut from such branch headings Lights shall be placed along e branch headings to indicate when the power is on 42 It is recommended that where air or water pipes parlel the grounded return of power circuits the return be curely bonded to such pipes at frequent intervals to elimiate the possibility of a difference of potential between rail d pipes and to prevent electrolysis of the pipes The rail turn shall be of sufficient capacity for the current used inpendent of the capacity of the pipes On main haulage ads both rails shall be bonded and cross bonds shall be aced at points not to exceed two hundred feet apart ghting Circuits

43 Where wires for electric incandescent lamps are connected to the trolley circuit the lug of the trolley hanger to which connection is made shall be drilled to receive the lighting wire and provided with a set screw for securing same in place Lighting wires shall not be wrapped or tied about the stems or studs of trolley hangers The ground connection for lighting wires taken off the trolley circuit must be made to the track circuit

44 Wires for all lighting circuits shall be covered with an insulation adequate for the voltage of the circuit and strung on porcelain or glass insulators unless they are encased in pipes or other metallic covering If separate uncased wires are used they shall be kept at least three inches apart except where they enter the fittings If metallic casings are used they shall be grounded efficiently

Joints in Conductors

45 All joints in conductors shall be mechanically and electrically efficient and wherever it is possible to do so they shall be soldered Wherever the conductors cannot be soldered together suitable screw clamps or connectors shall be used All joints in insulated wire shall after the joint is complete be reinsulated to at least the same extent as the remainder of the wire

Insulation and Covering

46 All high voltage conductors inside of the mines shall be in the form of insulated lead-covered or armored cables subject to approved insulation tests and having carrying capacities in accordance with rule thirty-five section three

47 Where lead-covered or armored cable is used the lead or armor shall be electrically continuous throughout and shall be efficiently grounded

Cables Entering Fittings

48 The exposed ends of cables where they enter fittings of any description shall be so protected and finished off that moisture cannot enter the cable or the insulating material if of an oily or viscous nature leak

49 Where unarmored cables or wires pass through metal frames or into boxes or motor casings the holes shall be substantially bushed with insulating bushings and where necessary with gastight bushings which cannot readily become displaced

Joints in Cables

50 Where cables other than signal cables are joined suitable junction boxes shall be used or the joints shall be soldered and the insulation armoring or lead covering replaced in at least as good condition as it was originally

Power Wires and Cables in Shafts

51 All power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position

Shaft 'cables whose conductors or covering are not capable of sustaining their own weight shall be supported at intervals not to exceed twenty-five feet by suitable grips which cannot cause abrasion of the covering or insulation but shall so support the cable that no grip shall carry more than the weight of the cable between any two successive grips Where the cables are not completely boxed in and protected from falling material space shall be left between them and the side of the shaft that they may yield and so lessen a blow given by falling material

Cables in Haulage Roads

52 Where the cables or feed wires other than trolley wires in main haulage roads cannot be kept at least twelve inches from any part of the mine car or locomotive they shall be specially protected by proper guards

53 Cables and wires unless provided with metallic coverings shall not be fixed to walls or timbers by means of uninsulated fastenings

Protection During Blasting Et Cetera

54 When main or other roads are being repaired or blasting is being carried on suitable temporary protection from damage shall be given the cables

Trailing Cables

55 Trailing cables for portable machines shall be specially flexible heavily insulated and protected with extra stout braiding hose pipes or other equally effective covering

56 Each trailing cable in use shall be daily examined by the machine operator for abrasions and other defects and he shall also be required to carefully observe the trailing cable while in use and shall at once report any defect to the person in charge of electrical equipment

57 In the event of the trailing cable in service breaking down or becoming damaged in any way or of its inflicting a shock upon any person it shall be at once put out of service The faulty cable shall not again be used until it has been repaired and tested by a properly authorized person

58 The trailing cable shall be divided at the motor but only for such length as is necessary for making connection to the motor and the cable with its outer covering complete shall be securely clamped to the motor frame in such a manner as to protect the cable from injury and to prevent any mechanical strain being borne by the single ends that make electrical connection to the motor

59 In gaseous portions of mines a fixed terminal box shall be provided at the points where trailing cables are attached at the power supply This terminal box shall be flame-proof and shall contain a switch and fuse on each pole of the circuit The switch shall be so arranged that it can only be operated from without the box when the latter is completely closed and the switch shall also be so constructed that the trailing cables cannot be attached or removed when the switch is closed

SECTION FOUR

Switches Fuses and Circuit Breakers

Operation and Capacity

60 Fuses and automatic circuit breakers shall be so constructed as effectually to interrupt the current on short circuit or when the current through them exceeds a predetermined value Open type fuses shall be provided with terminals

Circuit breakers shall be adjustable to trip at from fifty per centum to one hundred and fifty per centum of their nominalrated capacity and provided with an indicator which shall show at what current the circuit breaker is set to trip.

61 Fuses shall be stamped or marked or shall have a label attached indicating the maximum current which they are intended to carry Fuses shall only be adjusted or replaced by a competent person authorized by the mine foreman

Feeder Circuit-Breakers

62 Circuit breakers used to protect feeder circuits shall be set to trip when the current exceeds by more than fifty per centum the current carrying capacity of the feeder In case the feeder is subjected to overloads sufficient to trip the circuit breaker but of short duration the circuit breaker may be equipped with a device which will prevent its acting unless the overload persists for a longer period than ten seconds

Feeder Fuses

63 Fuses used to protect feeders shall have a less current rating than the feeder

Bases

64 All switches circuit breakers and fuses shall have incombustible bases

Switches

65 All points at which a circuit other than a signal circuit has to be made or broken shall be provided with proper switches The use of hooks or other makeshifts is prohibited except that connection for gathering locomotives or locomotives and machines used in driving headings or rooms may be made to the trolley by means of suitable hooks switches shall be so installed that they cannot be closed by gravity In any gaseous portion of a mine switches circuit breakers or fuses shall not be of the open type but must be inclosed in explosion-proof casings or break under oil

SECTION FIVE

Motors

Stationary Motors

66 Every stationary motor underground together with its starting resistance shall be protected by a fuse on each pole or circuit-breaking device on at least one pole for direct current and two poles for alternating current motors and by switches arranged to entirely cut off the power from the motor The above devices shall be installed in a convenient position near the motor and every stationary underground motor of one hundred brake horse power or over shall be provided with a suitable meter to indicate the load on the machine

Motors in Gaseous Mines

67 In any gaseous portion of a mine all motors unless placed in such rooms as are separately ventilated with intake air shall have all their current carrying parts also their starters terminals and connections completely enclosed in explposion-proof enclosures made of non-inflammable material These enclosures shall not be opened except by an authorized person and then only when the power is switched off The power shall not be switched on while the enclosures are open

Underground Stationary Motors in Non-Gaseous Mines

68 Motors used for operating fans in non-gaseous mines where they are so situated that they are not under constant supervision of a competent man shall be totally enclosed (not necessarily explosion-proof) unless placed in a chamber or passageway completely lined with incombustible material and the chamber or passageway itself free from combustible material

Detection of Gas

69 In working places where gas is likely to be encountered a safety lamp or other suitable apparatus for the detection of fire damp shall be provided for use with each machine when working and should any indication of fire damp appear on the flame of the safety lamp or other apparatus used for the detection of fire damp the person in charge shall immediately stop the machine cut off the current at the nearest switch and report the matter to the mine foreman

Enclosed Motors

70 All enlosed motors used underground shall be opened and thoroughly inspected by the person in charge of electrical equipment or his assistant at least once a week and where necessary shall then be cleaned and repaired Enclosed switches shall be opened and inspected at least once a month

Electric Coal-Cutting Machines

71 No man shall be placed in charge of a coal-cutting machine in any gaseous portion of a mine who is not a competent person capable of determining the safety of the roof and sides of the working place and detecting the presence of explosive gas

72 In any gaseous portion of a mine a coal-cutting machine shall not be brought within the last break-through next the working face until the machine man shall have made an inspection for gas in the place where the machine is to work unless such examination is then made by some other competer person or appointed for that purpose by the mine forman If any explosive gas is found in the place the machine shall not be taken in

73 No coal-cutting machine shall be continued in operation in a gaseous portion of a mine for a longer period than half an hour without an examination as a' made for gas and if gas is found the current shall at once be switched off the machine and the trailing cable shall forthwith be disconnected from the power supply

74 The person finding gas shall at once report the fact to the fire boss or mine foreman and the machine shall not again be started in such place until the fire boss or a person duly be started in such place until the fire boss or a person duly authorized by the mine foreman has examined it and pronounced it safe

75 The person in charge of a coal-cutter or drilling machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall before leaving the working place see that the current is cut off from the trailing cables

76 In any gaseous portion of a mine if any electric sparking or arc be produced outside a coal-cutting or other por ble motor or by the cables or rails the machine shal be sto ed and not be worked again until the defect is repaired n the occurrence shall be reported to an official of the m e

SECTION SIX

Electric Locomotives

Trolley System

77 Electric haulage by locomotives operated from a t le wire is not permissible in any gaseous portions of m e except upon the intake air fresh from the outside

78 In no case shall the potential used in the trolley s ttem be higher than the medium voltage

Storage Battery System

79 Storage battery locomotives shall be used in gas us mines only when the boxes containing the cells and all ec trical parts are enclosed in flame and explosion-proof ca gs (For regulations covering the installation of the trolley ire see section theee rules thirty-eight to forty-two inclusive)

SECTION SEVEN

Electric Lighting

Arc Lamps

80 Arc lamps shall not be used in gaseous mines excep n der condtions where the trolley locomotives are allowabl

81 If arc lamps are used underground in coal mines e shall be of the enclosed arc type and shall not be use init uations where there is likely to be danger from the presen o coal dust

Incandescent Lamps

82 In all mines the sockets of fixed incandescent lamps al be of the so-called "weather-proof" type the exterior of w ch shall be entirely non-metalilc Flexible lamp cord connec ns are prohibited except for portable lamps as covered by le eighty-five

83 In any gaseous portions of a mine except where v tl lated by fresh intake air incandescent lamps shall be prote ed by gastight fittings of strong glass except that lamps of wo hundred and tewnty volts or higher and not of more ar eight candle power and without tips need not be so protect

84 Incandescent lamps shall be so placed that they ca o come in contact wth combustible material

85 Portable incandescent lamps other than battery la ps shall not be used except in connection with the repair and n spection of machines and equipment and then only in n- gaseous portions of mines When so used they shall be o- tected by a heavy wire cage completely enclosing both l p and socket and shall be provided with a handle to which th cage and socket are firmly attached and through which he leading-in wires are carried

86 Electric lamps shall be replaced by a competent pe on only and in gaseous portons of a mine only after an examation for gas has been made with a safety lamp

For other regulations regarding electric lighting circuits ee section three rules forty-three to forty-five inclusive

SECTION EIGHT

Shot Firing By Electricity

Shot Firing Circuits

87 Electricity from any grounded circuit shall not be ed for firing shots

88 When shot-firing cables or wires are used in the vicinit o power or lighting conductors special precaution shall be ta en to prevent the shot-firing cables or wires from coming in n- tact with the light power or any other circuits

Shot Firers

89 Only competent persons who have the necessary trai ng and skill and who have been properly instructed in the w rk and duly authorized by the mine foreman shall be allowe to fire shots electrically in any mine

Electric Detonators

90 All electric detonators and leads thereto shall be s t- able for the conditions under which the blasting is carrie on and shall be of a type approved by the Pittsburg Testing a- tion of the Federal Bureau of Mines Detonators shall be p in a dry place and never stored with any other explosive

Portable Firing Machines and Batteries

91 Portable shot firing machines sometimes called gn- erators shall be enclosed in a tightly constructed case wen employed in any portion of the mine All contacts wen made or broken shall be within the case except that ne binding posts for making connections to the firing le s may be outside

92 Primary or secondary batteries used for shot fi g shall be provided with a suitable case covered by le ninety-one The batteries shall be constructed so tha if the wires of a detonator or leads should accidentally or otherwise come in contact with the binding posts no cr- rent will be discharged They shall be provided wit a detachable handle plug or key without which the curr nt cannot be closed or provided with one or more safety cn- tact buttons which are well countersunk or protected b a non-conducting housing The plugs handles or keys sl l be detached when not actually in use for firing a shot ad shall not under any circumstances pass from the perso l custody of the person commissioned to fire the shots w le on duty

93 All portable devices for generating or supplying e c- tricity for shot firing when in a mine shall be in charg of the person commissioned to fire the shots

94 No firing machine or battery shall be connected o the shot firing leads until all other steps preparatory o the firing of a shot have been completed and all pers s have moved to a place of safety and no person other t n the shot firer shall make such connection

Disconnecting of Leads

95 Immediately after the firing of a shot the firing le s shall be disconnected from the supply or source of el- tricity and no person shall approach a shot which s failed to explode until the firing leads have been so d- connected by the shot firer from the device and an inter l of five minutes has elapsed since the last attempt to fire the shot

Tests of Generators and Batteries

96 Frequent tests shall be made of all devices covered by rule ninety-three to insure that their capacity has not been decreased by use or accident

Special Systems

97 The use of special electrical shot firing systems or equipment not covered by the foregoing shall receive the approval of the Pittsburg Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines

SECTION NINE

Electric Signaling

Precautions

98 All proper precautions shall be taken to prevent electric signal and telephone wires from coming into contact with other electric conductors whether insulated or not

Character of Equipment

99 Bells wires insulators contact-makers and other apparatus used in connection with electric signaling underground shall be of suitable design of substantial and reliable construction and erected in such a manner as to reduce the liability of failures or false signals to a minimum

Maximum Potential

100 In any gaseous portion of a mine the potential used for signal purposes shall not exceed ten volts and bare wires shall not be used for signal circuits except in haulage roads

Telephones

101 It is recommended that telephonic communication be established between the outside of the mine and the principal points of operation underground

SECTION TEN

Electric Relighting of Safety Lamps

102 If in any place or portion of a mine in which safety lamps are used they are relighted underground by electricity the mine foreman shall select a suitable station or stations not being in the return airway and where there is not likely to be any accumulation of inflammable gas and no electric relighting apparatus shall be used in any other place All electrical relighting apparatus shall be securely locked and shall not be available for use except by persons authorized by the mine foreman to relight safety lamps and such persons shall examine all safety lamps brought for relighting before they are reissued

ARTICLE XII

Opening for Drainage Et Cetera on Other Lands

Section 1 If any person firm or corporation is or shall hereafter be seized in his or their own right of coal lands or shall hold such lands under lease and shall have opened or shall desire to open a coal mine on said land and it shall not be practicable to drain or ventilate such mines or to comply with the requirements of this act as to ways of ingress and egress or traveling ways by means of openings on lands owned or held under lease by him them or it and the same can be done by means of openings on adjacent lands he they or it may apply by petition to the court of quarter sessions of the proper county after ten days' notice to the owner or owners their agents or attorney setting forth the facts under oath or affirmation particularly describing the place or places where such opening or openings can be made and the pillars of coal or other material necessary for the support of such passageway and the right-of-way necessary to any public road as may be needed in connection with such opening and that he or they cannot agree with the owner or owners of the land as to the amount to be paid for the privilege of making such opening or openings whereupon the said court shall appoint three disinterested and competent citizens of the county to view the ground designated and lay out from the point or points mentioned in such petition a passage or passages not more than eighty feet in area by either drift shaft or slope or by a combination of any of said methods by any practicable and convenient route to the coal of such person firm or corporation preferring in all cases an opening through the coal strata where the same is practicable The said viewers shall at the same time assess the damages to be paid by the petitioner or petitioners to the owner or owners of such lands for the coal or other valuable material to be removed in the excavation and construction of said passage also for such coal or other valuable material necessary to support the said passage as well as for a right of way not exceeding fifteen feet in width from any such opening to any public road to enable persons to gain entrance to the mine through such opening or to provide therefrom upon the surface a water course of suitable dimensions to a natural water stream to enable the operator to discharge the water from said mine if such right-of-way shall be desired by the petitioner or petitioners which damages shall be fully paid before such opening is made The proceedings shall be recorded in the road docket of the proper county and the pay of the viewers shall be the same as in road cases If exceptions be filed they shall be disposed of by the court as speedily as possible and both parties shall have the right to take depositions as in road cases If however the petitioner desires to make such openings or roads or waterways before the final disposition of such exceptions he shall have the right to do so by giving bond to be approved by the court securing the damages as provided by law in the case of lateral railroads

Section 2 It shall be compulsory upon the part of the mine owner or operator to exercise the powers granted by the provisions of the last preceding section for the procuring of a right-of-way on the surface from the opening of a coal mine to a public road or public roads upon the request in writing of fifty miners employed in the mine or mines of such owner or operator Provided however That with such request satisfactory security be deposited with the mine owner or operator by said petitioners (being coal miners) to fully and sufficiently pay all costs damages and expenses caused by such proceedings and in paying for such right of way

Section 3 In any mine or mines or portions thereof wherein water may have been allowed to accumulate in large and dangerous quantities putting in danger the adjoining or adjacent mines and the lives of the miners working therein and when such can be tapped and set free and flow by its own gravity to any point of drainage it shall be lawful for any operator or person having mines so endangered with the approval of the inspector of the district to proceed to remove the said danger by driving a drift or drifts protected by bore holes as provided for by this act and in removing said danger it shall be lawful to drive across property lines if needful

And it shall be unlawful for any person to dam or in any way obstruct the flow of any stream from said mine or portions thereof when so set free on any part of its passage to point of drainage

Section 4 From and after the passage of this act it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons company or companies now or hereafter to be incorporated in this Commonwealth to drive headings and construct entryways tramways and mine tracks with one or more tracks under the surface or partly under and partly over the surface through or over any intervening lands not exceeding one mile in length to or from any coal and connect the same with any entryways headings tramways or railroads belonging to any individual or individuals company or companies now or hereafter to be incorporated in this State and also with any highway or public improvement. Provided That the parties interested shall be subject to the same proceedings required in section one of this article And provided further That no such entryway heading tramway mine track or railroad shall be constructed through or over such intervening lands where the same would injure or interfere with the existing mining operations of any other person or company or where the same would endanger the safety of the employes therein

ARTICLE XIII

Ambulances and Stretchers Rescue Appliances and Emergency Hospitals

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of every mine in which fifty or more persons are employed inside shall provide and keep in good condition at the principal entrance of the mine or at such other place as the superintendent and inspector may determine and designate one ambulance and at least two stretchers for conveying to his place of abode any person that may be injured while in the discharge of his duties and also woolen and waterproof blankets Provided that if the places of abode of ninety per centum of the workmen at any mine are within a radius of one mile from the principal entrance to the mine an ambulance shall not be required Provided further that where two or more mines are located within one mile of each other or where the ambulance is located within one mile of each mine only one ambulance as aforesaid shall be required if such mines have ready and quick means of communication by telegraph or telephone

Section 2 The ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two injured persons and two attendants at one time and shall be provided with seats for the attendants

The stretchers shall be constructed of such material and in such a manner as to insure ease and comfort in the carriage of the injured persons

At all mines there shall be provided bandages splints and other medical supplies to render first aid and relief to employes who may be injured These supplies shall be kept in a suitable room The room shall be located near the entrance to or inside of the mine and shall be sufficiently large to accommodate the injured employes while they are receiving temporary medical attention

Section 3 Whenever any person employed in or about any mine shall receive such an injury by accident or otherwise as to render him unable to walk to his place of abode the operator or the superintendent shall immediately have said person removed to his place of abode or to a hospital as the case may require

Section 4 If the conditions are such that the person injured can be conveyed to his home or to the hospital more conveniently and more quickly by railroad trolley road or other conveyance such mode of conveyance shall be permitted and no ambulance required but in such cases the conveyance must be under cover and the comfort of the injured person must be provided for

Section 5 All mines generating explosive gas in such quantities that it can be detected by an approved safety lamp shall be provided with a sufficient number of oxygen helmets and necessary appliances

Emergency hospitals shall be erected at or near the main openings of such mines and provided with all the necessary appliances to care for the injured

The number of oxygen helmets needed and the location and size of the emergency hospital shall be determined by the inspector and the superintendent

ARTICLE XIV

Wash Houses

Section 1 When the clothing or wearing apparel of the employes in any mine becomes wet by reason of working in wet places therein it shall be the duty of the operator or superintendent of said mine at the request in writing of the inspector who shall make such request upon the petition of any ten employes working in the aforesaid wet places to provide a suitable building convenient to the principal entrances of such mines for the use of the persons employed in wet places therein for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order and be properly lighted and heated and shall be provided with hot and cold water and facilities for persons to wash Any operator superintendent or inspector who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or any person who shall maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used therein or do any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor

ARTICLE XV

Inside Stables

Section 1 It shall not be lawful for the superintendent or mine foreman to provide a horse or a mule stable inside of any mine unless space for said stable is excavated in solid strata of rock slate or coal If excavated in the coal seam the wall shall be built of brick stone or concrete not less than twelve inches in thickness and said wall shall be built from the bottom slate to the roof Wood or other combustible material shall be used in the smallest practicable quantity in the construction of the inside of said stable The air current used for the ventilation of said stable shall not be intermixed with the air current used for ventilating any other portion of the mine but shall be conveyed directly to the return air current. No open light shall be permitted in any stable in any mine

No hay or straw shall be taken into any mine unless pressed and made up into compact bales which shall be kept in a storehouse built apart from the stable and in the same manner as the stable Under no circumstances shall the hay be stored in the stable

ARTICLE XVI

Regulations for Powder and Detonators

Section 1 No powder or high explosive shall be stored in any mine and no more of either article shall be taken into any mine at one time by any one person than is required in one shift The quantity shall not exceed five pounds Provided that in a mine where shot firers are employed the shot firers shall have the right to take a sufficient quantity to complete their work

Black powder for use in mines shall be put up in five ten fifteen and twenty-five pound metallic cans or canisters or receptacles of equally safe material

No black powder high explosives or detonators shall be hauled on any electric motor trip in any mine unless the same are encased in non-conductive boxes or receptacles

Section 2 In all mines or portions of mines generating explosive gas which are dry and dusty no explosives shall be used except "permissible" explosives as designated by the Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines Each charge shall consist of only one kind of explosive The Department of Mines shall forward to the operators upon application the names of all explosives on the permissible list

No "permissible" explosives shall be sold for use in bituminous mines unless the name of the manufacturer name of explosive method of handling and full instruction for use are conspicuously displayed on or in the package containing the explosive

Section 3 Detonators shall at all times be kept in securely locked cases separate and apart from other explosives until required for use

The Chief of the Department of Mines when satisfied by tests that any permissible explosive has deteriorated from the standard established by the Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines and thereby becomes dangerous may prohibit the use thereof either absolutely or subject to conditions

ARTICLE XVII

Regulations for Oil

Section 1 The oiling or greasing of cars inside of any mine is strictly prohibited unless the place where said oil or grease is used is thoroughly cleaned at least once every day to prevent the accumulation of waste oil or grease on the roads or in the drains at that point Not more than one barrel of lubricating oil shall be permitted in any mine at one time and it shall be kept in a fireproof building cut out of solid rock or made of masonry or concrete of sufficient thickness to insure safety in case of fire

Section 2 No explosive oil shall be taken into or used in any mine for lighting purposes except when used in safety lamps and shall not be taken into or stored in any mine in quantities exceeding five gallons Said oil when stored in a mine shall be kept in a fireproof vault made of masonry or concrete

Section 3 All oils or materials used in open lamps shall be non-explosive and free from odors and fumes deleterious to health and shall have a burning point not lower than three hundred degrees and must not produce over eleven one-hundredths of one per centum of their weight of soot when burned in a miner's lamp with a flame one and one-half inches high the determination of the percentage of soot to be by tests specified by the Department of Mines

Section 4 Paraffine was used in mines shall not contain over three per centum of oil

Section 5 All illuminants sold to be used in open lamps in mines shall have branded conspicuously on the barrel or package containing the same the name of the manufacturer date of shipment and percentage of soot

Section 6 Any employe who shall use or any mine foreman who shall permit to be used or any person who shall sell for use in any mine any oil or any other material for illuminating purposes other than that prescribed in this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor Provided however that any illuminant that is found not detrimental to health and safety after the proper tests specified by the Department of Mines can be used in any mine with the consent of the inspector

Section 7 It shall be the duty of the inspector whenever he has reason to believe that an illuminant is being used or sold or offered for sale in violation of the provisions of this article to take samples of the same and have them tested under the direction of the Department of Mines

ARTICLE XVIII

Employment of Boys and Females

Section 1 No boy under the age of fourteen years and no woman or girl of any age shall be employed permitted or suffered to work in or about any mine and no boy under the age of eighteen years shall be permitted to mine or load coal in any room entry or other working place unless in company with an experienced person over eighteen years of age

No boy under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in or about any mine unless during the entire period that said boy is so employed there is on file in the office of said mine and accessible to the inspector an employment certificate issued by the city borough township or county superintendent of public schools or by the secretary of the school board of the township borough or city or by a principal of a parochial school or by such superintendent's secretary's or principal's duly appointed deputy or assistant reciting the age of said boy as it appears on any record that the person who issues said certificate has reason to believe to be true and correct or if such record of age be lacking reciting the age of said boy according to an affidavit taken by his parent guardian or custodian and attached to said certificate and said certificate and the affidavit if any shall for the purposes of this act be conclusive evidence of the age of said boy

Nothing in this section shall be held to forbid the employment of a girl between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years in the office of a mine provided that during the entire period of said employment there is in like manner on file for said girl in said office an employment certificate of the character hereinbefore provided for as a prerequisite to the employment of boys under the age of sixteen years inside any mine

Section 2 Any superintendent or mine foreman who fails to comply with the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and it shall be the duty of the inspector or any other person who knows that the superintendent or mine foreman has violated any of the provisions of this article to prosecute said superintendent or said mine foreman in accordance with section two of article twenty-six of this act and any person who shall falsely certify or swear to the age of any boy or girl in the certificate and affidavit described and required by section one of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor

ARTICLE XIX

Mine Inspectors' Examining Board Appointment and Duties Mine Inspectors Their Appointment Duties and Powers

Section 1 The Governor shall appoint during the month of January one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and every four years thereafter five citizens of this Commonwealth of good repute to be known as the Mine Inspectors' Examining Board whose duty it shall be to examine applicants for the office of inspector in the bituminous coal region of this Commonwealth Two of the members of said board shall be mining engineers and three of the members shall have passed successful examinations qualifying them to act as inspectors or mine foremen in bituminous mines generating explosive gas and shall have had at least five years' practical experience as miners in the bituminous mines of Pennsylvania Applicants for appointment on the said Examining Board shall be at least thirty years of age

Each member of the Examining Board shall receive the sum of ten dollars a day for each day actually employed and all necessary expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this article which shall be paid out of the State Treasury on warrant of the Auditor General issued upon presentation of vouchers properly made out and sworn to by each member of the board and approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines The Examining Board is hereby authorized to engage the services of a clerk who shall be a stenographer

Any vacancy that may occur in the membership of the Examining Board shall be filled by the Governor according to the provisions of this section

Section 2 The said Examining Board shall meet on the first Tuesday in March following its appointment in the city of Pittsburg to examine applicants for the office of inspector. Two weeks previous to the aforesaid time the board shall meet to prepare questions and formulate rules for conducting the examination The board may also be convened by the Governor at any other time for the purpose of filling vacancies or performing any other necessary work

The board after being duly organized shall take and subscribe to before any officer authorized to administer the same the following oath namely

"We the undersigned do solemnly swear (or affirm) that we will perform the duties of examiners of applicants for appointment as inspector of mines to the best of our ability and that in recommending or rejecting said applicants we will be governed by the evidence of their qualifications to fill the position and not by any consideration of political or personal favor and that we will certify all whom we may find qualified according to the true intent and meaning of this act and none other" The oaths of the members of the Examining Board shall be filed in the Department of Mines

Section 3 The qualifications of candidates for the office of inspector shall be certified to the Examining Board and shall be as follows

The candidates shall be citizens of Pennsylvania of temperate habits of good repute as men of personal integrity in good physical condition and shall be between the ages of thirty and fifty years Provided however that any inspector appointed under the provisions of the act of May fifteen one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three or under the provisions of this act shall be eligible for reappointment even if beyond fifty years of age if in good physical condition The candidates shall have a knowledge of the different systems of working coal seams and shall have had at least ten years' practical experience in bituminous mines five years of which immediately preceding their examination shall have been in bituminous mines of this Commonwealth and shall also have had practical experience with explosive gas and other dangerous gases found in coal mines and upon examination shall give evidence of such theoretical as well as practical knowledge and general intelligence respecting mines and mining and the working and ventilation of mines as will satisfy the Examining Board of their capability and fitness for the duties imposed upon inspectors of mines by the provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 339, as follows:

An act to define and establish auxiliary forest reserves and providing a penalty for the violation of the provisions thereof

The first section of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in order to encourage the growing of such tres as will at the proper age be suitable for merchantable timber and sawed lumber whether such be of natural reproduction or from seed sown or trees planted out or all combined all surface lands which may be set apart according to the provisions of this act and exclusively used for growing such trees are hereby constituted a separate and distinct class of lands to be known as auxiliary forest reserves

The second section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 2 When any owner of surface land desires to have such land not exceeding five hundred acres in area placed in the class established by section one of this act such owner shall notify the State Forestry Reservation Commission of his desire in manner and form to be prescribed by said Commission Said notice shall contain a description of the land its location boundary area and character and state as far as practicable the species number and size of trees per acre growing thereon and also their condition and whether they are of natural reproduction or are from seed sown for the purpose or have been set out on said land and such other information as the Commission may require If upon receipt and consideration of this notice the Commission may deem the conditions such as to warrant action on its part to determine whether such lands should rightfully be placed in the class established by section one of this act it shall cause the same to be examined by some person learned in the principles and practices of forestry and a report made thereon and if upon receipt and consideration of such report it decides that such land should be placed in the class established by section one of this act it shall so declare and certify to the Commissioners of the county in which said land is located

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 2 by adding to the section the following: Provided that no land shall be set aside for an auxiliary forest which at the last preceding assessment was assessed at $10.00 or more per acre.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3 Upon receipt by the county commissioners of such certificate of the Commission it shall be their duty at once to place said surface land in the class established by section one of this act and keep the same therein for a period of at least twenty years or thereafter until the trees growing thereon shall in the judgment of the Commission become sufficiently large and suitable for merchantable timber and sawed lumber or the land be devoted to other purposes provided however that the certificate of the Commission shall not become operative to place said surface land in the class established by section one of this act until the owner of said surface land has agreed in writing with the Commission to care for and treat the trees growing thereon according to the instructions and directions of the Commission and until such trees become suitable for merchantable timber and sawed lumber and if any such owner at any time fails to care for and treat the trees growing on said land as agreed with the Commission and due proof thereof is made the Commission shall remove said surface land from the class established by section one of this act The county commissioners shall on notice from the Commission proceed to recover from said owner for the use of the county and township by an appropriate action of law the difference in the amount of tax which would have been paid by the said owner at the established rates levied for the years for which recovery is sought and the rate provided for auxiliary forest reserves with costs of suit and to be recoverable from the time when such lands were placed in the class of auxiliary forest reserves

Section 4 Whenever the trees growing on said surface land have become suitable for merchantable timber and sawed lumber and the owner thereof desires to cut and market the same he shall give to the Commission at least three months' notice prior to the time when it is his desire to begin such cutting and marketing The Commission shall then make an examination of said lands and designate for the owner the kind and number of trees most suitable to be cut for the purposes for which the owner desires to place the same upon the market if in the judgment of the Commission there be any such and the cutting and removal of said trees so designated shall be in accordance with the instructions of the Commission

Section 5 If the owner of said surface land faithfully carries out the instructions of the Commission with regard to the removal and marketing of such mature or other trees as may be designated in the instructions of the said Commission and shall immediately replant other trees of valuable species for timber and sawed lumber or so protects the young growth and stool shoots that the said land may immediately become covered with young forest growth and does so in accordance with the instructions of the Commission then such surface land shall remain in said class established by section one of this act otherwise the Commission of Forestry shall notify the county commissioners that the said lands are not being maintained in accordance with the written agreement of the owner and the instructions of the Commission in which event the county commissioners shall immediately remove said lands from the class established by section one of this act All expenses attendant upon the examination of the said surface lands by the Commission shall be paid out of moneys appropriated for the maintenance of the Department of Forestry in like manner as other expenses for maintenance of said Department are now paid

Section 6 The owner of the said auxiliary forest reserves shall at all times have the right to remove therefrom trees which may be killed by fire thrown or broken by the wind or injured by other natural causes and shall under the direction of the Commission be privileged to make necessary thinnings or removal of undesirable species of trees in order to improve the condition of the remaining trees and under the same direction may be privileged to remove therefrom such timber from time to time as may be necessary and essential for use upon the cleared lands of the said owner for general farm purposes

Section 7 The placing of any tract of land within that class of lands to be known as Auxiliary Forest Reserves as provided for in this act shall in no wise be construed in limitation of sale or conveyance of said lands by the owner thereof and no such sale or transfer of title either by voluntary deed of conveyance assignment for the benefit of creditors by insolvency or bankruptcy proceedings or under a process of execution by reason of any judgment or decree obtained or had in any court or by devise in any will or descent under the interstate laws of this Commonwealth shall operate for the removal of said lands from that class of lands to be known as Auxiliary Forest Reserves but that such lands shall continue in said class and shall not be removed therefrom except in accordance with the provisions of this act The continuance of such tracts within that class of lands known as Auxiliary Forest Reserves shall not be construed or regarded as an incumbrance on said lands which under existing laws may be removed or discharged by judicial sale

Section 8 That all acts ar parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

The title of the bill was read and agreed to, as follows

An act to define and establish auxiliary forest reserves and providing a penalty for the violation of the provisions thereo

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. KLINGERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 2, line 11, page 4, by inserting after the word "thousand" the words "five hundred;" also strike out after the word "year" in the same line the words "provided however that every inspector after he has served eight years from the first day of January following his election shall receive a salary of three thousand five hundred dollars a year"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words on this bill to the House. Section 2 here says that the salary of each mine inspector shall be raised five hundred dollars a year. Now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, we have twenty inspectors in the anthracite region who visit the collieries two days in the month, or more if necessary. Now, these gentlemen are receiving a salary of three thousand dollars a year, and all their expenses paid back and forth in the county, their telephone paid in their homes, one hundred and forty-four dollars for their office in their own homes, leaving them three thousand clear money as salary for visiting the collieries two days in the month. And then they are allowed to go to Atlantic City two or three weeks at a time and no one put in their place to inspect the mines, and oftentimes we find them in a condition that they are not able to go down and inspect the mines.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill was only left out of the Committee on Mines and Mining through courtesy to Mr. Shadrach. I hope the members of this House will not raise the salary of these men, because they do not deserve it. If we had better mine inspectors then they would be entitled to better wages, but the mine inspectors we have to-day are not worth the salaries we are asked to give them.

Mr. SHADRACH. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to the gentlemen of the House, in answer to the very drastic and dishonest statement made by the gentleman from Northumberland, that he may, in the section of the anthracite region that he resides in, have some particular complaint in the matter which he has just stated to the House. But up in Luzerne county and up in Lackawanna county we have to-day industrious, honest inspectors, but we have not enough of them.

Now, I wish to submit a little statement to the House in reference to the situation. In the first Luzerne Mine Inspection District there are six mine inspectors. These six men take care of and inspect 235 collieries which employ 59,799 persons. The production of anthracite coal in that territory in 1909 was 27,274,725 tons, more than one-third of the coal production in the anthracite coal region that year. To inspect and care for the lives of the men working in these mines there are six mine inspectors, each one of them having an average of 9,960 lives in their hands to take care of.

The act of May 3, 1905, provides that inspectors are required under the law to inspect the face of every working place in this district at least once every three months, upon which he must make a report to the Department of Mines once every four months. In this report he must account for the condition of every working face at the time of inspection.

In Luzerne county the inspectors have an average of thirty-nine collieries each to inspect, many of which are so extensive that it would take at least a full week to inspect one if inspected as the law demands, and in no instance could any of these thirty-nine mines be inspected in one day.

Now, I want to make a little comparison here. In Schuylkill, Northumberland, Dauphin and Columbia there are nine inspectors, and these nine inspectors have on an average 7,000 lives each to take care of in the production of coal. The coal produced in any one of these nine inspection districts, with the exception of one, does not average more than 298,233 tons, while the average coal production in the Luzerne districts is from 3,901,000 to 5,240,000 per district. So that you see the comparisons are vastly greater. In other words, our men have at least 2,931 men more on their hands than the Schuylkill inspectors have and if there are those in Schuylkill or Northumberland counties that are neglecting their duty, those in Luzerne are not. The chief of the Department of Mines tells us that he cannot get the law executed as it should be in Lackawanna county on account of lack of help necessary, and we are here asking you to give us that help and give us a chance to protect the lives of these men that are working in that dangerous section.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Shadrach.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHADRACH. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where that great disaster happened if the mine inspector in that district ever inspected the engine house under the ground where that disaster happened?

Mr. SHADRACH. Mr. Speaker, I would say in all fairness that if the law was carried out that disaster could not have happened, and we are asking for the help necessary to carry out the law.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the gentleman that under these conditions the law cannot be carried out.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman must confine himself to the interrogatory.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman another question. Mr. Shadrich, didn't you see in the paper that Mr. Williams, the mine inspector, took the stand and said that he did not inspect that engine house since he was inspector of that district?

Mr. SHADRACH. Mr. Speaker, I did not.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Well, Mr. Speaker, that is the condition.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend by striking out all of section 2.

The SPEAKER. The amendment is out of order; the House has just amended section 2 and it cannot be stricken out.

The title was read and agreed to, as follows:

An act to further amend section seven of article two of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" approved the second day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one as amended by an act approved the eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one and by an act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred and five and by the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine and to amend section ten of article two of said act approved the second day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one so as to increase the number of inspectors and fix their salaries

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words on this bill before it passes over to third reading. In the first inspection district at the present time they have six inspectors, and in the bill they are asking to have three extra inspectors. In the second inspection district at the present they have five inspectors, and in this bill they are asking for six inspectors. Now, Mr. Speaker, in the third inspection district the inspector has hardly any work to do, not more than one or two days a month. In the fourth inspection district the same thing is true; in the fifth inspection district the same thing is true, and in the sixth and seventh districts also. Now, in four of the districts the present inspectors do not have enough work to do, but it may be in the first inspection district and second inspect district that they are crowded a little bit. Now, Mr. Spe er, if your chief of the Mines and Mining Departm would attend to his business and redistrict the whole thracite district, the twenty mine inspectors could carry the work nicely, and we could have better conditions in mines. I don't think we should pass a bill of this kind this House at this time because some one at the head the Mines and Mining Department does not have the thracite district redistricted properly, and I therefore h that you will vote down this bill.

And said bill having been read at length the second t and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. RENO in the Chair.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and con eration of House Bill No. 486, as follows:

Section 2 All Acts or parts of Acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHADRACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman who is sponsor for this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Shannon, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHANNON. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHADRACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not there are not already four district attorneys in Luzerne County?

Mr. SHANNON. Mr. Speaker, if I was under that impression I would not have introduced this bill. I feel we have not assistants enough. I feel the assistants we have are not sufficiently paid.

Mr. SHADRACH. I would further ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not there are four judges over there, and whether or not it is a fact that rarely more than three courts hold criminal sessions of court.

Mr. SHANNON. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that the judges have anything to do with this bill. I know the district attorneys have work even when the court of quarter sessions is not in session. They are looking after the work of the grand jury and other duties.

Mr. SHADRACH. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentlemen of the House I wish to state that this additional district attorney in Luzerne County would be as useful as the fifth wheel to a wagon. There is no necssity for him and there is no work for him, and it is an imposition to saddle this additional burden on the taxpayers of Luzerne County. I therefore move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. SHANNON. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that my colleague from Luzerne County has designated himself as the watchdog of the treasury of Luzerne County. This is the first measure in which there has been an increase of salary, to my recollection, that this member has objected to. I am sure it will appear to every one of you that he is playing a double role. I know and know well in Luzerne County we have three assistants. One gets but twenty-four hundred dollars, the first assistant. I would like to ask any gentleman form Allegheny or Philadelphia—I want to remind you that Luzerne County has three judges and a population of 343,000—do you really believe that we can get able district attorneys for twenty-four hundred dollars for the first assistant, two thousand dollars for the second assistant and but eighteen hundred dollars for the third assistant? I know there are some attorneys in Luzerne County who do not earn over eighteen hundred dollars in that capacity, but those are the fellows we do not want as district attorneys. We want able lawyers, and if we give sufficient salary we can have them, and then we will guarantee that we will punish every criminal that comes before the court. And I sincerely hope that the bill will pass.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 677, as follows:

An act requiring the approval of the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to any extension of the time within which in the exercise of their charter rights under the existing law water or water power companies shall begin and complete their works and also providing for the annulment of charters of water or water power companies which shall not have begun or completed works within the time set by existing law

Whereas Water and water power companies incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are required to begin the construction of their works within two years after the date of their incorporation and to complete the same within five years thereafter

Whereas Water and water power companies which have not begun their works or completed the same within the time set by law may apply to the court of common pleas for an extension of said time

Whereas The General Corporation act of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and its supplements are indefinite as to the method by which water and water power companies which have failed to comply with the requirement of beginning or completing works within the time set by law shall become defunct

Whereas it is decidedly to the best interest of the water supply of the Commonwealth that the charters of such water and water power companies be annulled

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That subsequent to the passage of this Act any water company or water power company heretofore or hereafter incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth which shall not have begun the construction of its works within two years after the date of its incorporation or which shall not have completed the same or placed the same in operation within five years thereafter may at any time previous to the expiration of said two years or five years thereafter make application to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania for an extension of such time as herein provided Such application shall be made upon a petition under the common seal of such corporation and verified by its president or other presiding officer setting forth the grounds of the application and that the same is made pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Directors of said company at a meeting called for the purpose a duly certified copy of which shall be annexed to said petition Thereupon it shall be the duty of said Commission to hold a hearing upon said petition at such date as it may decide and after due hearing and examination said Commission may approve said petition subject to such limitations and restrictions as it may see fit and file in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth a duly certified copy of an order setting forth its approval of said application for extension In the event of the refusal to approve by the Water Supply Commission appeal may be taken by such company within ten days thereafter to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which said corporation shall have its principal office whereupon said court shall review the papers in the case and testimony at the hearing before the Water Supply Commission and in the event of said court finding that such company had proceeded with due diligence and good faith it may order the reversal of the order of the Commission setting forth the limit of such extension of the time granted and file a copy of such order with the Secretary of the Commonwealth

In the event of the refusal of the Water Supply Commission to approve such petition for extension of time and if an appeal shall not be taken within ten days thereafter said Commission shall on the expiration of the said period of two years or five years issue a decree declaring such company defunct and its charter void and it shall be stricken from the books of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Auditor General

Section 2 The Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania may on its own initiative or in response to petition inquire into the standing of any water or water power charter and in such event it may hold a hearing after due notice to the president or secretary of such company addressed to the principal office of the company as indicated by its latest report filed with the Auditor General or Secretary of the Commonwealth to determine whether such company has commenced work on its plant or completed the same within the time set by law If after due hearing and consideration said Commission shall be of the opinion that such company has not proceeded with due diligence and with bona fide intent to fulfil the requirements of law it may certify the facts in the case to the Attorney General requesting him to institute quo warranto proceedings against said company for the annulment and revocation of its charter provided however that nothing in this Act shall be construed to repeal or invalidate or in an way effect the provisions of an Act of Assembly approved the twenty second day of April one thousnad nine hundred and five entitled "A Act to preserve the purity of the waters of the State for the protection of the public health" or the provisions of an Act approved th twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and five entitled "An Act creating a Department of Health and defining its powers and duties"

Section 11 A carrier in the absence of some lawful excuse s bound to deliver goods upon a demand made either by the consignee named in the bill for the goods or if the bill is negotiable by the holder thereof if such demand is accompanied by

(a) An offer in good faith to satisfy the carrier's lawful ien upon the goods

(b) An offer in good faith to surrender properly indorsed the bill which was issued for the goods if the bill is negotiable and

(c) A readiness and willingness to sign when the goods are delivered an acknowledgment that they have been delivered if such signature is requested by the carrier

In case the carrier refuses or fails to deliver the goods in compliance with a demand by the consignee or holder so accompanied the burden shall be upon the carrier to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal or failure

Section 12 A carrier is justified subject to the provisions of the three following sections in delivering goods to one who is

(a) A person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods or

(b) The consignee named in a non-negotiable bill for the goods or

(c) A person in possession of a negotiable bill for the goods by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to his order or which has been endorsed to him or in blank by the consignee or by the mediate or immediate indorsee of the consignee

Section 13 Where a carrier delivers goods to one who is not lawfully entitled to the possession of them the carrier shall be liable to any one having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions (b) and (c) of the preceding section and though he delivered the goods as authorized by either of said subdivisions he shall be so liable if prior to such delivery he

(a) Had been requested by or on behalf of a person having a right of property or possession in the goods not to make such delivery or

(b) Had information at the time of the delivery that it was to a person not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods

A request or information to be effective within the meaning of this section must be given to an officer or agent of the carrier the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a request or information and must be given in time to enable the officer or agent to whom it is given acting with reasonable diligence to stop delivery of the goods

Section 14 Except as provided in Section twenty-seven and except when compelled by legal process if a carrier deliver goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods and fails to take up and cancel the bill such carrier shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods to any one who for value and in good faith purchases such bill whether such purchaser acquired title to the bill before or after the delivery of the goods by the carrier and notwithstanding delivery was made to the person entitled thereto

Section 15 Except as provided in Section twenty-seven and except when compelled by legal process if a carrier delivers part of the goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued and fails either

(a) To take up and cancel the bill or

(b) To place plainly upon it a statement that a portion of the goods has been delivered with a description which may be in general terms either of the goods or packages that have been so delivered or of the goods or packages which still remain in the carrier's possession he shall be liable for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the bill to any one who for value and in good faith purchases it whether such purchaser acquired title to it before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the carrier and notwithstanding such delivery was made to the person entitled thereto

Section 16 Any alteration addition or erasure in a bill after its issue without authority from the carrier issuing the same either in writing or noted on the bill shall be void whatever be the nature and purpose of the change and the bill shall be enforceable according to its original tenor.

Section 17 Where a negotiable bill has been lost or destroyed a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by the court to protect the carrier or any person injured by such delivery from any liability or loss incurred by reason of the original bill remaining outstanding The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the carrier's reasonable costs and counsel fees

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court as provided in this section shall not relieve the carrier from liability to a person to whom the negotiable bill has been or shall be negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or the delivery of the goods

Section 18 A bill upon the face of which the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill is placed plainly shall impose upon the carrier issuing the same the liability of one who represents and warrants that such bill is an accurate copy of an original bill properly issued but no other liability

Section 19 No title to goods or rights to their possession asserted by a carrier for his own benefit shall excuse him from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of a bill issued for them unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the consignor or consignee after the shipment or from the carrier's lien

Section 20 If more than one person claims the title or possession of goods the carrier may require all known claimants to interplead either as a defence to an action brought against him for non-delivery of the goods or as an original suit whichever is appropriate

Section 21 If some other than the consignee or person in possession of the bill has a claim to the title or possession of the goods and the carrier has information of such claim the carrier shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods either to the consignee or person in possession of the bill or to the adverse claimant until the carrier has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead

Section 22 Except as provided in the two preceding sections and in section twelve no right or title of a third person unless enforced by legal process shall be a defense to an action brought by the consignee of a non-negotiable bill or by the holder of a negotiable bill against the carrier for failure to deliver the goods on demand

Section 23 If a bill of lading has been issued by a carrier or on his behalf by an agent or employe the scope of whose actual or apparent authority includes the issuing of bills of lading the carrier shall be liable to

(a) The consignee named in a non-negotiable bill or

(b) The holder of a negotiable bill

Who has given value in good faith relying upon the description therein of the goods for damages caused by the non-receipt by the carrier or a connecting carrier of all or part of the goods or their failure to correspond with the description thereof in the bill at the time of its issue

If however the goods are described in a bill merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them or upon packages containing them or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind or quantity or in a certain condition or it is stated in the bill that packages are said to contain goods of a certain kind or quantity or in a certain condition or that the contents or condition of the contents of packages are unknown or words of like purport are contained in the bill such statements if true shall not make liable the carrier issuing the bill although the goods are not of the kind or quantity or in the condition which the marks or labels upon them indicate or of the kind or quantity or in the condition they were said to be by the consignor The carrier may also by inserting in the bill the words "shipper's load and count" or other words of like purport indicate that the goods were loaded by the shipper and the description of them made by him and if such statement be true the carrier shall not be liable for damages caused by the improper loading or by the non-receipt or the misdescription of the goods described in the bill

Section 24 If goods are delivered to a carrier by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser for value in good faith would bind the owner and a negotiable bill is issued for them they can not thereafter while in the possession of the carrier be attached by garnishment or otherwise or be levied upon under an execution unless the be first surrendered to the carrier or its negotiation enjoined The carrier shall in no such case be compelled to deliver the actual possession of the goods until the bill is surrendered to him or impounded by the court

Section 25 A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable bill shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such bill or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which can not readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process

Section 26 If a negotiable bill is issued the carrier shall have no lien on the goods therein mentioned except for charges on those goods for freight storage demurrage and terminal charges and expenses necessary for the preservation of the goods or incident to their transportation subsequent to the date of the bill unless the bill expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed In such case there shall also be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are allowed by law and the contract between the consignor and the carrier

Section 27 After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a carrier's lien or because they have not been claimed or because they are perishable or hazardous the carrier shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods to the consignee or owner of the goods or to a holder of the bill given for the goods when they were shipped even if such bill be negotiable

Section 28 A negotiable bill may be negotiated by delivery where by the terms of the bill the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the bill has indorsed it in blank

Section 29 A negotiable bill may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are deliverable by the tenor of the bill Such indorsement may be in blank or to a specified person If indorsed to a specified person it may be negotiated again by the indorsement of such person in blank or to another specified person Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner

Section 30 A bill may be transferred by the holder by delivery accompanied with an agreement express or implied to transfer the title to the bill or to the goods represented thereby

Section 31 A negotiable bill may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same however such possession may have been acquired if by the terms of the bill the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person or if at the time of negotiation the bill is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery.

Section 32 A person to whom a negotiable bill has been duly negotiated acquires thereby

(a) Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the bill to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value and also such title to the goods as the consignee and consignor had or had power to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value and

(b) The direct obligation of the carrier to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the bill as fully as if the carrier had contracted directly with him

Section 33 A person to whom a bill has been transferred but not negotiated acquires thereby as against the transferer that title to the goods subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferer If the bill is non-negotiable such person also acquires the right to notify the carrier of the transfer to him of such bill and thereby to become the direct obligee of whatever obligations the carrier owed to the transferer of the bill immediately before the notification

Prior to the notification of the carrier by the transferer or transferee of a non-negotiable bill the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the carrier may be defeated by garnishment or by attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferer or by a notification to the carrier by the transferer or a subsequent purchaser from the transferer of a shipment sale of the goods by the transferer

A carrier has not received notification within the meaning of this section unless an officer or agent of the carrier the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a notification has been notified and no notification shall be effective until the officer or agent to whom it is given has had time with the exercise of reasonable diligence to communicate with the agent or agents having actual possession or control of the goods

Section 34 Where a negotiable bill is transferred for value by delivery and the indorsement of the transferer is essential for negotiation the transferee acquires a right against the transferer to compel him to indorse the bill unless a contrary intention appears The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made This obligation may be specifically enforced

Section 35 A person who negotiates or transfers for value a bill by indorsement or delivery including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a bill unless a contrary intention appears warrants

(a) That the bill is genuine

(b) That he has a legal right to transfer it

(c) That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the bill and

(d) That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a bill the goods represented thereby

In the case of an assignment of a claim secured by a bill the liability of the assignor shall not exceed the amount of the claim

Section 36 The indorsement of a bill shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the carrier or previous indorsers of the bill to fulfill their respective obligations

Section 37 A mortgagee or pledgee or other holder of a bill for security who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such bill is security whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt or from any other person shall not be deemed by so doing to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such bill or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described

Section 38 The validity of the negotiation of a bill is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation or by the fact that the owner of the bill was deprived of the possession of the same by fraud accident mistake duress or conversion if the person to whom the bill was negotiated or a person to whom the bill was subsequently negotiated gave value therefor in good faith without notice of the breach of duty or fraud accident mistake duress or conversion

Section 39 Where a person having sold mortgaged or pledged goods which are in a carrier's possession and for which a negotiable bill has been issued or having sold mortgaged or pledged the negotiable bill representing such goods continues in possession of the negotiable bill the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale pledge or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith for value and without notice of the previous sale shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or bill had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation

Section 40 Where goods are shipped by the consignor in accordance with a contract or order for their purchase the form in which the bill is taken by the consignor shall indicate the transfer or retention of the property or right to the possession of the goods as follows

(a) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to his agent or to the order of the buyer or of his agent the consignor thereby transfers the property in the goods to the buyer

(b) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the seller or to his agent or to the order of the seller or of his agent the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods But if except for the form of the bill the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods the seller's property in the goods shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract

(c) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the order of the buyer or of his agent but possession of the bill is retained by the seller or his agent the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods as against the buyer

(d) Where the seller draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the draft and bill together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the draft the buyer is bound to return the bill if he does not honor the draft and if he wrongfully retains the bill he acquires no added right thereby If however the bill provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to the order of the buyer or is endorsed in blank or to the buyer by the consignee named therein one who purchases in good faith for value the bill or goods from the buyer shall obtain the title to the goods although the draft has not been honored if such purchaser has received delivery of the bill indorsed by the consignee named therein or of the goods without notice of the facts making the transfer wrongful

Section 41 Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price of the goods and transmits the draft and a bill of lading for the goods either directly or indirectly to the buyer or through a bank or other agency unless a different intention on the part of the seller appears the buyer and all other parties interested shall be justified in assuming

(a) If the draft is by its terms or legal effect payable on demand or presentation or at sight or not more than three days thereafter (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not) that the seller intended to require payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill

(b) If the draft is by its terms payable on time extending beyond three days after demand presentation or sight (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not) that the seller intended to require acceptance but not payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill

The provisions of this section are applicable whether by the terms of the bill the goods are consigned to the seller or to his order or to the buyer or to his order or ot a third person or to his order

Section 42 Where a negotiable bill has been issued for goods no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such bill has been negotiated whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier who issued such bill of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu Nor shall the carrier be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless such bill is first surrendered for cancellation

Section 43 Except as provided in section forty-two nothing in this Act shall limit the rights and remedies of a mortgage or lienholder whose mortgage or lien on goods would be valid apart from this Act as against one who for value and in good faith purchased from the owner immediately prior to the time of their delivery to the carrier the goods which are subject to the mortgage or lien and obtained possession of them

On the question.

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend the same section by adding the words "or neuropathy" after the word "pharmacy" in line 52.

On the question

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, this House a few days ago passed a bill relating to neuropathy, and as I explained the bill at that time, the science of neuropathy is a science somewhat similar to osteopathy. This bill now under consideration protects osteopathy, and I submit that the graduates of the College of Neuropathy in the city of Philadelphia, some thirty or forty of them, should be protected at the same time. I believe that any science in the art of healing ought to have fair play.

Mr. NEWBAKER. I think that the entire body of pra titioners of neuropathy in the city of Philadelphia is fiv The science of neuropathy has heretofore been unknow and I think the amendment should be voted down.

The question recurring.

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. WHITMAN. Mr. Speaker, I resire to offer a amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by th Clerk .

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Also, by adding a new section 13 as follows:

"The provisions of this act shall not apply either directl or indirectly by intent or purpose to affect the practice pharmacy as authorized by the act approved May 24, 188 entitled "An Act to regulate the practice of pharmacy an sale of poisons and prevent adulterations in drugs and med cinal preparations in the State of Pennsylvania" or the sev eral amendments thereto; nor to affect the practice of der tistry as authorized by the act approved July 9, 1897, entitle "An Act to establish a Dental Council and State Board Dental Examiners to define the powers and duties of th said Dental Council and said State Board of Dental Exan iners, to provide for the examination and licensing of prac titioners of dentistry" or the several amendments theret nr to affect the practice of osteopathy in the State of Penn sylvania, to provide for the establishment of a State Board Osteopathic Examiners, to define the powers and duties of th said State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, to provide fo the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State an to provide penalties for the violation of this act" nor sha this act licensure any jurisdiction over any of the schools colleges of the methods herein exempted, and providing fu ther that it shall not apply to any other treatment method wherein medicine or surgical instruments are n used."

Amend the present section 13 by striking out the figure "13" and inserting in lieu thereof "14."

Also by striking out in same section all after the wor "approval" in line 50.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER announced that the nays appear t have it. A division having been called for, and 38 mem bers. less than the majority quorum present having vote in the affirmative, the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title preamble read and agreed to as follows:

Whereas the safety of the citizens of this Commonwealt is endangered by incompetent physicians and surgeons and due regard for public health and the preservation of huma life demands that none but competent and properly qualifie physicians and surgeons shall be permitted to practice thei profession

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

Second The provisions of this section apply to every such ontract or sale notwithstanding that the goods may be inended to be delivered at some future time or may not at he time of such contract or sale be actually made proured or provided or fit or ready for delivery or some act nay be requisite for the making or completing thereof or endering the same fit for delivery but if the goods are to e manufactured by the seller especially for the buyer and re not suitable for sale to others in the ordinary course f the seller's business the provisions of this section shall ot apply

Third There is an acceptance of goods within the meanng of this section when the buyer either before or after elivery of the goods or any part thereof expresses by vord or conduct his assent to becoming the owner of those pecific goods

Section 5 First The goods which form the subject of a ontract to sell may be either existing goods owned or posessed by the seller or goods to be manufactured or acuired by the seller after the making of the contract to ell in this act called "future goods"

Second There may be a contract to sell goods the acuisition of which by the seller depends upon a continency which may or may not happen

Third Where the parties purport to effect a present sale f future goods the agreement operates as a contract to ell the goods

Section 6 First There may be a contract to sell or a ale of an undivided share of goods If the parties intend o effect a present sale the buyer by force of the agreement ecomes an owner in common with the owner or owners of he remaining shares

Second In the case of fungible goods there may be a sale of n undivided share of a specific mass though the seller purports o sell and the buyer to buy a definite number weight or neasure of the goods in the mass and though the number weight r measure of the goods in the mass is undetermined By such sale the buyer becomes owner in common of such a share of he mass as the number weight or measure bought bears to the umber weight or measure of the mass If the mass contains ess than the number weight or measure bought the buyer beomes the owner of the whole mass and the seller is bound to nake good the deficiency from similar goods unless a contrary ntent appears

Section 7 First Where the parties purport to sell specific oods and the goods without the knowledge of the seller have vholly perished at the time when the agreement is made the greement is void

Second Where the parties purport to sell specific goods and he goods without the knowledge of the seller have perished in art or have wholly in a material part so deteriorated in qualty as to be substantially changed in character the buyer may t his option treat the sale

(b) As transferring the property in all of the existing goods r in so much thereof as have not deteriorated and as binding he buyer to pay the full agreed price if the sale was inivisible or to pay the agreed price for the goods in which the roperty passes if the sale was divisible

Section 8 First Where there is a contract to sell specific oods and subsequently but before the risk passes to the buyer vithout any fault on the part of the seller or the buyer the oods wholly perish the contract is thereby avoided

Second Where there is a contract to sell specific goods and ubsequently but before the risk passes to the buyer without ny fault of the seller or the buyer part of the goods perish or he whole or a material part of the goods so deteriorate in qualty as to be substantially changed in character the buyer may at is option treat the contract—

(a) As avoided or

(b) As binding the seller to transfer the property in all of he existing goods or in so much thereof as have not deteriorated nd as binding the buyer to pay the full agreed price if the conract was indivisible or to pay the agreed price for so much of he goods as the seller by the buyer's option is bound to transer if the contract was divisible

Section 9 First The price may be fixed by the contract or nay be left to be fixed in such manner as may be agreed or it nay be determined by the course of dealing between the parties

Second The price may be made payable in any personal roperty

Third Where transferring or promising to transfer any inerest in real estate constitutes the whole or part of the conideration for transferring or for promising to transfer the roperty in goods this act shall not apply

Fourth Where the price is not determined in accordance ith the foregoing provisions the buyer must pay a reasonable rice What is a reasonable price is a question of fact deendent on the circumstances of each particular case

Section 10 First Where there is a contract to sell or a sale f goods at a price or on terms to be fixed by a third person and such third person with fault of the seller or the buyer cannot or does not fix the price or terms the contract or the sale is thereby avoided but if the goods or any part thereof have been delivered to and appropriated by the buyer he must pay a reasonable prcie therefor

Second Where such third person is prevented from fixing the price or terms by fault of the seller or the buyer the party not in fault may have such remedies against the party in fault as are allowed by Sections fifty-two to seventy of this act

Section 11 First Where the obligation of either party to a contract to sell or a sale is subject to any condition which is not performed such party may refuse to proceed with the contract or sale or he may waive performance of the condition If the other party has promised that the condition should happen or be performed such first-mentioned party may also treat the non-performance of the condition as a breach of warranty

Second Where the property in the goods has not passed the buyer may treat the fulfillment by the seller of his obligation to furnish goods as described and as warranted expressly or by implication in the contract to sell as a condition of the obligation of the buyer to perform his promise to accept and pay for the goods

Section 12 Any affirmation of fact or any promise by the seller relating to the goods is an express warranty if the natural tendency of such affirmation or promise is to induce the buyer to purchase the goods and if the buyer purchases the goods relying thereon No affirmation of the value of the goods nor any statement purporting to be a statement of the seller's opinion only shall be construed as a warranty

Section 13 In a contract to sell or a sale unless a contrary intention appears there is

First An implied warranty on the part of the seller that in the case of a sale he has a right to sell the goods and that in the case of a contract to sell he will have a right to sell the goods at the time when the property is to pass

Second An implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods as against any lawful claims existing at the time of the sale

Three An implied warranty that the goods shall be free at the time of the sale from any charge or encumbrance in favor of any third person not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time when the contract or sale is made

Fourth This section shall not however be held to render liable a sheriff auctioneer mortgagee or other person professing to sell by virtue of authority in fact or law goods in which a third person has a legal or equitable interest

Section 14 Where there is a contract to sell or a sale of goods by description there is an implied warranty that the goods shall correspond with the description and if the contract or sale be by sample as well as by description it is not sufficient that the bulk of the goods corresponds with the sample if the goods do not also correspond with the description

Section 15 Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any statute in that behalf there is no implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of goods supplied under a contract to sell or a sale except as follows

First Where a buyer expressly or by implication makes known to the seller the particular purpose for which the goods are required and it appears that the buyer relies on the seller's skill or judgment (whether he be the grower or manufacturer or not) there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be reasonably fit for such purpose

Second Where the goods are bought by description from a seller who deals in goods of that description (whether he be the grower or manufacturer or not) there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be of merchantable quality

Third If the buyer has examined the goods there is no implied warranty as regards defects which such examination ought to have revealed

Fourth In the case of a contract to sell or a sale of a specified article under its patent or other trade name there is no implied warranty as to its fitness for any particular purpose

Fifth An implied warranty or condition as to quality or fitness for a particular purpose may be annexed by the usage of trade

Sixth An express warranty or condition does not negative a warranty or condition implied under this act unless inconsistent therewith

Section 16 In the case of a contract to sell or a sale by sample

(a) There is an implied warranty that the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality

(b) There is an implied warranty that the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample except so far as otherwise provided in section forty-seven (third)

(c) If the seller is a dealer in goods of that kind there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any defect rendering them unmerchantable which would not be apparent on reasonable examination of the sample

Section 17 Where there is a contract to sell unascertained goods no property in the goods is transferred to the buyer unless and until the goods are ascertained but property in an undivided share of ascertained goods may be transferred as provided in Section six

Section 18 First Where there is a contract to sell specific or ascertained goods the property in them is transferred to the buyer at such time as the parties to the contract intend it to be transferred

Second For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties regard shall be had to the terms of the contract the conduct of the parties usages of trade and the circumstances of the case

Section 19 Unless a different intention appears the following are the rules for ascertaining the intention of the parties as to the time at which the property in the goods is to pass to the buyer

Rule 1 Where there is an unconditional contract to sell specific goods in a deliverable state the property in the goods passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether the time of payment or the time of delivery or both be postponed

Rule 2 Where there is a contract to sell specific goods and the seller is bound to do something to the goods for the purpose of putting them into a deliverable state the property does not pass until such thing be done

Rule 3 First When goods are delivered to the buyer "on sale or return" or on other terms indicating an intention to make a present sale but to give the buyer an option to return the goods instead of paying the price the property passes to the buyer on delivery but he may revest the property in the seller by returning or tendering the goods within the time fixed in the contract or if no time has been fixed within a reasonable time

Second When goods are delivered to the buyer on approval or on trial or on satisfaction or other similar terms the property therein passes to the buyer

(a) When he signifies his approval or acceptance to the seller or does any other act adopting the transaction

(b) If he does not signify his approval or acceptance to the seller but retains the goods without giving notice of rejection then if a time has been fixed for the return of the goods on the expiration of such time and if no time has been fixed on the expiration of a reasonable time What is a reasonable time is a question of fact

Rule 4 First Where there is a contract to sell unascertained or future goods by description and goods of that description and in a deliverable state are unconditionally appropriated to the contract either by the seller with the assent of the buyer or by the buyer with the assent of the seller the property in the goods thereupon passes to the buyer Such assent may be expressed or implied and may be given either before or after the appropriation is made

Second Where in pursuance of a contract to sell the seller delivers the goods to the buyer or to a carrier or other bailee (whether named by the buyer or not) for the purpose of transmission to or holding for the buyer he is presumed to have unconditionally appropriated the goods to the contract except in the cases provided for in the next rule and in Section twenty This presumption is applicable although by the terms of the contract the buyer is to pay the price before receiving delivery of the goods and the goods are marked with the words Collect on Delivery or their equivalent

Rule 5 If the contract to sell requires the seller to deliver the goods to the buyer or at a particular place or to pay the freight or cost of transportation to the buyer or to a particular place the property does not pass until the goods have been delivered to the buyer or reached the place agreed upon.

Section 20 First where there is a contract to sell specific goods or where goods are subsequently appropriated to the contract the seller may by the terms of the contract or appropriation reserve the right of possession or property in the goods until certain conditions have been fulfilled The right of possession or property may be thus reserved notwithstanding the delivery of the goods to the buyer or to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer

Second Where goods are shipped and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the seller or his agent or to the order of the seller or his agent the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods But if except for the form of the bill of lading the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods the seller's property in the goods so shipped and deliverable shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract.

Third Where goods are shipped and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the order of the buyer or of his agent but possession of the bill of lading is retained by the seller or his agent the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods as against the buyer

Fourth Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the bill of exchange as a negotiable bill of lading together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the bill of exchange the buyer is bound to return the bill of lading if he does not honor the bill of exchange and if he wrongfully retains the bill of lading he acquires no added right thereby if however the bill of lading provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to the order of the buyer or is endorsed in blank or to the buyer by the person to whose order the bill of lading is drawn one who purchases in good faith for value the bill of lading or goods from the buyer will obtain the property in the goods although the bill of exchange has not been honored provided that such purchaser has received delivery of the bill of lading indorsed by the consignee named therein or of the goods without notice of the facts making the transfer wrongful but delivery to the endorsee of the bill of lading shall discharge the carrier from all responsibility for the goods.

Section 21 In the case of a sale by auction

First Where goods are put up for sale by auction in lots each lot is subject of a separate contract of sale

Second A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer announces its completion by the fall of the hammer or in other customary manner Until such announcement is made any bidder may retract his bid and the auctioneer may withdraw the goods from sale unless the auction has been announced to be without reserve.

Third A right to bid may be reserved expressly by or on behalf of the seller.

Fourth Where notice has not been given that a sale by auction is subject to a right to bid on behalf of the seller it shall not be lawful for the seller to bid himself or to employ or induce any person to bid at such sale on his behalf or for the auctioneer to employ or induce any person to bid at such sale on behalf of the seller or knowingly to take any bid from the seller or any person employed by him Any sale contravening this rule may be treated as fraudulent by the buyer

Section 22 Unless otherwise agreed the goods remain at the seller's risk until the property therein is transferred to the buyer but when the property therein is transferred to the buyer the goods are at the buyer's risk whether delivery has bee made or not except that

(a) Where delivery of the goods has been made to the buye or to a bailee for the buyer in pursuance of the contract an the property in the goods has been retained by the selle merely to secure the performance by the buyer of his obligation under the contract the goods are at the buyer's risk from th time of such delivery

(b) Where delivery has been delayed through the fault c either buyer or seller the goods are at the risk of the part in fault as regards any loss which might not have occurre but for such fault

Section 32 A negotiable document of title may be negotiate

(a) By the owner thereof or

(b) By any person to whom the possession or custody of t document has been entrusted by the owner if by the terms of t document the bailee issuing the document undertakes to deliver t goods to the order of the person to whom the possession or cu tody of the document has been entrusted or if at the time of su entrusting the document is in such form that it may be negotiat by delivery.

Section 33 A person to whom a negotiable document of title h been duly negotiated acquires thereby

(a) Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the doc ment to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in go faith for value and also such title to the goods as the person to whose order the goods were to be delivered by the terms of the document had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value and

(b) The direct obligation of the bailee issuing the document to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the document as fully as if such bailee had contracted directly with him

Section 34 A person to whom a document of title has been transferred but not negotiated acquires thereby as against the transferor the title to the goods subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferor

If the document is non-negotiable such person also acquires the right to notify the bailee who issued the document of the transfer thereof and thereby to acquire the direct obligation of such bailee to hold possession of the goods according to the terms of the document

Prior to the notification of such bailee by the transferor or transferee of a non-negotiable document of title the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of such bailee may be defeated by the levy of an attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferor or by a notification to such bailee by the transferor or a subsequent purchaser from the transferor of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferor

Section 35 Where a negotiable document of title is transferred for value by delivery and the indorsement of the transferor is essention for negotiation the transferee acquires a right against the transferor to compel him to indorse the document unless a contrary intention appears The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made

Section 36 A person who for value negotiates or transfers a document of title by indorsement or delivery including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a document of title unless a contrary intention appears warrants

(a) That the document is genuine

(b) That he has a legal right to negotiate or transfer it

(c) That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the document and

(d) That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods and that the goods are negotiable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a document of title the goods represented thereby

Section 37 The indorsement of a document of title shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the bailee who issued the document or previous indorsers thereof to fulfil their respective obligations

Section 38 The validity of the negotiation of a negotiable document of title is not impaired by the fact that the negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation or by the fact that the owner of the document was induced by fraud mistake or duress to entrust the possession or custody thereof to such person if the person to whom the document was negotiated or a person to whom the document was subsequently negotiated paid value therefor without notice of the breach of duty or fraud mistake or duress

Section 39 If goods are delivered to a bailee by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser in good faith for value would bind the owner and a negotiable document of title is issued for them they cannot thereafter while in the possession of such bailee be attached by garnishment or otherwise or be levied upon under an execution unless the document be first surrendered to the bailee or its negotiation enjoined The bailee shall in no case be compelled to deliver up the actual possession of the goods until the document is surrendered to him or impounded by the court

Section 40 A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable document of title shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such document or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which cannot readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process

Section 41 It is the duty of the seller to deliver the goods and of the buyer to accept and pay for them in accordance with the terms of the contract to sell or sale

Section 42 Unless otherwise agreed delivery of the goods and payment of the price are concurrent conditions that is to say the seller must be ready and willing to give possession of the goods to the buyer in exchange for the price and the buyer must be ready and willing to pay the price in exchange for possession of the goods

Section 43 First Whether it is for the buyer to take possession of the goods or for the seller to send them to the buyer is a question depending in each case on the contract express or implied between the parties Apart from any such contract express or implied or usage of trade to the contrary the place of delivery is the seller's place of business if he have one and if not his residence but in case of a contract to sell or a sale of specific goods which to the knowledge of the parties when the contract or the sale was made were in some other place then that place is the place of delivery

Second Where by a contract to sell or a sale the seller is bound to send the goods to the buyer but no time for sending them is fixed the seller is bound to send them within a reasonable time

Third Where the goods at the time of the sale are in the possession of a third person the seller has not fulfilled his obligation to deliver to the buyer unless and until such third person acknowledges to the buyer that he holds the goods on the buyer's behalf but as against all others than the seller the buyer shall be regarded as having received delivery from the time when such third person first has notice of the sale Nothing in this section however shall affect the operation of the issue or transfer of any document of title to goods

Fourth Demand or tender of delivery may be treated as ineffectual unless made at a reasonable hour What is a reasonable hour is a question of fact

Fifth Unless otherwise agreed the expenses of and incidental to putting the goods into a deliverable state must be borne by the seller

Section 44 One Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods less than he contracted to sell the buyer may reject them but if the buyer accepts or retains the goods so delivered knowing that the seller is not going to perform the contract in full he must pay for them at the contract rate If however the buyer has used or disposed of the goods delivered before he knows that the seller is not going to perform his contract in full the buyer shall not be liable for more than the fair value to him of the goods so received

Second Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods larger than he contracted to sell the buyer may accept the goods included in the contract and reject the rest or he may reject the whole If the buyer accepts the whole of the goods so delivered he must pay for them at the contract rate

Third Where the seller delivers to the buyer the goods he contracted to sell mixed with goods of a different description not included in the contract the buyer may accept the goods which are in accordance with the contract and reject the rest or he may reject the whole

Fourth The provisions of this section are subject to any usage of trade special agreement or course of dealing between the parties

Section 45 First Unless otherwise agreed or it is to be implied from the nature of the contract the buyer of goods is not bound to accept delivery thereof by instalments

Second Where there is a contract to sell goods to be delivered by stated instalments which are to be separately paid for and the seller makes defective deliveries in respect of one or more instalments or the buyer neglects or refuses to take delivery of or pay for one or more instalments it depends in each case on the terms of the contract and the circumstances of the case whether the breach of contract is so material as to justify the injured party in refusing to proceed further and suing for damages for breach of the entire contract or whether the breach is severable giving rise to a claim for compensation but not to a right to treat the whole contract as broken

Section 46 First Where in pursuance of a contract to sell or a sale the seller is authorized or required to send the goods to the buyer delivery of the goods to a carrier whether named by the buyer or not for the purpose of transmission to the buyer is deemed to be a delivery of the goods to the buyer except in the case provided for in section nineteen rule five or unless a contrary intent appears

Two Unless otherwise authorized by the buyer the seller must make such contract with the carrier on behalf of the buyer as may be reasonable having regard to the nature of the goods and the other circumstances of the case If the seller omit so to do and the goods are lost or damaged in course of transit the buyer may decline to treat the delivery to the carrier as a delivery to himself or may hold the seller responsible in damages

Three Unless otherwise agreed where the goods are sent by the seller to the buyer under circumstances in which the seller knows or ought to know that it is usual to insure the seller must give such notice to the buyer as may enable him to insure them during their transit and if the seller fails to do so the goods shall be deemed to be at his risk during such transit

Section 47 One where goods are delivered to the buyer which he has not previously examined he is not deemed to have accepted them unless and until he has had a reasonable opportunity of examining them for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract

Second Unless otherwise agreed when the seller tenders delivery of goods to the buyer he is bound on request to afford the buyer a reasonable opportunity of examining the goods for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract

Third Where goods are delivered to a carrier by the seller in accordance with an order from or agreement with the buyer upon the terms that the goods shall not be delivered by the carrier to the buyer until he has paid the price whether such terms are indicated by marking the goods with the words collect on delivery or otherwise the buyer is not entitled to examine the goods before payment of the price in the absence of agreement and proper written authority to the carrier permitting such examination

Section 48 The buyer is deemed to have accepted the goods when he intimates to the seller that he has accepted them or when the goods have been delivered to him and he does any act in relation to them which is inconsistent with the ownership of the seller or when after the lapse of a reasonable time he retains the goods without intimating to the seller that he has rejected them

Section 49 In the absence of express or implied agreement of the parties acceptance of the goods by the buyer shall not discharge the seller from liability in damages or other legal remedy for breach of any promise or warranty in the contract to sell or the sale But if after acceptance of the goods the buyer fail to give notice to the seller of the breach of any promise or warranty within a reasonable time after the buyer knows or ought to know of such breach the seller shall not be liable therefor

Section 50 Unless otherwise agreed where goods are delivered to the buyer and he refuses to accept them having the right so to do he is not bound to return them to the seller but it is sufficient if he notifies the seller that he refuses to accept them

Section 51 When the seller is ready and willing to deliver the goods and requests the buyer to take delivery and the buyer does not within a reasonable time after such request take delivery of the goods he is liable to the seller for any loss occasioned by his neglect or refusal to take delivery and also for a reasonable charge for the care and custody of the goods If the neglect or refusal of the buyer to take delivery amounts to a repudiation or breach of the entire contract the seller shall have the rights against the goods and on the contract hereinafter provided in favor of the seller when the buyer is in default

Section 52 First The seller of goods is deemed to be an unpaid seller within the meaning of this act

(a) When the whole of the price has not been paid or tendered

(b) When a bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument has been received as conditional payment and the condition on which it was received has been broken by reason of the dishonor of the instrument the insolvency of the buyer or otherwise

Two In sections fifty-two to sixty-two of this act the term “seller’ ’includes an agent of the seller to whom the bill of lading has been endorsed or a consignor or agent who has himself paid or is directly responsible for the price or any other person who is in the position of a seller

Section 53 One Subject to the provisions of this act notwithstanding that the property in the goods may have passed to the buyer the unpaid seller of goods as such has

(a) A lien on the goods or right to retain them for the price while he is in possession of them

(b) In case of the insolvency of the buyer a right of stopping the goods in transitu after he has parted with the possession of them

(c) A right of resale as limited by this Act

(d) A right to rescind the sale as limited by this act

Two Where the property in goods has not passed to the buyer the unpaid seller has in addition to his other remedies a right of withholding delivery similar to and co-extensive with his rights of lien and stoppage in transitu where the property has passed to buyer

Section 54 One Subject to the provisions of this act the unpaid seller of goods who is in possession of them is entitled to retain possession of them until payment or tender of the price in the following cases namely

(a) Where the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit

(b) Where the goods have been sold on credit but the term of credit has expired

(c) Where the buyer becomes insolvent

Two The seller may exercise his right of lien notwithstanding that he is in possession of the goods as agent or bailee for the buyer

Section 55 Where an unpaid seller has made part delivery of the goods he may exercise his right of lien on the remainder unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an intent to waive the lien or right of retention

Section 56 One The unpaid seller of goods loses his lien thereon

(a) When he delivers the goods to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer without reserving the property in the goods or the right to the possession thereof

(b) When the buyer or his agent lawfully obtains possession of the goods

(c) By waiver thereof

Two The unpaid seller of goods having a lien thereon does not lose his lien by reason only that he has obtained judgment or decree for the price of the goods

Section 57 Subject to the provisions of this act when the buyer of goods is or becomes insolvent the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods has the right of stopping them in transitu that is to say he may resume possession of the goods at any time while they are in transit and he will then become entitled to the same rights in regard to the goods as he would have had if he had never parted with the possession

Section 58 One Goods are in transit within the meaning of section fifty-seven

(a) From the time when they are delivered to a carrier by land or water or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer until the buyer or his agent in that behalf takes delivery of them from such carrier or other bailee

(b) If the goods are rejected by the buyer and the carrier or other bailee continues in possession of them even if the seller has refused to receive them back

Two Goods are no longer in transit within the meaning of section fifty-seven

(a) If the buyer or his agent in that behalf obtains delivery of the goods before their arrival at the appointed destination

(b) If after the arrival of the goods at the appointed destination the carrier or other bailee acknowledges to the buyer or his agent that he holds the goods on his behalf and continues in possession of them as bailee for the buyer or his agent and it is immaterial that a further destination for the goods may have been indicated by the buyer

(c) If the carrier or other bailee wrongfully refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer or his agent in that behalf

Three If goods are delivered to a ship chartered by the buyer it is a question depending on the circumstances of the particular case whether they are in the possession of the master, as a carrier or as agent of the buyer

Four If part delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer or his agent in that behalf the remainder of the goods may be stopped in transitu unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an agreement with the buyer to give up possession of the whole of the goods

Section 59 One The unpaid seller may exercise his right of stoppage in transitu either by obtaining actual possession of the goods or by giving notice of his claim to the carrier or other bailee in whose possession the goods are Such notice must state that the buyer is insolvent and has not paid the seller of the goods and may be given either to the person in actual possession of the goods or to his principal In the latter case the notice to be effectual must be given at such time and under such circumstances that the principal by the exercise of reasonable diligence may prevent a delivery to the buyer

Two When notice of stoppage in transitu is given by the seller to the carrier or other bailee in possession of the goods he must redeliver the goods to or according to the directions of the seller. The expenses of such redelivery must be borne by the seller If however a negotiable document of title representing the goods has been issued by the carrier or other bailee he shall not be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to the seller unless such document is first surrendered for cancellation

Section 60 One Where the goods are of a perishable nature or where the seller expressly reserves the right of resale in case the buyer should make default or where the buyer has been in default in the payment of the price an unreasonable time an unpaid seller having a right of lien or having stopped the goods in transitu may resell the goods He shall not thereafter be liable to the original buyer upon the contract to sell or the sale or for any profit made by such resale but may recover from the buyer damages for any loss occasioned by the breach of the contract or the sale

Two Where a resale is made as authorized in this section the buyer acquires a good title as against the original buyer

Three It is not essential to the validity of a resale that notice of an intention to resell the goods be given by the seller to the original buyer But where the right to resell is not based on the perishable nature of the goods or upon an express provision of the contract or the sale the giving or failure to give such notice shall be relevant in any issue involving the question whether the buyer has been in default an unreasonable time before the resale was made

Four It is not essential to the validity of a resale that notice of the time and place of such resale should be given by the seller to the original buyer

Five The seller is bound to exercise reasonable care and judgment in making a resale and subject to this requirement may make a resale either by public or private sale

Section 61 One An unpaid seller having a right of lien or having stopped the goods in transitu may rescind the transfer of title and resume the property in the goods where he expressly reserved the right to do so in case the buyer should make default or where the buyer has been in default in the payment of the price an unreasonable time The seller shall not thereafter be liable to the buyer upon the contract to sell or the sale but may recover from the buyer damages for any loss occasioned by the breach of the contract or the sale

Two The transfer of title shall not be held to have been rescinded by an unpaid seller until he has manifested by notice to the buyer or by some other overt act an intention to rescind It is not necessary that such overt act should be communicated to the buyer but the giving or failure to give notice to the buyer of the intention to rescind shall be relevant in any issue involving the question whether the buyer had been in default an unreasonable time before the right of recission was asserted

Section 62 Subject to the provisions of this act the unpaid seller's right of lien or stoppage in transitu is not affected by any sale or other disposition of the goods which the buyer may have made unless the seller has assented thereto

If however a negotiable document of title has been issued for goods no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the right of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such document has been negotiated whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier or other bailee who issued such document of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu

Section 63 One Where under a contract to sell or a sale the property in the goods has passed to the buyer and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay for the goods according to the terms of the contract or the sale the seller may maintain an action against him for the price of the goods

Two Where under a contract to sell or a sale the price is payable on a day certain irrespective of delivery or of transfer of title and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay such price the seller may maintain an action for the price although the property in the goods has not passed and the goods have not been apportioned to the contract But it shall be a defence to such an action that the seller at any time before judgment in such action has become unable to perform the contract or the sale on his part or has manifested an intention not to perform it

Three Although the property in the goods has not passed if they cannot readily be resold for a reasonable price and if the provisions of section sixty-four (four) are not applicable the seller may offer to deliver the goods to the buyer and if the buyer refuses to receive them may notify the buyer that the goods are thereafter held by the seller as bailee for the buyer Thereafter the seller may treat the goods as the buyer's and may maintain an action for the price

Section 64 One Where the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to accept and pay for the goods the seller may maintain an action against him for damages for non-acceptance

Two The measure of damages is the estimated loss directly and naturally resulting in the ordinary course of events from the buyer's breach of contract

Three Where there is an available market for the goods in question the measure of damages is in the absence of special circumstances showing proximate damage of a greater amount the difference between the contract price and the market or current price at the time or times when the goods ought to have been accepted or if no time was fixed for acceptance then at the time of the refusal to accept

Four If while labor or expense of material amount are necessary on the part of the seller to enable him to fulfil his obligations under the contract to sell or the sale the buyer repudiates the contract or the sale or notifies the seller to proceed no further therewith the buyer shall be liable to the seller for no greater damages than the seller would have suffered if he did nothing towards carrying out the contract or the sale after receiving notice of the buyer's repudiation or countermand The profit the seller would have made if the contract or the sale had been fully performed shall be allowed for in estimating such damages

Section 65 Where the goods have not been delivered to the uyer and the buyer has repudiated the contract to sell or sale r has manifested his inability to perform his obligations thereunder or has committed a material breach thereof the seller ay totally rescind the contract or the sale by giving notice f his election so to do to the buyer

Section 66 Where the property in the goods has passed to e buyer and the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver e goods the buyer may maintain any action allowed by law to e owner of goods of similar kind when wrongfully converted r withheld

Section 67 One Where the property in the goods has not assed to the buyer and the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses deliver the goods the buyer may maintain an action against e seller for damages for non-delivery

Second The measure of damages is the loss directly and aturally resulting in the ordinary course of events from the ller's breach of contract

Three Where there is an available market for the goods in uestion the measure of damages in the absence of special cirmstances showing proximate damages of a greater amount is e difference between the contract price and the market or rrent price of the goods at the time or times when they ought have been delivered or if no time was fixed then at the time the refusal to deliver

Section 68 Where the seller has broken a contract to deliver ecific or ascertained goods a court having the powers of a urt of equity may if the remedy at law be inadequate on the plication of the buyer by its judgment or decree direct that e contract shall be performed specifically without giving the ller the option of retaining the goods on payment of damages he judgment or decree may be unconditional or upon such rms and conditions as to damages payment of the price and herwise as to the court may seem just

Section 69 One Where there is a breach of warranty by e seller the buyer may at his election

(a) Accept or keep the goods and set up against the seller e breach of warranty by way of recoupment in diminution or tinction of the price

(b) Accept or keep the goods and maintain an action against e seller for damages for breach of warranty

(c) Refuse to accept the goods if the property therein has t passed and maintain an action against the seller for damges for breach of warranty

(d) Rescind the contract to sell or the sale and refuse to reive the goods or if the goods have already been received return em or offer to return them to the seller and recover the price any part thereof which has been paid

Two When the buyer has claimed and been granted a remly in any one of these ways no other remedy can thereafter granted

Three Where the goods have been delivered to the buyer he nnot rescind the sale if he knew of the breach of warranty hen he accepted the goods or if he fails to notify the seller ithin a reasonable time of the election to rescind or if he fails return or to offer to return the goods to the seller in subantially as good condition as they were in at the time the operty was transferred to the buyer But if the deterioration injury of the goods is due to the breach of warranty such terioration or injury shall not prevent the buyer from returng or offering to return the goods to the seller and rescinding e sale

Four Where the buyer is entitled to rescind the sale and ects to do so the buyer shall cease to be liable for the price on returning or offering to return the goods If the price or y part thereof has already been paid the seller shall be liable repay so much thereof as has been paid concurrently with e return of the goods or immediately after an offer to return e goods in exchange for repayment of the price

Five Where the buyer is entitled to rescind the sale and ects to do so if the seller refuses to accept an offer of the yer to return the goods the buyer shall thereafter be deemed hold the goods as bailee for the seller but subject to a lien to cure the repayment of any portion of the price which has been id and with the remedies for the enforcement of such lien lowed to an unpaid seller by section fifty-three

Six The measure of damages for breach of warranty is the ss directly and naturally resulting in the ordinary course of ents from the breach of warranty

Seven In the case of breach of warranty of quality such loss the absence of special circumstances showing proximate dame of a greater amount is the difference between the value of e goods at the time of delivery to the buyer and the value they ould have had if they had answered to the warranty

Section 70 Nothing in this act shall affect the right of the yer or the seller to recover interest or special damages in any se where by law interest or special damages may be recoverle or to recover money paid where the consideration for the yment of it has failed

Section 71 Where any right duty or liability would arise der a contract to sell or a sale by implication of law it may negatived or varied by express agreement or by the course dealing between the parties or by custom if the custom be ch as to bind both parties to the contract or the sale All plications from surrounding circumstances or from the nature a contract or agreement shall be regarded as forming part of e contract or agreement

Section 72 Where any right duty or liability is declared by is act it may unless otherwise by this act provided be enrced by action

Section 73 In any case not provided for in this act the rules law and equity including the law merchant and in particular e rules relating to the law of principal and agent and to the ect of fraud misrepresentation duress or coercion mistake nkruptcy or other invalidating cause shall continue to apply contracts to sell and to sales of goods

An act regulating the payment of costs when a person charged with a crime not exclusively triable in the court of oyer and terminer and general jail delivery shall after a hearing be discharged by a magistrate alderman or justice of the peace

Whereas Petty criminal prosecutions are frequently commenced from spite envy malice hatred ill-will or like motive that ought not to be brought the costs of which are often ultimately imposed upon the counties in which such prosecutions are begun taking time and incurring expense in trial when returned to the courts of quarter sessions of the peace to the great burden and annoyance of the tax-payers of this Commonwealth for want of statutory enactment authorizing committing magistrates to impose costs upon prosecutors and defendants therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That when a person shall be charged before a judge sitting as a committing magistrate a magistrate an alderman or a justice of the peace with having committed a crime within this Commonwealth not exclusively triable in the court of oyer and terminer and general jail delivery and after a full hearing of the parties and their witnesses such charge shall appear to be unfounded and such person shall be discharged by the said judge magistrate alderman or justice of the peace the costs of prosecution and the costs of the defendant's witnesses may be imposed upon the prosecutor or upon the defendant or may be divided between the proscutor and the defendant in such proportions as justice may require and a formal order imposing costs shall be made by the person hearing the case and entered upon his record

Section 2 When costs shall have been imposed as provided in section one of this act and shall not be paid forthwith or security given for their payment within ten days the party upon whom such costs shall have been imposed may be committed to the jail of the proper county for as many days as there shall be dollars or parts of a dollar in such imposed costs whereupon the said costs shall be paid by the proper county

Section 3 That the court of quarter sessions of the peace of the proper county or any law judge thereof in vacation upon petition setting forth facts clearly showing that such order imposing costs is unjust may grant a rule to be served upon the county commissioners or upon their solicitor to show cause why the order of the said judge magistrate alderman or justice of the peace imposing costs upon the petitioner should not be reversed or set aside and the costs of prosecution imposed upon the county Provided That the court or judge granting the rule may till the rule is disposed of stay or revoke the order of commitment to the county jail or stay proceedings upon the bond or recognizance given for costs as above provided and in case the rule is discharged the court may commit person upon whom costs are imposed in default of pay- ent thereof or of security being given as aforesaid and Pro- led further That in case the costs have been paid by or the person on whom they are imposed and the said rule made absolute they shall be refunded by the county to the rson paying the same

Section 4 That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent here- th be and the same are hereby repealed

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Maurer.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend by adding after section 1 the following as section 2:

Section 2. Whenever hereafter any premises shall be in need of repairs, and the tenant or tenants thereof shal in writing notify the landlord or the agent of such landlord of the necessity of such repairs it shall be unlawfu for any such landlord directly or indirectly to ask, demand receive or collect rent for such premises until such repairs shall be made.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, the way the bill stands now I cannot see how we can conform with the Constitution. I cannot see that there is any necessity for making it still harder for the tenant. If the tenant does not pay his rent in fifteen days, according to this bill, you can take possession, even to the extent of using force; might blow his house down with dynamite. It is very drastic. I simply want to add this amendment to make it Constitutiona to the extent that it also gives the tenant some protection It is always the landlord and never the tenant that gets the protection; the tenant should be protected and figure in it as well as the landlord.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman who is the sponsor for this bill might inform the House whether or not he will agree to this amendment—Mr. McGowan of Berks.

Mr. McGOWAN. I do not agree to this amendment.

Mr. SHERN. The bill was thoroughly gone over in the Judiciary General Committee, and it was drawn up by one of the best lawyers in Pennsylvania, the presiding judge in the Berks County Court, and I desire to state that it gives the tenant ample time for redress in Court.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was not agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An act providing for additional remedies in case of non-payment of rent by tenant and fixing the fees to be charged therein

On the question,
Will the House agree to the title of the bill?

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment to the title of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend title by striking out title and inserting in lieu thereof the following:
"An act relating to landlords and tenants, providing additional remedies in case of non-payment of rent fixing the fees therefor and prohibiting the collection of rent when a landlord refuses to make repairs."

On the question.
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was not agreed to.

Mr. McGOWAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment to the title of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend title by adding after the word "remedies" the following: "for possession of property."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the title as amended?
It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.
Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 785, entitled:

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Shultz .

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the entleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. hannon, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHANNON. Yes sir.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, is not a department of mines established at the present time?

Mr. SHANNON. There is only three words changed in his bill. In taking the appeal instead of appealing to the Governor the appeal is made to the Court.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Why appeal to the Courts?

Mr. SHANNON. I think it is the proper place rather han to the Governor. The Court, in my opinion, is the roper place to take appeal if you think you are unjustly dealt with. I wish to say further that this same provi-ion is in the bituminous coal.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Don't you know that the Court has made a fake of all of our mining laws.

Mr. SHANNON. If I knew that I would not have in-roduced this bill. I didn't know that at all.

Mr. SCHULTZ. I think there is a raise of salary in the bill.

Mr. SHANNON. The only change in the bill is in the change of the appeal from the Governor to the Court. There is no other change in this bill.

Mr. SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I think this is a question, in the matter of appeal, that ought to go to the Governor and not to the Court. I think that the chief of mines and mining should be in a position to discharge a mine inspector if he is neglecting his duty.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 787, as follows:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act relative to the obstructing of the crossings of public roads by locomotives and cars" approved the twentieth day of March one thousand eight hundred and forty-five by providing that any member of the train crew shall be subject to said penalty

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the twentieth day of March one thousand eight hundred and forty-five entitled "An Act relative to the obstructing of the crossings of public roads by locomotives and cars" which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall not be lawful for any railroad company to block up the passage of any crossings of public streets or roads or obstruct the said crossings with their locomotives or cars and if any engineer or other agent of any such railroad company shall obstruct or block up such crossings he or they shall be subject to a penalty of twenty-five dollars to be recovered with costs in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania before a justice of the peace one-half of such penalty shall be paid to the informer or informers and the remaining half shall be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth Provided That in the event of the said engineer or agent being unable to pay the said penalty then and in that case the said railroad company employing the said engineer or agent shall pay the penalty aforesaid" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall not be lawful for any railroad company to block up the passage of any crossings of public streets or roads or obstruct the said crossings with their locomotives or cars and if any engineer or any member of the train crew or other agent of any such railroad company shall obstruct or block up such crossings he or they shall be subject to a penalty of twenty-five dollars to be recovered with costs in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania before a justice of the peace one-half of such penalty shall be paid to the informer or informers and the remaining half shall be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth Provided That in the event of the said engineer or any member of the train crew or agent being unable to pay the said penalty then and in that case the said railroad company employing the said engineer or agent shall pay the penalty aforesaid

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Henry.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I think that any one who is familiar with any of the operations of railroad trains will say that this bill will work a hardship upon many of the members of the train's crew and that they are not responsible for any of the obstructions referred to, and should not be held responsible.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, this is an amendment to an act passed in 1845, which provides that the engineer shall be held solely responsible for the blocking at crossings. The locomotives have been made a great deal more powerful and larger than they were in 1845, and instead of hauling a small number of cars and a short train they are hauling trains with as many as a hundred cars, and when a train comes to a crossing the engineer cannot get off his engine and leave his engine in order to find out whether his train is on a crossing and the only man who is in a position to be responsible is either the conductor or the crew of the train, and that is the reason why I introduced this amendment.

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32 and 33 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 26. That on and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twelve no policy of insurance against loss or damage from disease or by the bodily injured by accident or both of the assured shall be issued or delivered in this State (1) until a copy of the form thereof and the table of rates or manual of risks of the company has been filed at least thirty (30) days with the Insurance Commissioner unless before the expiration of said thirty (30) days the Insurance Commissioner shall have approved the same in writing nor (2) if the Insurance Commissioner notfiles the company in writing that in his opinion the form of said policy does not comply with the requirements of the laws of this State specifying the reasons for his opinion provided that upon the petition of the company the opinion of the Insurance Commissioner shall be subject to review by any against loss or damage from disease or by the bodily injury by so issued or delivered unless every portion is plainly printed in type not smaller than long primer or ten point type nor (4) unless it contains in substance the following provisions

One A provision that such policy with a copy of the application therefor if any and of such other papers as may be attached to or endorsed thereon shall constitute the entire contract of insurance except as the same may be affected by any table of rates or classification of risks filed by the company with the Insurance Commissioner

Two A provision that no statment made by the applicant for insurance which statement is not incorporated in or endorsed on the policy issued to such applicant shall avoid the policy or be used in evidence and no provision of the charter constitution or by-laws shall be used in defense of any claims arising under any such policy unless such provisions are incorporated in full in the policy but this requirement shall not be deemed to apply to the table of rates or manual of classification of risks of any company filed with the Insurance Commissioner prior to the date of the occurence of the injury or commencement of the sickness for which indemnity is claimed

Three A provision that specifies the time within which notice of accident or disability shall be given which time shall be not less than twenty days from the date of the accident nor less than ten days from the date of the beginning of the disability from sickness upon which claim is based provided however in case of accidental death immediate notice thereof may be required unless the notices herein specified may be shown not to have been reasonably possible

Four A provision that notice of a claim for indemnity shall be deemed sufficient when given to the home office or a duly authorized agent of the company

Five A provision that if a past due premium shall be accepted by the company or by a branch office or by an authorized agent of the company in the city town or county in which the insured shall reside or by the duly authorized agent of the company who accepted the last premium on the policy if so authorized at the time of the acceptance of the past due premium such acceptance shall reinstate the policy in full as to disability resulting from accidental bodily injuries thereafter sustained but shall only reinstate the policy as to disability from disease beginning more than ten days after the date of such acceptance

Six A provision that if the insured is injured or contracts disease after having changed his occupation to one classified by the company as more hazardous than that stated in the policy or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified (except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation) the company shall pay such proportion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits fixed by the company for such more hazardous occupation according to the company's rates and classifications of risks filed with the Insurance Commissioner in this State prior to the occurrence of the injury or the commencement of the disease for which indemnity is claimed

Seven A provision that the company will pay the benefits promised within sixty days of the receipt by it of due proofs of death or disability

Eight A provision that the policy may be cancelled at any time by the company by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to him at his last address as shown by the records of the company and the tender of the company's check for the unearned premium but that such cancellation shall be without prejudice to any claim arising on account of disability commencing prior to the date of which the cancellation takes effect

Nine A provision that shall not limit the time within which proofs of claims shall be furnished to the company to a period less than ninety days from the date of death dismemberment or loss of sight or from the termination of any other disability

Section 27 No such policy insuring against accidental bodily injuries or disease or death shall be issued or delivered in this State if it contains in substance any of the following provisions

One A provision limiting the time within which an action at law or in equity may be commenced to less than one year from the date when the final proof of claim is filed with the company

Second A provision that no such policy shall authorize the deduction of any premium or assessment from any indemnity payable under the terms of the policy except such premium or assessment as may be due or covered by written order or note at the time of payment of the indemnity

Three A provision limiting the amount of indemnity to be paid to a sum less than the indemnity as stated in the policy and for which the premium has been paid Provided however if the assured shall carry other insurance covering the same hazard without giving written notice to the companies corporations or associations issuing the policies then and in that case each company corporation or association shall be liable for such proportionate amount of benefits as the indemnity promised bears to the total amount of indemnity in all the policies covering such hazard and for the return of such part of the premium paid as shall exceed the pro rata of the premium for the benefits paid

Section 28 No company or agent shall issue or deliver in this State any policy which conflicts with any provision of this act A policy issued in violation of this act shall be held valid and shall be construed as provided in this act and when any provision in a policy is in conflict with any provision of this act the rights duties and obligations of the company and policy holder and the beneficiary shall be governed by the provisions of this act

Section 29 The policies of insurance against accidental injury or disease of a company not organized under the laws of this State may contain any provision which the law of the State territory or district of the United States under which the company is organized prescribes shall be in such policies when issued in this State and the policies of insurance against accidental injury or disease of a company organized under the laws of this State may when issued or delivered in any other State or territory district or country contain any provision required by the laws of the State territory district or country in which the same are issued anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding

Section 30 Nothing in this act however shall apply to or affect any general or blanket policy of insurance issued to any municipal corporation or department thereof or to any corporation copartnership association or individual employer police or fire department underwriter's corps salvage bureau or like associations or organizations where the officers members or employes or classes or departments thereof are insured against specified acidental bodily injuries or disease while exposed to the hazards of the occupation or otherwise for a premium intended to cover the risks of all the persons insured under such policy nor shall anything in this act apply to or affect contracts of life insurance or contracts supplemental thereto which shall contain provisions intended to safeguard such life insurance against lapse or that shall provide a special surrender value therefor in the event that the insured thereunder shall by reason of accidental bodily injury or disease be unable to continue the premium payments thereon

Section 31 Any company corporation or association to which this act applies or any officer thereof which issues or delivers in this State or to any citizen thereof any accident or health policy or contract in wilful violation of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense and the Insurance Commissioner may revoke the license of any foreign company or agent thereof which violates any provision of this act

Section 32 No person partnership or association shall issue sign or seal or in any manner execute any policy of insurance contracts of guaranty against loss by any of the casualties provided for in this act without authority expressly conferred by a charter of incorporation given according to law provided nothing herein contained shall prevent any one from becoming and being accepted as personal surety or guarantor Any person offending against the provisions of this section or any person who shall make execute or issue any policy of insurance contract or guaranty against loss by sickness accident or other casualty without being so authorized by law shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars to the Commonwealth and the costs of prosecution

Section 33 This act shall not apply to assessment associations nor to fraternal benefit societies transacting business through the lodge system with ritualistic work and a representative government nor to beneficial and relief associations formed by churches societies firms or corporations with or without ritualistic work the membership in which is confined to the members of such churches or societies and to members and employes of such firms or corporations

MEMORIAL FROM PHILADELPHIA BOARD OF TRADE, PRAYING THAT ACTION UPON EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY BILL BE DEFERRED.

Mr. McNICHOL presented memorial from the Philadelphia Board of Trade which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Philadelphia Board of Trade Bourse Building
Philadelphia

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met:

This memorial of the Philadelphia Board of Trade respectfully represents:—

That the Board of Trade, through a committee, has carefully examined the provisions of the various bills before the State Legislature extending the liability of employers for injuries sustained by employes in the course of their employment and establishing a schedule of compensation for such injuries;

That the Board recognizes that present economic conditions may justify an amelioration of the conditions which now surround the question of compensation to workmen for disabilities arising from accidents to them;

That the Board, while agreeing to the principle involved in the foregoing statement, objects to the passage of the bills now being considered, believing such drastic legislation, changing the long established laws of the State, should not be undertaken in the short time at the disposal of the Legislature;

That legislation, similar in its general character to the bill introduced by the Hon. Mr. Dunn (H. R. P. 1379), has recently become a law in the State of New Jersey, and it is believed a postponement, at this session, of the bills under consideration would be most wise, so that the operation of the New Jersey law may serve as a guide as to the wisdom of such legislation both in the interest of the employed as well as the employer;

That an act authorizing the appointment of a commission to make inquiry into all questions involved in industrial accidents and the compensation of the victims thereof, is desirable, and, it is believed, that, if passed, it will secure the preparation and submission of a bill that may furnish a satisfactory solution of the problem involved and secure a wise compromise between employers and the employed and their divergent views in relation thereto; therefore,

Your Memorialist, the Philadelphia Board of Trade, earnestly petitions your Honorable Bodies to defer action upon the various bills now being considered in relation to Employers' Liability, and early enact a bill providing for the appointment of a commission to consider the various questions at issue in the problem of compensating employes for injuries received in the course of their employment.

And your Memorialist will ever pray.

President, Philadelphia Board of Trade.

Attest:
W. R. TUCKER,
Secretary.
